Hillsdale President May Run For Senate

BY LARRY MacINTYRE
Staff Writer

Hillsdale College President George Roche III told the Twin Cities Rotary Club Monday that he has been asked to run for the U.S. Senate next year, and he "very probably" will decide to become a candidate.

Roche, who has earned a national reputation as head of a private college that refuses all federal aid and the regulations that are tied to it, said he probably will file as a Republican to qualify for the August primary election.

The Senatorial seat is being vacated by Robert Griffin (R-Traverse City), who has announced he will not seek re-election.

In early 1976, Roche was being considered as a possible candidate against Dave Stockman in the Fourth Congressional District primary race, but Roche announced in March that he did not want to leave the college presidency "when so much lies ahead to be done." Stockman went on to easily win the seat vacated by Rep. Edward Hutchinson.

Questioned after the meeting, Roche said he plans to run for the Senate regardless of whether Gov. William Milliken decides to enter the Senatorial race or seek re-election. Roche said he has no opposition so far because everyone is waiting for Milliken to declare his intentions.

Roche was guest speaker at the Rotary Club's weekly luncheon at St. Joseph Elks Lodge. He said a campaign committee has already formed on his behalf even though he has not formally announced.

The committee, called Friends of George Roche, has raised over $50,000 toward his candidacy, he said. The committee is made up of people sympathetic to Roche's two-year running battle with the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, he said.

Opposes Federal Meddling

Roche said the battle began when HEW ruled that the 130-year-old college, which has never received a penny in federal aid, was nevertheless a "recipient" because some of its 1,000 students were receiving federal loans or veterans benefits. Recipient status meant that the school would be required to comply with HEW regulations dealing with sex discrimination or face loss of the federal funds.

"According to the logic of that ruling, there is probably no institution or business in this country that is not a recipient of federal funds," Roche said. Using that logic, he continued, a grocery store would have to be considered a recipient if it accepted food stamps.

The board of directors decided that if they accepted the ruling, the college would soon be forced to comply with all federal rules and regulations, Roche said.

"We refused to comply with HEW's attempt to control our campus," he said. The board of directors voted to send a plainly worded resolution to HEW stating that it did not accept HEW's decision, he continued.

The battle gained wide publicity, and one result was that the college more than tripled its endowment fund, Roche said.

Two years have gone by, and Roche still receives a stream of letters from distressed HEW officials who warn him they are "very worried" they may have

Three Girls Are Stabbed To Death In Maryland

ELVATON, Md. (AP) — The discovery of the bodies of three missing girls, stabbed repeatedly through their parkas and left lying face down in a creek near their homes, has stunned the Southgate neighborhood here.

The bodies of Theresa Hogan, 8; her sister Deborah Anne, 10; and Ann Marie Brzeszkiewicz, also 8, were found Monday. The schoolgirls had left a house early Sunday evening to play and were last seen on a bridge over the stream, which runs through a wooded area near the subdivision where they lived.

State Medical Examiner Russell Fisher said two of the girls had been stabbed about six times, and the third victim had more than a dozen knife wounds. Fisher said the murder weapon was probably a hunting knife with a blade at least five inches long.

The girls were found fully clothed and there was no evidence that they had been sexually molested, authorities said.

"We don't have anything," said Detective Sgt. William Chaplin of the Anne Arundel County homicide squad. "No clues, no motives, no weapon."

News of the slayings sent parents to Southgate Elementary School to gather up their children when classes were dismissed. School officials said usually a dozen parents will pick up their children but about 150 were waiting outside Monday afternoon.

"You just feel like clutching them to you," said one anxious mother.

"We've always felt fairly safe here," said Bruce Strazza, president of the local civic association.

"You always hear about it happening somewhere else, but it doesn't happen in your neighborhood," said Roger Westphal, whose children played with the Hogan girls.

Charles Cochran, who lives across the street from the Hogan family, said simply, "I feel like I've just been clipped in the stomach."

There was no comment from Jacob and Judy Brzeszkiewicz, the parents of Anne Marie. But Sgt. Chaplin said the couple, who have another daughter and five sons, took the news very hard, and that a doctor was called to the house.

Richrd Hogan, the father of the other two victims, said, "We're deeply shocked. We have no idea what caused it or anything."

Speaking in a low, controlled voice, Hogan added softly, "They were beautiful kids."

Rioters Execute 13 In Mexican Prison

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Hundreds of rebellious convicts held part of Jalisco state prison today after executing 13 inmates they charged tyrannized them as agents of the prison administration.

Police and firemen appeared to be readying for an assault Monday night, setting up floodlights in front of a prison wall. But no attack was ordered.

Prison Director Pedro Parra said late Monday night security forces had regained control of the fortress-like, 2,300-inmate penitentiary. But no guards ventured beyond the administrative section in the front of the prison, and inmates who fled from the cellblocks said the rioters still held the main part of the complex.

A statement reportedly signed by 400 rebel inmates said the killings were "not a crime but justice." They demanded better food, work opportunities, efficient medical service and better living conditions.

Five other persons including two guards were injured in the violence Monday morning. By midafternoon all guards had been withdrawn from the cellblocks, and 2,000 men roamed freely over the interior.

American prisoners — officially said to number eight, but one American inmate said there were 17 — did not join in the rebellion, and none was injured, officials said. The Americans are jailed on narcotics charges.

Eyewitnesses said the slain prisoners enjoyed a privileged status as "coordinators" for the administration. They said their names were on a death list drawn up by the rebels, and they were killed one by one.

Prison Director Pedro Parra admitted to reporters that the prison inmates are exploited by their fellow prisoners, a common situation in Mexican jails, because "in the prison it's the law of the strongest."

Those who can pay the price are allowed to eat in a prison restaurant, have cells to themselves with television or stereo equipment and receive other favored treatment.

The rebels' statement said the "coordinators abused their authority, beating and extorting."

"We could no longer put up with their abuses and arbitrariness," it said.

Forty prisoners who escaped to the administrative wing asked for protection, saying they were also on the death list.

Whirlpool Sales Hit $1.5 Billion In Nine Months

Whirlpool Corp. today reported consolidated net earnings for the first nine months of 1977 of $83,712,000, or $2.32 per share.

That represents a 25 per cent gain over the comparable figure of $66,770,000, or $1.85 per share, in the corresponding period of 1976.

Consolidated net sales for the first nine months of 1977 were $1,503,544,000, an increase of 22 per cent over net sales of $1,234,864,000 in the corresponding period of 1976.

Actual consolidated net earnings for the first nine months of 1976 after deducting losses from the discontinued Thomas (Warwick) television business were $55,039,000, or $1.52 per share, the firm said.

In the quarter ending Sept. 30, earnings were $31,194,000, or 87 cents per share. Earnings from continuing operations in the same quarter in 1976 were $24,589,000, or 68 cents per share.

Comparable figures for the 1976 quarter were revised to reflect the sale of the television business and a change to the equity method of accounting for an affiliated company, the firm said.

Net sales for the just-ended quarter were $555,368,000. That compared to $425,069,000 for the same period in 1976.

Commenting on the nine months results for 1977, Whirlpool Chairman John Platts said the favorable level of unit shipments which the company experienced during the first six months continued through the third quarter. He said it reflected a significant increase in shipments compared to the first nine months of 1976.

The improvement in net sales reflects primarily the continuing strong consumer demand for major home appliances, Platts said. He added that the current order level for the company remains high and that he is optimistic regarding Whirlpool's performance for the fourth quarter.

Advice For The GOP

BRETTON WOODS, N.H. (AP) — Governors and would-be governors who wear the Republican label should tolerate dissent within the party and step outside the confines of party doctrine, Illinois Gov. James Thompson says.

"Republicans tend not to tolerate dissent as well as Democrats. That's just plain foolish," the first-term governor told the annual meeting of the Republican Governors' Association Monday. There are 12 Republican governors.

"Don't be afraid to stray from what some think is a narrow, rigid, standard of doctrinaire Republicanism. There are certain definable Republican principals, but that doesn't mean the nuances are the same in every state and every constituency," he added.

Yanks, Briton Win In Physics

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The 1977 Nobel prize in physics was awarded today to two Americans and one Briton.

The prize will be shared equally by Philip Anderson of Bell Telephone Laboratories in New Jersey, Sir Neville F. Mott of Cambridge University, England, and John H. Van Vleck of Harvard University.

They were cited for their fundamental theoretical investigation of the electronic structure of magnetic and disordered systems, the Swedish Science Academy announced.

The award was announced more than two hours behind schedule following unusually long deliberation by the academy, which was reportedly divided over two sets of candidates.

A statement by the academy cited the winners' "highly valuable contributions" in "large domains" of physics.

"This year's prize put the emphasis on their work concerning electron-electron interaction and the coupling between the motions of the electrons and the atomic nuclei in magnetic and disordered materials, where they ... have gone far beyond the conventional theories, with direct importance for experiments and technology," the academy said.

Van Vleck, a 78-year-old professor emeritus, has been called "the father of modern magnetism."

Mott, also a professor emeritus, was born in 1905. Anderson, once a student of Van Vleck, was born in 1923.

They will share a prize sum of $145,000.

The physics prize has been dominated by Americans since World War II. Last year Americans Burton Richter and Samuel Ting shared the prize for their discovery of a new heavy elementary particle.

Cool Heist And A Fresh Breath

DENVILLE, N.J. (AP) — A gunman demanded a supermarket cashier's cash box but settled for minted breath fresheners instead, police said. He pulled a revolver after buying a box of cookies, but the cashier told him she couldn't reopen the register without a purchase. So, with the store manager approaching, the gunman took his change and left quietly with a pack of the candy, police said.

SJ Note: 'It Is Not A Good Business To Be In'

If there is a problem-ridden business in the U.S., it has to be nursing homes.

Despite generous contributions to the care of patients from medicare and medicaid, solvency is often a will o' the wisp.

Unfortunately, too, scandals of various types have clouded the industry. Neglect of patients, overcharges, kickbacks for medicine, lab tests and X-rays—these are only some of the rip-offs that have come under public scrutiny.

No such charges or problems have ever involved Shoreham Terrace, a 112-bed nursing home at 3425 Lake Shore Drive, St. Joseph. It has a good reputation for service, as a matter of fact. But, according to a spokesman for the private owners, "we've never really done well" financially.

Although the firm isn't losing money, "the nursing home business is not a good business to be in," the spokesman said.

Why, then, should the City of St. Joseph be interested in becoming involved in either operation or ownership of Shoreham Terrace?

The answer is that it very probably shouldn't.

An Illinois attorney last week asked the St. Joseph city commission to take part in a plan for financing sale of Shoreham Terrace. Under the plan, the purchased nursing home would be by a non-profit coporation which would then turn around and lease it to a profit-making management firm. The non-profit corporation would issue tax-exempt revenue bonds paying nine per cent interest to raise the money to pay off the existing owners.

Help from the city commssion is needed in obtaining an Internal Revenue Service ruling that would allow the non-profit corporation to issue the tax-exempt bonds. To obtain that ruling, according to the Illinois promoter, the city commission must pass a resolution agreeing to accept ownership of the nursing home—as a gift—when the bonds are paid off.

"This is the only way the bonds can be tax-exempt," said the promoter. He added that the city would not be responsible for repaying the bonds and would not have to worry about managing the nursing home.

"There is not one absolutely not one iota of liability or responsibility on the city," said Promoter James M. Huck of Oakbrook Terrace, Ill. "They (the city) have absolutely nothing to lose and everything to gain."

Any prudent taxpayer of the City of St. Joseph will hope fervently that the city commission obtains a more objective legal opinion than Att. Huck's. Tax experts here tell us that the law and IRS regulations in connection with taxation of industrial development bonds are extensive, elaborate and confusing.

The city commission should demand that a specific revenue ruling, based on a complete set of detailed facts, be obtained before it spends another moment's consideration on the proposal. Moreover, even if the ruling confirms tax-emipt status, there are other quite possibly adverse considerations.

One such important consideration, for example, is how the city's credit rating could not be damaged if the bonds were not paid off. Any party involved even peripherally with such non-paid obligations would have his credit standing hurt.

But an even bigger question is this: why does the city want to get involved at all? Private industry, non-profit corporations and other levels of government are all better set up to own and operate nursing homes. The City of St. Joseph has plenty of challenges within its ordinary sphere of business without taking on a new one it is poorly suited to meet.

Senate Plays Politics With Energy Program

In rejecting most of President Carter's energy proposals, the Senate adopted one of its own which is more in the nature of a welfare handout for a segment of the population, at the expense of everyone else, than it is an energy plan. What the Senate did was vote to lower electric bills for senior citizens by 40 percent.

Senators and congressmen delight in handing out special considerations for this group or that, usually with an eye on the political rather than economic consequences. Consider what the Senate action would mean if the House and the President go along with it.

Because the over-62 population in the United States is growing and seems destined to continue that growth into the indefinite future, providing that group a special discount on electricity would mean transferring 40 percent of a significant portion of residential electricity costs to the bills of the under-62 age group.

That would be done without regard to the ability of the older citizens to pay their own way, whether they use much or little electricity or the added burden it would place on the young family struggling to meet costs rising in many directions. In responding to the energy question, the Senate can do better than it has. Whether it will is the question.

Bette Davis Tells Public How To Control Television

As one of the first ladies of her craft, Bette Davis has watched with some dismay what has happened to parts of the industry in which she has so long been a star. But the actress thinks members of the public who point their fingers at the industry for the type of fare offered today are looking in the wrong direction.

"The public has no idea of its power. People keep screaming 'Put a stop to it.' If they don't go to the movies and they don't let their children go, the movies won't be made.

They (the public) think we make dirty movies. They do. The public is absolutely powerful."

The movie screen may be one of the most highly competitive forms of entertainment around. What goes on the screen is measured directly by what goes in the box office receipts. Those in the business know that. Some of them are pointing their fingers at critics, asking where are they when the films featuring talent and wholesome entertainment come to the neighborhood theater.

GAUNDER CASE 'DIRTY POLITICS'

Editor,

The name of the game, in my estimation, is "winning". Therefore, if Coach Gaunder could not allow players, who had top athletic ability in that area, to particiate, but rather having had to concentrate on whether certain prominent names were on the floor at all times, definitely defeats the whole purpose of coaching in a highly competitive sport, basketball.

My friends, family, and myself believe this to be positively nothing less than truly, "dirty politics", the timing, and all — in dismissing George Gaunder of his coaching duties, at St. Joseph High School.

SMOKE ALARMS AND OTHER TIPS

Editor,

On Thursday morning, Oct. 6, I watched the Ray Rayner show and on it was an expert fire prevention man. (It is televised from Chicago, WGN) He brought to the people's attention the urgent need of a smoke alarm. He furthermore went on to instruct to properly install it. Not in rooms but in hallways. Not in rooms for the reason that burned toast or heavy steam may set it off.

On it was a real oldtime fire engine characterized as a talking human head, headlights representing the eyes and the radiator grates the lips. It spewed out...in case of the clothes getting on fire stop, drop and roll. Reason was panic stricken people tend to run which fans the flames. It went on and called upon the elders to prevent children to play with and around fire elements. He impressed the TV audience that in a roomful of smoke to drop low before going to the door, air down is easier to breathe, and before opening to touch the door and feel if it's hot. The hallway may be on fire.

In order for one to escape by way of second or higher floors one has to use a ladder either rope or aluminum in event the fire department hasn't arrived.

I think the foregoing is worthwhile publishing for the simple reason that hardly anyone is aware of the need of smoke alarms...They're essential in the saving of life.

REMEMBER THE 'OFF' SWITCH

Editor,

I am not a sadistic person, nor an authority on hypnosis but I'm in agreement with the guilty verdict sent down by the jury in the Zamora case.

To me that young man was quite shrewd. With all the talk of TV violence there was his chance, opportunity, to cover his awful crime.

Those listed as "comedy" programs that have replaced darn good programs should be listed as P.G.

Morals has to be an unknown word to the writers and all connected to the so called "comedy". Parents better have a good look at these comedies.

Very recently The Herald-Palladium had a three line insert on the editorial page. I don't remember word for word but it's my sentiments indeed...when you think something is too violent on TV remember there is an OFF switch.

Sammy Rodgers, a 37-year-old decorated Korean War veteran, this week, became the first Negro in memory to sit on the Berrien County Selective Service board. Rodgers, a Benton township resident and probation officer for the county juvenile department for the past three years, brings to four the number of veterans on the five-man board. Rodgers, a corporal in the Army airborne infantry from 1948 to 1951, listed six Bronze stars, good conduct medal, Korean citation, and battle ribbons among his military honors. As a youth, Rodgers won the national AAU featherweight title in Golden Gloves competition.

Something new has been added to the usual tranquil atmosphere around the St. Joseph city hall. Painters, Decorators and Paper-hangers of America union, Local 1396, AFL, established pickets Friday at the city hall in a protest against the city using St. Joseph firemen to paint window frames at the city hall. Union members are asking that they be given the job of putting the final touches on the window frames.

Mrs. John Schreiber and Mrs. Carl Coffelt put the finishing touches to furniture for the charcoal and white decor of the new offices of the Twin City Symphonic society, Friday. The new offices in the Shepard & Benning building in St. Joseph were opened Friday, coincidental with the regional meeting of the American Symphony Orchestra League being held in the twin cities today.

Prosecuting Attorney George H. Bookwalter today asked the county board to allow $100 for the next three months for assistance on the criminal cases in the county. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Wilbur M. Cunningham cannot be expected to work for nothing, he pointed out. On the present criminal calendar in the circuit court 82 cases are listed, the largest in the history of the county. The new criminal code which requires each respondent to be given a preliminary examination within 10 days after arrest, makes assistance necessary at times. Prosecutor Bookwalter pointed out that Berrien county ranks fourth in the state in the number of criminal cases.

The football game between the Notre Dame "Preps" and the high school team of Benton Harbor Thursday afternoon was not a "howling" success, and the game was not finished as the local team, rather pettishly left the field on account of a ruling made by the umpire regarding a side play. When the boys quit, the score was 5 to 0 in favor of Benton Harbor. By forfeit the game was given to Notre Dame. Opinions differ as to the justification of the local team, but in view of the fact that the visiting team was in one sense their guests, the game should have been played to a conclusion.

Poll Clouds TV Ad Axiom

NEW ORLEANS — One enduring contemporary axiom holds that television advertising has become so ubiquitous and influential that it dominates the process of selecting everything from headache remedies to public officials.

It's fashionable to suggest, for example, that the television commercial has emerged in recent decades as by far the most essential medium for presidential candidates seeking the support of a large and disparate national electorate.

Television news and public affairs programming undoubtedly is the single most important vehicle for displaying to that sprawling constituency the contenders for the presidency, their personalities and their positions on issues.

But a previously unpublished national survey goes a long way toward destroying the myth of the indispensability of paid television advertising — notwithstanding the fact that contenders for the White House lavish tens of millions of dollars on that medium during every presidential campaign.

The poll results, obtained during the recent meeting here of the Republican National Committee, are the product of a nationwide voter survey conducted immediately following last year's presidential election by Decision Making Information, a highly respected Santa Ana, Calif., political research firm.

Among that report's conclusions: The television "spots" aired on behalf of the loser, Republican nominee Gerald R. Ford, had a far more profound impact on the voters than did the commercials broadcast on behalf of the winner, Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter.

The survey didn't seek to measure the quality of either candidate's television advertising, but the two commercials specifically recalled by the greatest number of voters polled were superlative ads produced for Ford.

One was a "positive" ad which combined a series of striking photographs portraying the nation's strength and diversity accompanied by an audio track of a catchy song titled, "I'm Feelin' Good About America."

The other was a "negative" ad featuring a group of men and women, all identified as Georgia residents, who participated in presumably spontaneous sidewalk interviews in which they criticized Carter's performance as their governor.

Those commercials were part of a Ford media package widely acclaimed by political professionals in both major parties as being exceptionally creative and imaginative. They were produced by the Washington firm of Bailey, Deardourff & Associates.

The same politicians wrote off Carter's television advertising as neither inspired nor memorable — a view supported by the Decision Making Information survey.

The man responsible for Carter's television "spots" was Gerald Rafshoon, head of an Atlanta advertising agency which bears his name and a longtime political ally of the President.

Despite the fact that neither the voters nor the professionals were impressed with Rafshoon's campaign work, his affiliation with the election winner provided both instant celebrity status and a host of new clients.

Rafshoon's first major test this year came in New York City's mayoralty race. His candidate, Mario Cuomo, survived an initial primary while running against a crowded but lackluster field, then was clobbered in the runoff.

Rafshoon may yet display great talent in the highly demanding art of producing compelling commercials — but if television advertising had truly been the dominant factor in last year's presidential campaign, both he and Carter would now be back in Georgia.

Canal Zone: Russia's Next

On Carter's Panama Canal treaties, some conservatives who should know better have been arguing as follows:

Treaties should be approved. Yes, the canal could be a test of American will, but, if so, the time is not now. The test may come some time in the future when Gen. Torrijos or some successor tries to close or politicize the canal. At that time, the U.S. — if it has the will to do so — can enforce the neutrality clause of the treaty.

The trouble with that line of argument is that it envisages a false scenario — the U.S. versus Panama. Of course under those conditions the U.S. could enforce the treaties. But history is not so kind. If there is to be a confrontation in Panama it will not be with some Torrijos. It will be with the Soviet Union, and the stakes will be atomic world war.

The model to contemplate is Wheelus Air Base, the great air base in Libya, formerly under U.S. control. When the present Libyan dictator, Col. Qaddafi, seized power, Wheelus was a major U.S. installation, of great strategic importance in the entire Mediterranean area. It is now a Soviet installation. Libya is a Soviet arms depot. As a sovereign nation, Libya expelled the U.S. and invited the Soviets in.

In Panama, we can envisage the following sequence of events if the treaties are approved.

U.S. power will quickly be withdrawn from Panama. As soon as the treaties go into effect, control of the Canal Zone in practical terms will shift to Panama. Gen. Torrijos will visit Moscow. Various kinds of trade relations between Moscow and Panama will be instituted. Moscow and Panama will sign a military assistance agreement and Soviet personnel will arrive in Panama. There will be a gradual buildup of Soviet presence in Panama.

At some point down the road, a political crisis will occur. It might be in the Middle East. Or it might involve, for example, an attack upon Chile by Peru. The canal then could be the focus of a strategic confrontation.

At that point, the issue will be a direct U.S. — Soviet showdown. It will not be a question of enforcing the treaties against some 10-cent Panamanian dictator. It will be a question of World War III, a missile confrontation, a Berlin Wall situation. At that point, the U.S. will back down.

At present, an ineluctable equation exists in the international arena. When U.S. power retreats, Soviet power moves in to exploit the vacuum. The confrontation stakes rise, increasing the chance of world war.

Where Wheelus Air Base is concerned, of course we could defeat Qaddafi. But we are not confronting Qaddafi. The same is true of Cuba. Of course, we could have defeated Castro with air support at the Bay of Pigs. But in Cuba we are not confronting Castro but the force supporting him, Soviet atomic missiles.

If the Panama treaties are approved and U.S. power withdrawn from that situation, there will be a Soviet presence in Panama within five years. The U.S. will then face Option Impossible: either accept another major political defeat, or risk atomic war. At that point, we will take the defeat — yet another step down the road to ultimate defeat.

The treaties should be rejected.

Now, not later, is the time to assert the national will.

Benton Police Mark 25th Anniversary

At a celebration of the Benton Township Police Department's 25th anniversary last night, Chief Joe Sieber told an audience of 170 people from many walks of life:

"We appreciate the help you have given Benton Township police. This is not a night to recognize us; it's a night to recognize you."

Sieber used the occasion at Point O'Woods Golf and Country Club to honor three civilians who recently helped in the apprehension of criminal suspects, to thank the court system for the job it's doing, and to introduce past and current township officials whose support he said he has appreciated.

The township's police department was created Dec. 22, 1952, the day Sieber was hired as the sole patrolman. Except for a 7½-month period in the early 1960's, he has been the department's only chief.

In its 25 years, the department has grown to include 18 uniformed patrolmen plus detectives, youth officers and clerks, Sieber said. The department has 28 full-time employees and six part-time workers, he said.

The department's upcoming anniversary was recognized by the Southwestern Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Association whose regular bimonthly meeting was hosted by the Benton Township Police Department last night.

Association President Lee Curran, of Kalamazoo, said it was the first the association has celebrated a police department's anniversary. Curran is deputy chief of the Western Michigan University campus police.

Besides association members, many civilians received special invitations to the meeting, Sieber said. He gave a special thanks to township businessmen for their support of the department.

Three civilians presented certificates for assisting police were Troy Hill, 44; Dana Cook, 17, both of Benton Township; Tracy Parmer, 17, of St. Joseph Township.

Hill was commended for pursuing, in his car two men who committed a robbery Aug. 6 at a gas station-party store, and using his CB radio to tell police the license number and direction of travel of the getaway car. Two men were arrested and convicted for the robbery at the Arco station, Napier Avenue at I-94.

Cook and Parmer called police when they saw a man break into the Freeway station, M-139, Sept. 25. Police arrested a suspect inside the station, and he is currently awaiting trial.

Guest speaker at the program was Greg Matthews, golf pro at Kalamazoo Elks Club who has been totally blind since 1970. Matthews yesterday shot a 94 at the Point's par 72 course with the help of a coach who tells him which direction to shoot.

He told the audience that he missed four short putts Monday. "Not even a blind man should miss those."

He said he was 35 when a physical ailment caused the loss of his sight. "All of a sudden it went dark, and then I found that life is what you make of it," he said. "Blindness has made a better man of me. I've learned the true values of life."

He quit playing golf in 1970, after losing his sight, he said. Four years later, with the help of friends, he began playing again. Believing that "goals should be a little bit out of reach," he set a goal of shooting under 90 on the golf course. He said he did that last month with an 87. Now his goal is to break 85.

He said he still teaches chipping and putting, and also runs the pro shop at the course in Kalamazoo.

Rats Stalking BH 'Large As Rabbits'

The president of a Benton Harbor neighborhood block club told Benton Harbor city commissioners last night there are so many rats in the city that "rats as large as rabbits are sitting on people's back porches and running through their living rooms."

Mrs. Eugene (Doris) Ray, president of the Eastside Block Club, was among a group of residents who complained about the rat problem at the city commission meeting last night. She also presented commissioners petitions she said had 560 signatures of people who want something done about the rat problem.

MAURICE BISHOP
'More poisoning needed'

City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. said the Berrien County Health Department is applying for a $100,000 federal grant to conduct a rodent control program but has not yet received approval of the project.

The grant for rodent control, however, also came under attack last night from Maurice Bishop, owner of a Benton Harbor pest control company, who complained that not enough money of the grant is budgeted for rat poisoning. He also criticized commissioners for turning down a proposal he made to provide a rat killing program to supplement the county's program.

Bishop, owner of All Time Pest Control at 757 East Main St., said only $1,200 of the $100,000 grant is budgeted for rat killing. The rest, he said, is for an education program to inform residents on methods of keeping rats out of their homes.

"The reason these problems are not being taken care of is because the people who have to deal with these problems don't have to live with them," Bishop said. "All you get when you come down here is a bunch of lies."

The county health department applied for the grant after conducting a survey of the city's rat problem a year ago which found that more than one-third of the homes and vacant lots in the city had indications of the presence of rats.

Mrs. Ray's Eastside Block Club covers an area bordered by Territorial Road, Fair Avenue, East Main Street and Paw Paw Avenue. In their survey, the county health department found that area of the city to be the worst rat infested, with 54 percent of the homes showing signs of rats.

Residents appearing before the commission last night also complained about problems with stray dogs and poorly-maintained streets.

Commissioner Alfred Williams said residents could help with the rat and stray dog problem by cleaning up their yards and putting the garbage out on the day it's supposed to be picked up.

Mayor Joel Patterson thanked the citizens for bringing their problems to the commission, but said the problems can't be solved overnight. "I think the commissioners are as frustrated about the city's problems as I am," he said. "But I also realize that the city commission has its limitations. These problems did not occur overnight and we're not trying to procrastinate. We're trying to do our best."

In other areas, the commission approved a $10,848 loan from the city's Community Development grant to rehabilitate the D&D Marina building at 257 West Main Street.

The loan, to Ivan, Dale, and Dave Hickmott, owners of D&D Marina, will come from the United Community Development Corporation (UCDC), a group of Benton Harbor businessmen that organized a local development company to foster business growth in Benton Harbor. The UCDC, which has recommended approval of the loan, received a Community Development grant from the city to make the loans.

The commission also approved a route for students at Columbus elementary school to use for a parade Wednesday in observance of Columbus Day. The parade will start at 1:30 p.m. and proceed from the school down Clay Street, Pearl Street, Catalpa Avenue, and Columbus Avenue back to the school.

Insurance Switch Is Protested

The owner of a St. Joseph insurance agency is protesting recent action by the Benton Harbor City Commission transferring the city's liability insurance from his firm to the F. Joseph Flaugh Insurance Agency.

At a workshop meeting prior to the city commission meeting last night, James DeVries, owner of the DeVries Insurance Agency, St. Joseph, asked city commissioners to reconsider their action to change agencies handling the city's liability insurance.

"Basically, it's a question of professional ethics," DeVries told city commissioners. "We really went out slugging for the city and spent a lot of time on this and we feel we have earned our commission."

The city commission voted Oct. 3 to switch to the Flaugh agency after Flaugh, a former Benton Harbor commissioner, complained that his agency was not considered when the city renewed its liability coverage.

The city had signed a binder to renew its liability insurance with the DeVries agency, according to Farmer. The cost of the insurance will not change no matter which local agency handles it because both firms handle coverage through the same carrier, the Hartford Insurance Company, Farmer said.

Mayor Joel Patterson said the city commission will meet with DeVries and Flaugh at a workshop session Wednesday to discuss the liability insurance.

DeVries said his firm negotiated with Hartford for 90 days to get the insurance and succeeded in getting the insurance for $62,900 less than the original quoted price.

DeVries said municipal liability insurance is getting extremely difficult to obtain and rates have risen sharply. The city will pay $95,100 for the renewed insurance policy, DeVries said. Last year, the city spent $53,000 for liability coverage, according to Farmer.

Flaugh, who lives in the city and has an office at Fairplain Plaza, maintained that in spending city money, the city commission should think of city residents first. Flaugh served on the commission for more than 20 years and was prohibited by the city charter from conducting business with the city until he resigned his commission seat on Jan. 26, 1976.

DeVries said his firm does a lot of business underwriting Benton Harbor businesses. "We've supported Benton Harbor," he said. "There shouldn't be a separation of cities; one affects the other."

Fire Laid To Children, Matches

A fire believed started by children playing with matches caused minor damage yesterday to a house at 563 Broadway, the Benton Harbor Fire Department reported.

Firemen said damage to the house was confined to an upstairs bedroom and was estimated at $500 structural damage and $1,000 damage to contents. The occupant of the house was listed as Harold Thomas. The fire started in a mattress in the bedroom, said firemen, who were called at about 6:30 p.m.

Widen Niles 'Bottleneck' St. Joseph Urges State

The St. Joseph City Commission Monday night adopted a resolution calling on the state highway department to eliminate a "bottleneck" on Niles Avenue by widening Niles to a full four lanes between Main Street and Winchester Avenue.

The one quarter mile stretch is now about 3½-lanes wide.

The commission also voted first reading approval for a proposed ordinance that would allow the city manager to designate school bus stops where bus drivers would be required to stop traffic with red flashers when loading or unloading. The ordinance must win a second approval before it goes into effect.

The resolution calling for improvements to Niles Avenue was adopted on behalf of a resident who has complained that the present roadway is bumpy and in need of repair.

City Manager Gerald Heppler said the complaint came from Edward Mosimann, 1402 Niles Avenue.

Heppler said the only way the Department of State Highways and Transportation will improve the avenue would be if the department could also widen it to four lanes so it would meet minimum state highway standards.

Niles avenue becomes four lanes south of Winchester. He said the department would not finance paving the avenue without widening it.

The street is part of the state highway system (US-33), and as a consequence any improvements would have to be paid for by the highway department, Heppler said.

Heppler said the process of getting the state to undertake the project will take several years and will involve public hearings and preparation of an environmental impact statement because federal highway money would be involved. He said any proposed widening would take up a good portion of existing tree lawn, but it would not exceed the existing 66-foot right-of-way.

The ordinance providing for use of red flashers on school buses has been sought by Concerned Citizens for Washington School. At present, school bus drivers are not permitted to use the red flashers in the city, but they must use them outside the city limits on township roads.

Heppler said that if the ordinance is adopted on second reading he will meet with school officials and designate the bus stops where flashers must be used. He said some stops, such as those in front of a school where children never cross the street, would probably not be given the designation for flashers.

The proposed ordinance also requires that signs be posted notifying motorists the law is in effect in the city. City Attorney Arthur G. Preston Jr. said the ordinance carries a maximum penalty of a $100 fine or 90 days in jail.

In other areas, commissioners agreed to postpone action on a series of recommended changes to a proposed zoning ordinance until next week when all commissioners are expected to be present. Commissioner Joseph Hanley was out of town Monday and did not attend the meeting.

The zoning ordinance changes are being recommended by the city planning commission.

Commissioners also postponed for one week the continuation of a hearing on whether a house at 3320 Lake Shore Drive should be demolished.

The house, which has been cited for numerous building code violations, is occupied by Carmen Green who has previously been instructed by the commission to make repairs or face having the house demolished.

She told commissioners last night that she will allow Heppler and Carl Conklin, director of building and inspections, to inspect the house Thursday.

They are to report their findings to the commission next Monday.

SJ School Board Okays Budget Of $5.9 Million

The St. Joseph Board of Education last night unanimously approved a 1977-78 budget calling for expenditures of $5.9 million.

Board members said some adjustments may need to be made for individual departments as the year progresses, but urged the district's staff to attempt to meet the budget.

"This is one of the tighter budgets we've attempted to operate by," commented President John Pielemeier. "It may be necessary for some adjustments once we've attempted to get it to work."

The budget is about $800,000 less than the original $6.8 million proposal submitted earlier to the Berrien County Tax Allocation Board. Cuts were made by the board and included recommendations by a citizens' budget task force. Pielemeier noted the tight budget had drawn some criticism from some of the district's staff.

"Every area is hit by the budget," said board member Fredda Sparks. "We have to attempt to work within the budget. We'll be in big trouble next year if we start making inroads into our fund equity."

The budget predicts expenditures of $5,935,750, and total available funds were set at $6,147,611, for an anticipated equity at the end of the school year of $211,861. An audit of the 1975-76 school year, accepted last night by the board, showed revenues exceeded expenditures by $16,872 last school year.

Business Manager Dennis Percy previously said the anticipated equity could be wiped out next year by projections that the district may need an additional $350,000 to meet needs in the 1978-79 school year.

The budget indicates 78.6 percent of the operating revenue will come from local property taxes, 17 percent from the state and 4.4 percent from other sources. State aid is expected to rise slightly over estimates in the budget because the district's enrollment of 3,715 is 15 more than predicted. Total millage for the district will be 38.116 mills.

The board, meeting at North Lincoln Elementary School, also heard a presentation from Tom Sinn, of Tom Sinn Associates, St. Joseph, on preliminary results of a demographic study of the St. Joseph school system.

Sinn said results of the study will help the board make decisions for future building and space requirements. Figures gathered in the survey showed St. Joseph schools in 1958-59 had an enrollment of 2,915, which peaked to 4,481 in 1971-72.

Sinn said enrollment has declined every year since, and he estimated that by 1992 the district would have 3,393 to 4,000 children in the district under age 18.

The school board authorized the study last spring at a total cost of $8,000. Board members said it was not known when the study would be completed.

The board also heard, but took no action on, a presentation for a "peer group counseling" program in the high school, in which students with problems would receive group counseling from other students with the assistance of trained personnel.

George Waning, assistant principal at the high school, said the district would incur none of the cost if the program is implemented, as funding would come from a federal grant, with the student senate possibly paying the local share, estimated at $1,250.

He said the program is still in the study phase and is awaiting action by the student senate. Charles Kehoe, director of juvenile court services for Berrien County, said the program currently operates in some schools in Benton Harbor and Niles. He said the program has helped reduce truancy, delinquent acts, and drug and alcohol use among participants.

The basic concept of the program, according to Waning, is that peer pressure on students is often more effective than counseling or advice from adults.

The board also learned that all teachers in the district have either been recalled or have accepted employment elsewhere.

Montessori Open House

Sunday, Oct. 16

Third annual Twin Cities Montessori House of Children open house will be held Sunday, Oct. 16, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the school, 589 Pearl, Benton Harbor. The public is invited, according to Renard Baldwin, president of the parent board.

Joan Emlong, school director, says the Montessori method which originated in Italy over 70 years ago and spread worldwide, is basically a unique approach to learning.

"Rather than 'teaching' the child concepts, an environment is designed to stimulate the child's interest and facilitate his understanding and learning capacities spontaneously — with little or no adult intervention," she added.

"Visitors will be amazed at the array of materials completely unique to Montessori. Maria Montessori, who was Italy's first woman doctor, used her scientific knowledge and spent many years observing children. This knowledge and these observations led her to the development of carefully designed materials for a child-centered environment," Mrs. Emlong said.

Twin Cities Montessori House of Children has a staff trained and qualified in early childhood education as well as the Montessori philosophy and methods.

Mrs. Emlong received a bachelor of arts degree from St. Mary's of Notre Dame, Ind., and taught elementary school four years prior to her training at the Montessori Center of Michigan, Drayton Plains. She has done graduate work in early childhood education at Western Michigan university.

Mrs. Emlong helped found and has served as director of the local Montessori school for three years.

Charles Curtiss, who is completing his work as a Montessori intern, is beginning his third year at the Twin Cities Montessori House of Children. He studied at the Midwest Montessori Teacher Training Center in Chicago.

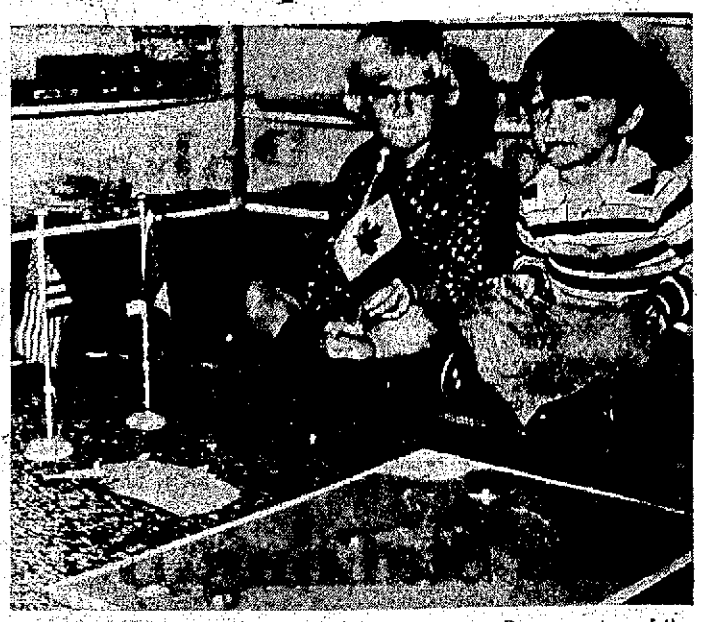
Mary Kolanowski, an elementary teacher for five years in Manistee, is new on the staff this year. She also is completing her internship after additional study at the Midwest Montessori Center.

For those parents who raise the objection that enrolling a child who is only two and one-half-years-old in a five-day a week preschool is 'pushing' the child, Mrs. Emlong explains:

"Most educators and psychologists today agree that the single most important period in the development of a person's intelligence occurs between birth and age five. A child's mind is extremely absorbent and his curiosity is at a peak during these early years.

"When properly nourished and stimulated, the child's mind forms patterns for learning that serve him well throughout life. The Montessori system of preschool education has proven to be one of the most effective and fastest growing methods to guide a child through these critical years," Mrs. Emlong said.

Twin Cities Montessori House of Children has two daily sessions, 8 to 11 a.m. and 11:45 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. five days a week. Enrollment is composed of youngsters from New Buffalo, Buchanan, Berrien Springs, Benton Harbor, St. Joseph and Stevensville.



UNIQUE PRESCHOOL: Elizabeth Rumble and Andrew Boyce are two of the preschoolers enrolled at Twin Cities Montessori House of Children which draws students from throughout the county. The school's third annual open house is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 16, from 2 to 4 p.m. (Staff photo)

BEGAN WITH COLUMBUS

The Country's Jewel Roots

"If ever a country had a romanticized beginning and a colorful, jewel-studded history, it is ours.

Small wonder one of our patriotic songs begins: "Oh Columbia, the gem of the ocean!" — for America owes much to jewels, jewelry and precious metals, the Jewelry Industry Council found in researching our history.

Columbus Day was observed as a legal holiday Oct. 10 in commemoration of the landing of Columbus in the Bahamas in 1492. The traditional observance will be Wednesday, Oct. 12.

The very discovery of America came about because of the boyhood dreams of one adventuresome Italian — Christopher Columbus, of Genoa, Italy, whole youth was spent listening to tales about the fabulous treasures Marco Polo brought from Cathay (China) wo hundred years before.

Polo sailed across the Mediterranean Sea, then took the tortuous route overland spanning deserts and scaling mountains to China to bring back a fortune in jewels, silk and spices.

Geographers of Columbus' day were questioning whether the world might not indeed be round, and one could reach east by going far enough west. When he was 26, Columbus married the daughter of a famous sea captain. He sailed for his father-in-law and pored over the older man's maps and charts, conceiving his dream of a western sea route to the Orient.

For 15 years, he schemed and plotted, trying to interest his government in financing a voyage west. It was Queen Isabella of Spain who had the foresight to take the Italian sailor seriously. It is fancy that she pawned her crown jewels to finance his trip. Fact was the Spanish royal coffers were so impoverished, she had already pawned the royal jewels.

The Queen offered Columbus several personal pieces of jewelry, and her gesture served as a royal endorsement. Wealthy merchants of the day were quick to advance the backing they had previously refused. The rest is history.

Then there was the fancy of the purchase of Manhattan Island by Peter Minuit for $24 worth of beads and trinkets. Not so, prove letters in possession of the New York City Historical Society.

Minuit bought 64 guilders worth of axes, knives, cloth and other tools rather than the legendary "beads and trinkets" to barter with the Indians. Oddly enough, Minuit paid the Canarsie Indians, who only occupied the lowermost tip of Manhattan, and did not barter with the Weckquaesgeek (Manhattan) Indians, who inhabited the largest part of the Island. The Canarsies, with their payment of axes and tools, moved to Brooklyn, while presumably the Manhattan Indians had to migrate further north.

While Minuit may not have bought Manhattan with jewelled beads, he did indeed buy gems! The island of Manhattan literally sits on layers of impure garnets! In 1885 builders excavating near where Macy's now stands uncovered a 10 pound garnet. The garnet, appropriately enough, is the official jewel of the Empire State.

In addition to jewels and jewelry, jewelers and silversmiths have also had a part in shaping America. Immigrants from Europe who had been in the jewelry trade lent their talents to the struggling young country. Artisans manufactured the cutlery, tableware and cookware the new homesteaders so desperately needed. They even fashioned the Sunday-go-to-meeting buckles worn on pilgrims' shoes. Some of the artisans even made false teeth!

Adding impetus to the western push was the discovering of gold in California, notes the Jewelry Industry Council. But America is rich in gems and precious metals.

Gemmologists list 46 out of the 50 states as being rich in gem depostis. The country has gold and silver mines as well.

There are opals in Washington State, aquamarines in Georgia, topaz in Texas and diamonds in Arkansas. In fact, the hobby of many Americans who jocularly refer to themselves as "rock hounds" is searching for precious and semiprecious stones "right in our own back yard!"

Herb Bread

Now is the perfect time for hearty "meal-in-a-dish" soups and stews. Crusty herb bread is the perfect accompaniment. Purchase unsliced enriched French or Italian bread. Cut diagonally almost through to the bottom, to make one-inch slices.

Blend softened butter or margarine with your favorite herbs, or minced onion, garlic or dry salad dressing or soup mixes — and spread between slices.

Melt remaining better-herb mixture and pour over bread. Wrap loaf in foil and warm in preheated 375 degrees F. oven 12 to 15 minutes.

Fire Prevention Week

HARTFORD, Conn. — Each year about 9,000 Americans die as a result of fire — and experts say most of these deaths occur needlessly because simple fire prevention and fire safety steps are overlooked.

This week two million grade school youngsters in the Junior Fire Marshal program will be learning fire prevention techniques in school and checking their homes for common fire hazards during national Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15.

The JFM program, sponsored by the Hartford Insurance Group, is celebrating its 30th anniversary this year as a fire safety education effort for children in kindergarten through third grade.

Youngsters in the JFM program receive classroom instruction and a newsletter that contains a home fire safety checklist.

Children are asked to conduct fire inspections of their homes with the help of a parent. A child may come home from school and ask a parent to buy a smoke detector or repair a defective electric cord. Or children may suggest that parents throw out old newspapers and rags in the cellar and have the fireplace chimney cleaned.

"The JFM program emphasizes that the best protection is prevention," says Trudy McKeon Daly, fire safety education director for The Hartford. "Fire Prevention Week is an excellent time to remind ourselves about fire safety and fire prevention."

Among simple steps that may save lives are these:

— Install a smoke detector. Every home should have at least one. Howard D. Tipton, administrator of the National Fire Prevention and Control Administration, said recently. "The home smoke detector is the most significant single technological weapon our nation has to reduce fire deaths and destruction."

Smoke detectors are important because they alert a family to fire early. Smoke inhalation is a major cause of death during fires. Many victims die in their sleep from smoke inhalation long before fire reaches them. A smoke detector sounds an alarm loud enough and early enough to give a family time to escape. Smoke detectors are available in any hardware and department stores for $20 to $50. A smoke detector should have the approval of a recognized testing laboratory, such as Underwriters Laboratories.

— Never leave burning cigarettes unattended on the edges of ashtrays. The single leading cause of home fire deaths is burning cigarettes that tumble into upholstered furniture and sometimes smolder for hours before bursting into flames during the night.

— Do not store cookies, candy, crackers or other goodies in cabinets over a kitchen stove. Youngsters climbing on stoves easily may set their clothes on fire. Many children are badly burned this way each year.

— Instruct all family members in what to do if their clothing should catch fire. The best technique for coping with a clothing fire is summarized in the phrase, "stop, drop to the floor or ground immediately and roll over and over with hands extended above your head until the fire is out.

— Prepare a night home escape plan and practice it. It's vital that all family members know two exits and plan how they will escape in a fire. The primary exit, of course, is the bedroom door unless the door is hot to the touch.

The secondary exit usually is a window. If the window is on the second floor, advance planning is necessary to determine how family members would get from the window to the ground. A family may want to purchase one or more chain escape ladders, which can be stored in a closet or under a window.

"The goal of the Junior Fire Marshal program is to reduce the tremendous loss of life and property each year from fire by reaching young children and developing fire prevention awareness at an early age," Mrs. Daly said.

"Already, numerous cases have been cited where lives have been saved because of simple lessons learned in the JFM program during Fire Prevention Week and throughout the school year."

Frank Dinner With Spaghetti

In skillet, brown one-half pound frankfurters, cut in thirds, in one tablespoon butter or margarine.

Add one can (14 ¾ ounces) spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese and one-half cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese. Heat until cheese melts. Makes about two cups, two to three servings.

Singing Sands Council Plans Meeting

Over 100 delegates of the Singing Sands Girl Scout Council and 30 nominees for the council board, nominating committee and national convention will meet Wednesday, Oct. 12, at Morris Park Country Club, South Bend, Ind.

The special meeting, the first of its kinds in the council, will be offered in two sessions, a 9 to 11 a.m. coffee session, and a 7 to 9 p.m. dessert session.

The purpose is to prepare delegates for the fifth annual council meeting to be held Nov. 15 in Michigan City. Official materials will be distributed and the nominees will be introduced.

Soften Police Image In Tokyo

All-Woman Riot Squad

By KATHRYN TOLBERT

TOKYO (AP) — How do you soften the image of helmeted, masked, shield-bearing, club-wielding riot police with a history of tear gas battles with demonstrators?

Add an all-woman riot squad, the Tokyo Metropolitan Police Department decided.

In trim blazers and skirts and with no battle gear or identification except for an armband and two small round badges on their lapels, the 201-member unit came into existence in April.

Its first job was to maintain order at the Imperial Palace on the emperor's birthday when thousands gathered to pay their respects.

"Up to now the riot police had an image of toughness," said Capt. Michiko Nakanishi, the soft-spoken, 53-year-old career woman who heads the new unit.

"But nowadays they have to be more than that. There are demonstrations by the handicapped, elderly, women and other groups for which the riot police are a bit too much. There are more and more duties for which women are better suited than men," she said in an interview.

The women's "Special Mobile Force," more popularly known as the female riot squad, was selected from the ranks of the 1,523 policewomen in the Metropolitan Police Department.

With an average age of 21½ and two to three years' experience in the police force, the women meet as a unit twice a month for training in team work and crowd control tactics. The male unit trains full time.

For the most part, the policewomen continue their duties in the 94 police stations throughout Tokyo, usually in the traffic department, and attend the required twice monthly lessons in the martial art of aikido.

"Their training is mostly in announcing and communication. Over a microphone or megaphone, a woman's voice sounds softer and is more effective than a man's," said Captain Nakanishi.

"Rather than listen to what I was saying, they stared at me, which was embarrassing," said Keiko Domon, 20, of her work at orderly demonstrations on May Day.

"But whenever a male and female officer are standing together, people always come to the woman if they have a question," she added.

Many women quit after five or six years to get married, but Kiroko Nakano, who has two children, aged 5 and 1½, is a platoon leader in the all-woman unit.

"My husband gives me a lot of back-up, a lot of understanding. Some people criticize me, of course, for leaving the home when I have children, but others praise me for working hard," she said.

On days when there are no activities for the riot squad, she works in one of Tokyo's police stations with 233 men and six other women.

Even as members of a special police squad, the women officers, like Japanese office girls everywhere, serve tea to their male coworkers.

"We feel it's something we have to do, so we don't think whether it's good or bad," said Miss Domon.

"We think we are equal to the men, but serving tea is a traditional way of expressing femininity so we do it naturally," said Mrs. Nakano.

They do not expect, nor are there plans, for the women members to become involved in any riots or other situations where violence or physical contact are likely.

Mrs. Nakano said that not once in her nine years of work has she had to use her aikido skills. Although some training with the men's squad for crowd contact is planned, the women will carry no kind of weapon.

ON THE MARCH — Members of an all-woman riot squad of the Tokyo Metropolitan Police Department parade during the 25th anniversary ceremony of the department in Tokyo recently. The 201-member unit came into existence in April 1977.

Open House Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Zielke Jr., 3824 Lakeshore drive, II-12, St. Joseph, will be honored at an open house Sunday, Oct. 16, in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Friends and relatives are invited to the event which will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. at Zion Evangelical and Reformed church, St. Joseph.

Hosting the open house will be the couple's children, David Zielke of St. Joseph and Mr. and Mrs. Scott (Lynn) Vince of Stevensville.

Arthur Zielke and Virginia Klutts were married Oct. 11, 1952, at Zion Evangelical and Reformed church, Baroda, by the late Rev. William Krummel.

Zielke is employed as an accountant by Bendix Corp. and Mrs. Zielke is employed as a secretary in the volunteer department of Memorial hospital.

Acquire Portrait

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Portrait Gallery, a branch of the Smithsonian Institution, has acquired what Marvin Sadik, director, says is the only known life portrait of Revolutionary War hero Enoch Crosby, master spy.

The portrait, which was done by the studio of Samuel Waldo and William Jewett, was commissioned by John R. Peters of New York and painted in 1830. It belonged to Peters' descendants before passing into the hands of the gallery.

Crosby, a hero in his own time, was considered one of the most skillful spies in the revolution. He worked at times directly with George Washington. Crosby was also the model for James Fenimore Cooper's novel, "The Spy."

ATTENTION!

Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in 10 days before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

Artistic Platter

Ready-to-serve luncheon meats arranged artistically on a platter can be as pretty as a picture on the buffet table. Or a tray of cold cuts for a family "help yourself" lunch or supper is a big help on busy days.

A little imagination can work wonders in combining slices of salami, pimiento loaf, bologna, old-fashioned meat loaf, pepper loaf and other meats, including leftover roast lamb, beef or pork.

Rolled, layered or cubed pieces of luncheon meats make an attractive display with pickles, olives, raw vegetables and fruits.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Housewife A Parasite?

Dear Ann Landers: This is for that nutty housewife in Dallas who wrote to say how hard she works just "raising a family." The truth is that the American housewife is a glorified parasite. She does nothing but amuse herself 95 per cent of the time.

I wonder if you know how many hours the "average home-bound slave" spends looking at TV, yakking on the telephone, kaffee-klatching with neighbors and reading trashy magazines.

It takes only a minute to change a diaper. The cooking can't require more than half an hour for supper. Most husbands don't come home for lunch any more. Laundry takes about an hour a week — and the machines do the work. So they clean the house (maybe) and wash a floor or two. This uses up an hour at the most. Big deal.

The real heroines are the women who run the house and hold down an eight-hour job besides. I have a lot of respect for them. They also seem to have independent, well-behaved kids who know how to do things for themselves. What's more, their husbands do less running around and their marriages seem to be working.

So let's hear it for the little lady who can run a home and help her overworked husband pay the bills, which are staggering these days. Thumbs down on the lazy complainers who call themselves "homemakers" when in reality they are "freeloaders." — Seen It All.

Dear Seen It: Since your mind is not only closed but nailed shut, I wouldn't attempt to point out the foolishness of some of your statements. You make no distinction between the woman who has a single child and one who has six — and when you say cleaning the house and washing a floor or two takes an hour at the most — oh, well, what's the use?

I've let you have your say because this column represents everybody's point of view, but since it's MY column, I reserve the right to have the last word. And my word to you is BULL-FEATHERS, Mister.

Last Word

Dear Ann Landers: You are probably sick of letters about toilet paper by this time but I hope you will print one more. It should put an end to the nassling once and for all.

My husband works for a paper company. They sell the best known brand of toilet paper in the country. (I won't name it because I know you won't print it.) When he read all those letters from people who were explaining the "proper" way to put the roll on the dispenser, he laughed and said, "The correct way is so obvious I don't know how people can miss it." Then he pointed out that the fancier toilet tissue is embossed with designs and color. It is made so the paper comes over the top and rolls down on the outside — not to the wall. If placed the other way, the design would not show. It would be the same as hanging your printed draperies with the pattern to the window and the lining on the outside. NOW do you understand? — Sign Me Right Side Up

ANN LANDERS

Dear Right: Gotcha. And this is the last letter I am printing on the subject, so if anyone has anything more to say — tell it to somebody else.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." For a copy, mail 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Astro-Graph

Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Oct. 12, 1977

You have everything going for you this coming year, so long as you take things calmly and in stride. Trim your sails. Wait if the wind is down momentarily.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Initiative, knowledge, charm and wit are your assets today. The only one who can trip you up is yourself, by being too glib. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Use your intuition today! You're very gifted in this respect. But work from behind the scenes to avoid the risk of others not understanding.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Get involved with large organizations today. You'll be a welcome addition in all respects except those which deal with handling their assets.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A good day to inject some new element into your career. It can be great or small, but it won't be effective unless you do it solo.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Have faith in the knowledge and powers you already possess. If you try to delve too deeply into the whys and wherefores, you'll nullify potential gains.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) As the power behind the throne, you have few peers today. If you tip your hand and try to take the bows, however, you'll blow everything.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Cooperative efforts are favored today. You'll be able to achieve meetings of the mind not possible before. On the homefront, tread softly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You can formulate new methods today to assist you. This is especially true in handicrafts, even if they're only a hobby.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) An excellent day for a new contact, be it romantic, social or in the realm of friendship. Avoid, however, trying to impress with real or pretended affluence.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) New harmony in the home today. Your contribution is to act unselfishly and without reservation.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Ignore doubts that might surface today. Have faith in your ability. Take the initiative. Others will recognize your leadership qualities.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Forget trying to please everyone. Restrict yourself to dealing on a one-to-one basis today. Financial gains, eyeball negotiations.

Opening lead — K♥

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is a problem hand composed by Eddy Kantar, one of our greatest players. Try to avoid looking at the East-West hands until you have planned your entire play starting at trick four.

West starts out by playing ace and king and a third heart. You win in your own hand and must plan the play.

You start by assuming that West will hold both black kings. He really needs them to have an opening bid. Maybe this doesn't worry you and it won't unless it turns out that West holds three trumps and just one diamond. Can you guard against that unpleasant possibility?

You can, but it requires considerable care. You start by cashing your ace of clubs and ruffing the jack.

Now if you stop thinking and just lead dummy's jack of spades the hand will collapse. West will take his king and lead a diamond. You won't be able to shut out his 10 of trumps.

So you cash one high diamond before leading that jack of spades and nothing can touch you.

Ask the Jacobys

A Texas reader wants to know what happens when the contract is three hearts. Declarer makes nine tricks but is entitled to two more because of the revoke. Does he make game?

We have answered this question several times before. Penalty tricks only count below the line if they help declarer make his contract. Otherwise, they are simply scored as overtricks. Thus, this declarer gets 60 points above the line.

Seeks Volunteers

COLOMA — Volunteers from the north Berrien county area are being sought to initiate two programs for senior citizens by officials of the North Berrien Senior Center, Coloma.

Miss Marie Preston, center director, says plans call for creating a telephone reassurance program and a friendly visitors program if sufficient volunteers can be obtained.

The volunteers, according to Miss Preston, do not have to be senior citizens, although attempts are being made to contact center members for inclusion in the two programs.

Under the proposed telephone reassurance program, volunteers would be requested to make one telephone call each day, seven days a week, to an ill, handicapped, lonesome or elderly person who has registered for such calls.

The calls would be at a prearranged time to check on the person's condition and to provide an outside contact.

According to Miss Preston, these calls would help determine if there is any emergency situation which would require prompt action to obtain the proper help.

The second program would involve visitation to the residences of senior citizens once a week.

The friendly visitors program would offer companionship to the senior citizen and could include reading, sewing, writing letters and shopping.

The program would serve as a "senior's link to the community" and at the same time show someone cared and was concerned about the senior citizen, Miss Preston said.

She said persons wishing to volunteer for either program or both, will be requested to fill out an information sheet to help match each other (volunteer and senior citizen) fr a degree of compatibility.

Persons wishing to volunteer, or those in need of the programs, may contact the center office at 140 East Logan street, Coloma.

The center is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I just read your column about the lady who likes to smoke and I have some additional comments that I feel from deep inside my conscience.

After smoking since I was 12 years old I've grown increasingly dependent on my vice. I also resent the comments made by people that it's a nasty habit and offends people socially. But may I ask why everyone makes such a big deal of smoking and completely ignores those who drink themselves into a stupor every night because they want to relax?

I feel resentful toward people when they drink and become different from the persons they really are! They become obnoxious, mouthy and care less about anyone's feelings and there are those who suddenly become quiet and are about as much company as a brick wall.

They drive and cause many accidents that in many cases involve innocentpsople and inconvenience people by "passing out" and having to be carried out. Thanks, but if there's a choice, I'll take smoking. It's much less hazardous.

DEAR READER — Funny, but I had an idea that you may have had someone close to you in mind when you were complaining about the effects of drinking on the personality.

There is no reason why you need to choose between two bad habits. I don't recommend drinking instead of smoking and I don't recommend smoking instead of drinking. My advice is don't do either.

Alcoholism is a severe problem. Did you know cirrhosis of the liver is the fourth common cause of death in American men between the ages of 35 and 54 and that 60 per cent of these liver deaths are caused by alcoholism? It's true. It is just another example of how people affect their own health, as opposed to depending upon the doctor to provide life and health everlasting regardless of what they do.

No, I am not going to endorse your bad habit but I will say that drinking irresponsibly is also hazardous to your health. I would concur that a warning label should be on every beverage containing alcohol. It is a poison. It does destroy health, personality and families.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-4, Alcohol, Whiskey, Gin, Vodka, Rum, Wine, Beer. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. It will give you a lot more information on how alcohol is hazardous to your health. You might be wise to share its content with some of those in your life who use too much alcohol.

There are a lot of people who both drink to excess and smoke. The combination is like playing Russian roulette with two chambers of the revolver instead of just one.

Incidentally, it is not true that alcohol relaxes a person. It may be a social lubricant for some people but it is a depressant or an anesthetic. The person may not feel his anxiety or tension but he has not relieved it with alcohol. He has only numbed his senses. It is not a good tranquilizer. A much better and more healthy tranquilizer is exercise. A good walk, a swim, or participation in some sport you enjoy is much more relaxing and much better for a person's health. A wife can help in this area by planning family activities at the end of the day that provides healthy exercise.

Dr. Lamb answers representative letters of general interest in his column. Write to him in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Wednesday Preschool Program

Schedule Prayer Event

BLOOMINGDALE — Second annual Women's Prayer and Share Day will be held Saturday, Oct. 22, from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Bloomingdale Christian church.

A carry-in salad buffet luncheon will be served at noon.

Mrs. Mildred Rice of Taiwan will be guest speaker.

Mrs. Lorna Chandler and Mrs. Erma Remington are chairmen.

Add Topping To Casserole

Dress up your favorite casserole with this Crunchy Cereal Topping that adds an interesting texture to a one-dish entree. Saute one-half cup bran flakes, crisp whole wheat flakes or corn flakes lightly in one teaspoon butter or margarine in small skillet. Remove from heat and add one-quarter cup grated American cheese, mixing lightly.

Sprinkle the mixture on top of one of your special "leftover" casseroles and bake according to directions, or until topping is hot and bubbly.

KING CORK POPPER: Austin Schillinger of Phoenix, Ariz. popped his cork for 94 feet, 6½ inches to set new record and become world's champion champagne cork popper during the London Bridge Days 1977 festival at Lake Havasu City, Ariz. Schillinger's blast shattered the old world record of 92 ft., which is in the Guinness Book of Records. Event climaxed celebration of the 6th anniversary of the opening of the London Bridge in the desert resort community on the Colorado River. (AP Wirephoto)

Court Action Delays Vote Quiz

By CYNTHIA KYLE
Associated Press Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Despite a temporary reprieve, a pre-law student at the University of Michigan may be asked again to tell a judge how she voted in an Ann Arbor mayoral election.

But Susan R. VanHattum, 21, so far has refused, saying a person's vote is a private matter. She said Monday she'd "rather be a nobody" than face the publicity that her case has generated. She was found in contempt of court.

Miss VanHattum was helped out Monday when the Michigan Court of Appeals stayed legal proceedings in a lawsuit which sought to overturn results of the April 4 mayoral election. Miss VanHattum and Diane Lazinsky, another Michigan coed, were two of 20 persons subpoenaed and ordered to tell how they voted.

The stay indefinitely postponed a scheduled Tuesday hearing in a Washtenaw County Circuit Court where visiting Judge James Kelley planned to ask them how they voted. Miss VanHattum said she was "relieved...Now I can go back to being a student."

"I've got school work to do and I've got work to do," she told a reporter Monday. "I don't like the publicity. I like my privacy."

"I'm not a folk hero," she added. She refused to say whether the pressure from the publicity would lead her to change her mind about disclosing her vote.

The daughter of a Grand Rapids lawyer, Miss VanHattum argued her right to a secret ballot in the face of handcuffs and a contempt of court citation last Tuesday in Washtenaw County Circuit Court.

"I have always been brought up and told all my life that my vote was a private thing and that I'd never have to tell anybody how I voted," she declared in court.

Miss VanHattum and Miss Lazinsky refused to tell visiting judge Kelley whether they voted for Democratic Mayor Albert Wheeler or his Republican challenger, Lewis Belcher. Three other voters revealed their mayoral choices.

Belcher filed suit challenging Wheeler's right to hold office and alleging voter fraud after the Democrat claimed a one-vote victory in the election. Wheeler won a temporary stay of proceedings Monday at the appeals court in his efforts to end controversy over the contested election.

The lawsuit claimed the 20 voters were improperly allowed to cast their ballots because they lived in "islands" which are not part of the city.

Lawyers for the two coeds argue that although a 1951 state Supreme Court ruling holds that persons who voted illegally can be asked for whom the ballots were cast, the 20 voters were legally registered to vote.

The two women also will be joined by lawyers from the American Civil Liberties Union who have agreed to represent them in their fight for confidential balloting.

Meanwhile, ACLU lawyers said Monday they want the state Court of Appeals in Detroit to quash subpoenas for the 20 voters and to vacate the contempt ruling against Miss VanHattum.

Jonathan Rose, Miss VanHattum's lawyer, said he does not want his client to have to choose between jail and disclosing her vote.

Transfer Of Nun Rapped

DETROIT (AP) — A 35-year-old Roman Catholic nun who insisted on wearing her habit to work in the Detroit public school system has been transferred to a hospital job.

The controversial switch came four weeks after the dispute began over Sister Janice Dwyer's refusal to wear street clothes while doing student social work as part of her master's degree program for the University of Michigan.

School officials insist, however, that her manner of dress has nothing to do with the change in assignments.

"I don't care if she wore a clown suit," said Milton Weiner, director of social works for the schools. "The garb is not important."

He said Sister Janice was unacceptable in her post at Emerson Elementary School because she failed to meet the criteria for student social work. Her papers show no record of first-year field work.

But to Sister Janice and Dean Philip Fellin of the U-M Graduate School of Social Work, the dispute over her clothing was to blame.

"I know (the habit) was a prominent point of discussion," said Fellin. "But I don't know if it (her transfer) came down to that."

Sister Janice said that soon after she was assigned to the elementary school she was asked by a supervisor if she could wear street clothes in place of the habit.

A similar request was made by her U-M professor, Merle Dinsmore.

"I told her that was not an option I had," Sister Janice said, explaining her religious order required wearing of the habit.

Sister Janice, a second-year student in the graduate school, had no first-year record but received credit for that year because of her work as a nun within the Detroit Archdiocese.

For that reason, there is no record of first-year field work on Sister Janice's record.

Rights Commission Firm On Affirmative Action

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Civil Rights Commission today strongly defended education and business programs that give preference to women and minority members. It conceded that such efforts may pose a "disappointment" to expectations of white men.

The commission, an independent agency reporting to the President and Congress, released an updated "statement on affirmative action" at a news conference held on the eve of Supreme Court arguments in the so-called reverse discrimination case of Allan Paul Bakke.

"The justification for affirmative action to secure equal access to the job market lies in the need to overcome the effects of past discrimination by the employers, unions, colleges and universities who are asked to undertake such action," the commission said.

Bakke successfully sued the University of California, contending that he would have been admitted to its medical school at Davis had it not been for a special admissions program for minority applicants.

Bakke, who is white, said the program made him a victim of racial discrimination.

The California Supreme Court agreed with Bakke, and the university appealed its decision to the nation's highest court.

Essentially, the case asks two questions: can race be considered in a university's admissions policy — and by extension in an employer's hiring policy — to overcome past discrimination, and if so, was Bakke the victim of an affirmative action program that went too far?

The high court's eventual decision could have a profound impact on such programs begun in recent years in education and employment to help bring more minorities and women into the nation's economic mainstream.

In a Supreme Court brief filed in the Bakke case, the Carter administration has come out on the side of affirmative action programs. But the administration carefully avoided weighing Bakke's rights against those of the minority students admitted to the Davis medical school under the special program which guaranteed 16 slots out of 100 in each class to minority members.

The civil rights panel said that until the nation reaches a point where minorities and women have reached true equality, white men are going to have to bite the bullet.

"In their impact on non-minorities, the programs of professional schools are similar *to ... employment cases involv*ing new hiring in that the effect is not on benefits already accrued by nonminorities but upon their expectations," the commission said.

"Although the disappointment of expectations ought not to be discounted, it may weigh less heavily than an actual loss of benefits, and the reasonableness of the expectations must be weighed," the statement said.

While not endorsing racial quotas, the commission said that "numerically based remedies" are useful and valid.

"Experience shows that they have not been treated as fixed quotas requiring the hiring of minorities and women regardless of qualification and circumstances, but rather as tools to remove institutional obstacles to equal employment opportunity," the commission said.

Cemetery Announces Deadline

Removal of all wire flower baskets from Riverview and City cemeteries was requested today by St. Joseph Cemetery Superintendent Robert Ketelhut. After Oct. 31, sextons will remove the baskets for the winter, Ketelhut said. Removal now will enable people to save the baskets and flowers, he said. Sextons will not be responsible for filling or removing dirt from these containers, he said. City Cemetery is off Lake View Avenue.

State Officials Say First PBB Tests Inconclusive

By CYNTHIA KYLE
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Tests for PBB contamination under new state law have been inconclusive thus far in determining the extent of the chemical remaining in Michigan livestock, according to state Agriculture Department officials.

Results returned from a St. Louis research lab's tests on 139 milk samples and 15 tissue samples from cattle already slaughtered showed that some contained small amounts of the toxic fire retardant below the level allowed by law.

The law, which went into effect last Monday, requires the slaughter of all cattle which contain more than 20 parts per billion (ppb) of PBB in their fat and more than five ppb of PBB in their milk.

Ken Van Patten, head of a special state PBB unit, said Monday that 11 of the milk samples analyzed showed "trace" levels of PBB. Trace levels are recorded as from one ppb to four ppb.

Two milk samples contained two ppb of the chemical, and the other nine held one ppb, Van Patten said.

The highest amount of PBB in a tissue sample was recorded at 10 ppb, the lowest at 3.3 ppb.

"That's going to shock some of the farmers," Van Patten said. "Some of them were sure that they never had any of that feed."

The low levels of the chemical could be attributed to lab error, Van Patten said.

"I'm suspicious that it could be lab error. At those levels the lab is not accurate," he added. "They might run those samples again and get all non-detectable levels. It's just such a small amount that the lab can't really be accurate."

Van Patten said he could not consider the results conclusive because the milk tests were made from composite samples taken from the state's 9,400 dairy farms.

The tissue tests required veterinarians, contracted by the state, to take small samples of fat from near the animal's tail.

"We're still pretty much in the dark on tissues," Van Patten said. "We have pretty well felt that we screened the milk well and located all those farms where milk was contaminated.

"A cow could have non-detectable levels of PBB in her milk and still carry it in her tissue."

State officials have sent almost 700 milk samples and more than 900 tissue samples for analysis.

Meanwhile, state officials are warning Michigan farmers against sale of untested animals for meat outside the state.

Dr. Duaine Deming, veterinarian coordinator for the special PBB unit, said Wisconsin officials are writing an emergency regulation requiring Michigan dairy cattle sold in Wisconsin to be accompanied by slaughter or exemption certificates.

Livestock markets in Ohio and Indiana have also agreed to cooperate with Michigan authorities in the new law, Deming said.

Farmers obtain the certificates after the animals are tested.

PBB, a toxic fire retardant, was accidentally mixed in livestock feed distributed around the state during 1973.

Suit Claims IQ Testing Biased

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — IQ tests — and their alleged built-in bias against minority children — go on trial here today in a class action lawsuit filed on behalf of six black children placed in classes for the mentally retarded because of low IQ test scores.

"The basic claim that we're trying is that the IQ tests are culturally biased against black children because they don't take into consideration the cultural experience of the children," said attorney Sam Miller.

The class action suit was filed in 1971 after the black children scored below 75 on standard intelligence quotient tests and were placed in classes for the "educable mentally retarded."

The children scored 17 to 35 points higher when retested by the Bay Area Association of Black Psychologists, using tests reworded to better reflect the language and experience of the children.

Miller claims the misuse of IQ tests in class placement could result in irrevocably stunting the educational growth of some minority children.

After the suit was filed, U.S. District Court Judge Robert Peckham stopped the placement of San Francisco black children in classes for the retarded when based on results of IQ tests, pending the outcome of the trial. Other criteria have been used since then. Peckham is hearing the nonjury trial.

At the time the suit was filed, 66.5 per cent of the students in the special classes were black, while 28.5 per cent of the total school population were black.

Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and a group called Public Advocates will assist in challenging the tests.

Defendants in the case include both the state and San Francisco school superintendents and the state and city school boards.

In pre-trial briefs, school officials argued that blacks predominate in the special classes in inner-city schools because of a whole range of social and economic factors, including poor nutrition, poor home environment and greater incidence of one-parent families.

The documents also referred to the possibility of "a poorer genetic pool for all races 'ghettoized' in the inner city."

Tom Griffin, chief counsel for the state Department of Education, said the genetic argument could be argued across race lines and did not represent any allegations that blacks were genetically inferior to whites.

In pretrial documents, Roger Lennon, an expert in testing, said there were no culture-free tests.

"We cannot build a test that is divorced from culture," he said. "If we could, it would be hard to see what utility it would have."

Lennon said the importance of IQ tests lay in their reflection of the language used in the classroom, although they might not reflect black culture.

"For example, the school, and presumably, most parents, are interested in a child's being able to read and understand the vocabulary used at school to transmit the curriculum," he said.

Tests using language not "common in the culture of the minority person," Lennon said, were still essential to determine a youngster's knowledge of language as used in schools.

Bottle Ban Rules Topic

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Proposed rules to implement Michigan's impending ban on nonreturnable bottles and cans will be the subject of a public hearing here Wednesday.

The hearing, to be held by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, will deal with the requirements to be placed on certifying beer, ale and other malt drink containers and a deposit and refund system for them.

The ban, approved by a voter referendum last November, takes effect Dec. 3, 1978.

Lawmaker Blasts Porn Ruling

By ROB WILSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan communities have been stripped of "an important tool" in the fight against pornography by last week's state Supreme Court ruling that local anti-smut ordinances are not enforceable, says the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee says.

The high court eliminated "the right (of local communities) to set their own standards," in its ruling that state pornography ordinances take precedent, Rep. Paul Rosenbaum, D-Battle Creek, said Monday.

"Local control over the issue of pornography and obscenity was an important stop-gap measure," Rosenbaum said.

The court also has imposed stiff restrictions on the legislature by forcing it to come up with a clearly defined obscenity law, he said. The court ruled more than two years ago that the state's present law is weak and vague.

"This is a complex issue, and the courts have handcuffed us. We have to be cognizant of the restraints the courts have placed on us before we can do anything," he said.

The court ruled last week that the state has the sole authority to set standards and punishment for the production and distribution of obscene materials. It said local communities may not enact laws which conflict with the state statutes or deal with the same problem.

In that decision more than two years ago, the court said the legislature must provide clearer laws before pornography cases can be successfully prosecuted.

Rosenbaum said he expects a bill dealing with obscenity to be approved by the House this week. The measure, which he sponsored, prohibits the distribution or display of obscene material to minors.

"If we try to pass through a whole anti-obscenity package, and the court strikes it down, then we don't have any law at all. We have to spoon-feed the court, take one step at a time," he said.

The bill has been in the works for more than a year. It was introduced during the legislature's last session, but no action was taken on it.

If the bill passes, the court will be asked to issue an advisory opinion on the bill's feasibility before it would be put into effect, Rosenbaum said.

Ford Gives MSU $1.5 Million

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has donated $1.5 million to Michigan State University for cultural and academic improvements. MSU president Clifford Wharton Jr. said in announcing the grant that it is the largest single gift ever made to a university by the automaker. It also is the largest donation received for the school's $17 million fund-raising program. The university plans to spend $11 million for a state center for the performing arts, $2.75 million for a natural and cultural history museum, $1.5 million to improve the library and $1.75 million for endowed faculty chairs. Members of MSU's faculty and staff recently pledged $900,000 toward the program.

ROUTINE PHYSICALS FOR CHILDREN

How often should a child receive a routine medical examination? Between one and three years: three times a year, three to six years; two examinations yearly, six to twelve years; one examination yearly.

Even with an apparently healthy child, a regular schedule of examinations is important. There are many conditions without obvious symptoms that only a physician can detect and diagnose. A hernia, onset of diabetes, hearing and vision defects, bladder infections - these are just a few examples. Other detectable conditions include heart murmers, high blood pressure, kidney disorders, anemia, and swollen "glands," — not to mention defects in growth and development.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

New Bill Is Aimed At Plea-Bargaining

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill restricting plea-bargaining would separate the good prosecutors from the bad prosecutors says the legislation's sponsor.

Sen. David Plawecki, who introduced his bill Monday night, said plea-bargaining in Michigan "is little more than a horse-trading process that often lets serious crimes go unpunished and puts dangerous criminals back on the streets."

The Dearborn Heights Democrat said he intends to "bring this back-room dealing into the public eye and discourage sloppy deals from being cut."

But Plawecki, a mechanical engineer, conceded he wasn't a lawyer and had no first-hand legal knowledge of "sloppy deals" being made by prosecutors.

In defending his attack on plea-bargaining, Plawecki said that of about 6,400 convictions by Detroit Recorder's Court in 1976, nearly 5,900 were the result of guilty pleas that never came to trial because of plea-bargaining.

That many cases of plea-bargaining "has to allow...for sloppy deals to be cut," Plawecki said.

The senator said he had discussed the legislation with only one member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, John Hertel of Harper Woods. The bill will be assigned to the Judiciary Committee, which is chaired by Sen. Basil Brown of Highland Park.

Plawecki also said he hadn't met with any prosecutors about the legislation but had found several trial lawyers and judges receptive.

The legislation is needed, he said, because "too many criminals are getting off easy" because of a criminal justice process "that encourages backroom bargaining."

Although the bill wouldn't eliminate plea-bargaining, it would severely restrict it. Under the legislation:

—A written policy statement would be required from every prosecutor's office outlining guidelines to be followed during bargaining.

—Before a plea bargain is consummated, a prosecutor must show the impact of the crime on the victim and members of the community.

—Plea-bargaining agreements would be prohibited if the court decides a plea wouldn't serve the public interest, would unduly jeopardize the safety of persons or property and would depreciate the seriousness of the offender's crime.

—An open judicial record of the plea, the agreement and the reasons for its acceptance or rejection would be kept.

—Courts would set deadlines before the trial date at which point all plea negotiations would be halted.

Professor Claims Age Bias

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — A 64-year-old professor at Highland Park Community College is due for mandatory retirement next year, but he won't go without a fight.

Prof. Charles Gladstone said Monday the American Civil Liberties Union plans to join him in an age discrimination suit against the Highland Park Board of Education, which has a retirement-at-65 rule.

Gladstone said the suit will challenge the forced retirement provision in the school's teacher contracts.

"Nobody has ever complained about my work," said Gladstone, a political and social science instructor. "They're saying that just because I'm a year older, I'm not as competent.

"You can't treat people just as members of a category like old. It illustrates again that we have no degree of respect for the aging."

The professor said his case is complicated because he is trying to raise two young sons, Joey, 10, and Alfred, 11.

Gladstone and his wife were married 13 years ago.

"I may be 64," he said, "but I have all the problems of a 30-year-old. The retirement system wasn't designed to raise a family or for times of inflation. I'm concerned for my family."

Blumenthal Sees Early Tax Cut

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's tax revision plan could reduce taxes by up to $22 billion, says Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, and may go into effect in 1978, a year earlier than originally planned.

Blumenthal, emerging from a meeting with Carter and senior economic advisers on Monday, left open the possibility that the administration might try to put the plan into effect next year, depending on the direction the economy follows.

But, walking out of the Cabinet Room meeting that lasted nearly five hours, the treasury secretary insisted no final decisions had been made.

His confirmation that the administration was considering tax cuts that could reach $22 billion was the first on-the-record administration comment on the possible size of the reduction.

The $22 billion figure is "indeed one of the options, but it is not necessarily the number" that will be settled on, he said.

"We just went over the entire program and the President has not made up his mind on any of the options," the treasury secretary said.

Administration sources had said earlier that the tax cut would be in the range of $17 billion to $20 billion, although some reports had placed it as high as $22 billion.

The sources have forecast that one-third of the tax cut would be for businesses and two-thirds for individuals.

The sources have said the tax cut would be introduced in 1979, although it would be phased in over several years. But Blumenthal said the timetable for putting the tax cut into effect remained undecided and that decisions on any tax cut in 1978 would depend on the state of the economy.

He said further meetings were planned and that it was likely Carter would send the plan to Congress by the end of the month.

The session, which began at 2 p.m. and didn't break up until a few minutes before 7 p.m., followed Carter's return from Camp David, Md., where he spent much of a three-day weekend studying tax policy papers.

As Carter walked into the White House from the helicopter that brought him back from the presidential retreat, reporters asked if he had made any final decisions on the tax program. The President replied: "No, but it won't be long."

In addition to Carter and Blumenthal, the meeting was attended by James McIntyre, acting budget director; Charles Schultz, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and Carter's domestic policy adviser, Stuart Eizenstat.

Moscow Frees Dissident Jew

MOSCOW (AP) — A Moscow Jew who collects information on dissidents held in Soviet psychiatric hospitals was released from a police station early today after a night of interrogation about his activities, leading dissident Andrei D. Sakharov reported.

Sakharov said Alexander Podrabinek, 23, was seized Monday by five men who jumped out of a car and said they wanted to check his identity papers.

PEACE PRIZE WINNERS: Mrs. Betty Williams, 33, left, and Miss Mairead Corrigan, 32, of Northern Ireland, co-founders of Peace People in that strife-torn country, read oath of peace at a rally in 1976. The 1976 Nobel Peace Prize was awarded Monday to the two women who have sought to bring peace between Roman Catholics and Protestants in Northern Ireland. The 1976 prize was withheld last year. Award has put their movement back in headlines, but could heighten jealousies and divisions within the 14-month-old crusade. (AP Wirephoto)

Russ Spacemen 'Out Of Gas'?

By SETH MYDANS
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — No official reason has been given for the inability of two cosmonauts aboard the Soyuz-25 spacecraft to link up with the orbiting space laboratory Salyut-6, the latest in a series of Soyuz-Salyut failures.

The cosmonauts, Lt. Col. Vladimir Kovalenok and flight engineer Valery Ryumin, returned to earth today after 49 hours and 48 minutes aloft. Both men were reported in good health.

Western space experts in Moscow suggested two possible reasons for the aborted mission: that the docking mechanism did not work or, more likely, that the cosmonauts overshot the space lab and didn't have enough fuel for another try.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported that Kovalenok and Ryumin ended their first mission in space with a soft landing "in the set area" 450 miles north of the Baikonur space center in central Asia.

The flight was to have been a dramatic celebration of the 20th anniversary of the space age, inaugurated Oct. 4, 1957, by the first manmade earth satellite, the unmanned Soviet Sputnik.

The only Tass comment on the failure Monday was that that there were "some deviations from a planned docking regime."

Lack of a booster rocket powerful enough to lift loads of more than seven tons into space is the crux of the problems with the Soyuz-Salyut program, in the view of Western observers here.

The Soyuz spaceship normally carries food and fuel for five days, but on longer missions fuel must be sacrificed for a larger food load. The American Apollo and Skylab programs, which use the Saturn-V rocket, are able to lift between 120 and 140 tons into orbit and can put a 50-ton payload on the moon.

The first Soyuz spacecraft launched in 1967 crashed on its return to earth, killing cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov.

The Soviets aborted an attempted linkup with Salyut-1 in 1971 without explanation. The next manned mission, Soyuz-11, succeeded in putting three men aboard a space station, but the three died from decompression on the return to earth.

Two space stations were sent up in 1973 but failed before cosmonauts were launched to man them.

In April 1975, a Soyuz capsule failed to link up with Salyut-4, apparently because the first docking attempt failed and there was not enough fuel for another. Three months later the United States and the Soviet Union joined forces to dock a Soyuz and an Apollo spaceship in orbit, but the American Apollo did the maneuvering for the linkup.

The Russians failed again in October 1976, when Soyuz-23 was unable to dock with Salyut-5.

Milsap Top Country Entertainer

By JOE EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Blind singer Ronnie Milsap is the Country Music Association's Entertainer of the Year and for the third time, its Male Vocalist of the Year. Crystal Gayle, younger sister of country star Loretta Lynn, is this year's CMA top female vocalist.

HALL OF FAMER: Merle Travis, right, is presented by Chet Atkins at the Country Music Association awards last night in Nashville, Tenn. Travis was elected to Country Music's Hall of Fame. (AP Wirephoto)

The CMA also named "Lucille," a song recorded by Kenny Rogers and written by Roger Bowling and Hal Bynum, Song of the Year.

Milsap became the first person to win top male vocalist three times when the CMA handed out its 11th annual awards before a national television audience Monday night.

His album, "Ronnie Milsap Live," was named Album of the Year, making him the show's only triple winner.

Milsap, blind since birth, won the male vocalist title in 1974 and 1976. "I didn't see the faces but I had the chance to feel the electricity and the love. Sometimes you don't have to see," he said.

CRYSTAL GAYLE
Top Female Vocalist

Miss Gayle, whose sister was a three-time winner, said Miss Lynn "was rooting for me before I won."

Rogers, whose song was also named Single of the Year, has also been successful in popular music.

"In the pop market, you're as good as your last hit," he said. "But in country music, I've seen people without a hit for years who still are big favorites."

Merle Travis, a guitarist - songwriter - singer, became the 30th member of the Country Music Hall of Fame. He is probably best known as a pioneer guitarist and as writer of the classic "Sixteen Tons."

Jim Ed Brown and Helen Cornelius were named top vocal duo; the Statler Brothers won No. 1 vocal group for the sixth straight year; the Original Texas Playboys were chosen top instrumental group, and Roy Clark was Instrumentalist of the Year for the first time in his career.

Neither Dolly Parton, top female vocalist for the past two years, nor Waylon Jennings won awards, although Miss Parton was a finalist for Entertainer of the Year and top female vocalist and Jennings was nominated for five awards — more than anyone else.

Jennings, who was arrested on cocaine charges last month, did not attend the show because he objects to musicians competing for awards. The charges were dismissed last week.

Other finalists for Entertainer of the Year were Jennings, Merle Haggard and Rogers. Larry Gatlin, Jennings, Rogers and Don Williams were the other finalists for No. 1 male vocalist and Emmylou Harris and Barbara Mandrell completed the finalists for top female vocalist.

Fear Two Drowned In Big Lake

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard has joined Mackinac County authorities in the search for two commercial fishermen, a father and son from St. Ignace, who apparently fell overboard in Lake Michigan and are presumed drowned.

Coast Guard officials say the men's 28-foot fishing tug was found a half mile off shore near the village of Brevort Monday. Underneath the vessel, divers found a 16-foot sunken row boat, tangled in fishing nets. Brevort is about 28 miles northwest of St. Ignace.

Mackinac County authorities have identified the missing men as Alvin Gustafson, 68, and his son Gary, 38.

Negligence Eyed In Spill At Dow

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — State investigators are looking for evidence of negligence in last week's chlorine spill at the Dow Chemical Co. complex.

The spill created a toxic cloud of chlorine gas that seriously injured eight Dow workers and sent thousands fleeing from their homes and schools.

The state probe could lead to a $1,000 fine against Dow or limitations on a permit allowing the company to operate chlorine equipment at the huge Midland plant, Dow officials said Monday.

The State Health Department's Occupational Health Division will probe possible negligence on the part of Dow, spokesman Lawrence Payne said.

If negligence is found, Dow could be cited for violating the Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Act and fined a maximum of $1,000, Payne said.

The Air Quality Division of the Department of Natural Resources is investigating the incident to determine how spills could be prevented, said DNR District Engineer Ben White.

Dow operates the chlorine equipment under an area use permit. The permit is required for any facility which could be a source of air pollution, White said.

"We try to assure safe emissions," White said. He said the DNR may impose conditions which Dow must follow to prevent a repeat of the chlorine spill.

White said he had not determined what conditions may be imposed. Possibilities include requiring regular maintainance on the equipment, replacing equipment at certain time intervals or stepping up safety checks.

White said he would make a report on the spill to the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission authorizing Dow's area use permits.

Dow officials, who are conducting their own investigation of the incident, said they suspect that corroded bolts attached to a valve on a pipeline carrying liquid chlorine caused the estimated 400-pound spill.

A company spokesman said bolts, securing a bonnet which covered the valve, failed. Dow spokesman Thomas Sinclair said Dow suspects the bolts were corroded by the liquid chlorine in some manner.

"We are trying to determine what caused the bonnet to release and open up," Sinclair said.

Two of eight persons hospitalized for breathing difficulties after the leak have since been released.

It's News TODAY

Rubber Chemical Suspected

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The Monsanto chemical company has reported that several workers at its Nitro, W. Va., plant had died of cancer in the 1950s and 60s due to exposure to a chemical used in making synthetic rubber. Another 150 of their colleagues have undergone twice-yearly tests since then. According to the Charleston Gazette, company spokesman Barney Wander said about six employes died of bladder tumors. Use of the substance, para-amino biphenyl (PAB), was stopped immediately when the cancer threat surfaced in 1955, he said. Wander later denied that he had specified six deaths. "I don't know the number of deaths myself. I have no way to judge that," Wander told the Associated Press in an interview. The newspaper reported that workers at the plant said as many as 12 may have died of bladder cancer.

Says Israel To Keep Areas

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan says Israel will not give up any of the West Bank or the Gaza Strip, and his government has announced plans for 10 new military posts in the West Bank. Dayan told the U.N. General Assembly Monday that Israel for the past 10 years was willing to surrender occupied land for genuine peace with the Arabs "but to no avail. Now our view is that redivision is not the answer," he said. "Nowhere is it possible to draw a dividing line which will satisfy not only the security but also the historical, economic and social needs of all sides." Israeli officials said their government has agreed to build only military camps in the West Bank for the time being and in return the United States apparently will not oppose them. Washington had been highly critical of civilian settlements established recently in the area.

Chinese Attack 'Gang Of Four'

PEKING (AP) — Wherever visitors go today in China — newspaper office, middle school, factory, commune, university, fishing village — the one thing they are certain to hear is an attack on the "Gang of Four." In a 16-day visit, a group of Associated Press executives and directors heard the purged radical leaders blamed for almost every conceivable setback China suffered in recent years, but particularly in the 13 months since the death of Chairman Mao Tse-tung. The criticism campaign extends into every area of Chinese life. At a musical show put on for the visiting Americans in Huhehot, the opening number was "Celebrating the Victory Over the Gang of Four."

Child Porn Bill Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is moving closer to adopting a bill outlawing child pornography, which one lawmaker says has exploded into a multimillion dollar business using children as young as three. The latest step was an 85-1 vote in the Senate Monday night for passage of a bill outlawing the use of children under 16 in the production of pornographic magazines, films and other materials. It also bars the interstate sale and distribution of such materials. The measure is similar to one passed recently by the House. But still another bill of this nature is expected to be acted on by the House next week, so the final form of the legislation is yet to be determined. The Senate bill provides for fines of up to $10,000 and imprisonment for two to 10 years for a first conviction. For a second conviction, the penalties would be fines of up to $15,000 and imprisonment for 5 to 15 years.

Energy Unit Ready For Winter?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Department of Energy says it's ready to cope with natural gas shortages this winter, but a Senate committee isn't so sure. The department says government action can reduce expected shortages by 60 per cent. But the committee disputes the figures, saying the government reduction would only be 22 per cent. "Another cold winter is on its way and we are not ready for what it may bring," said Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the subcommittee on intergovernmental relations. The subcommittee reported Monday on the government's Winter Emergency Energy Plan for 1977-78, concluding "the federal government will not be in a position to help very much...."

Panel May Go To Panama

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is considering whether to send some or all of its members on a fact-finding visit to Panama as part of its deliberations over the Panama Canal treaty. Consideration of the trip was on the committee's agenda today, along with more testimony from supporters and opponents of the treaty as week-long hearings continued. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, has suggested that the members inspect the canal and "take a first-hand view of its defenses" before deciding what to do about the treaty. A handful of other senators, most of them opponents of the agreement, already have visited Panama in the last few months.

Hartford Seeks New School Bus

HARTFORD — If Hartford school officials can get the jump on two other school districts, the district can save $1,639 on the purchase of a new school bus.

The Hartford School Board's bus committee Monday night told the board that it can buy a bus from Neil's Automotive, Hartford, at a cost of $17,985. However, according to the committee, two other districts, Covert and Lawrence, are also seeking to purchase the same bus. The committee noted that Neil's will sell to the first district that signs for the purchase.

The committee also informed the board that should the district not buy from Neil's it can purchase a chassis from Gerbonde Equipment, Benton Harbor, and a body from Neil's at a total cost of $19,624.

Delivery on the lower price bus is 30 to 40 days, while the more expensive bus will take from four to five months for delivery, the committee noted.

The board authorized Superintendent Gary Waterkamp to try and purchase the bus from Neil's and in the event it has already been purchased, to purchase the higher priced bus.

In related action, the bus committee recommended the board consider purchase of a new bus to replace one used for special education transportation. The board authorized the committee to develop specifications for the new bus.

In other areas, the board was told that student enrollment in the district has dropped from 1,633 last year to 1,550 this year, a loss of 85 students.

The board approved the hiring of Terry Voogd as varsity basketball coach and Steven VanderMolen as junior varsity basketball coach.

The board voted 5-2 to keep tuition rates for out-of-district students the same as last year. The rates will remain at $216 for elementary students and $257 for secondary students.

Voting against the measure were William Austin and James Keech. They both said they felt the tuition should be raised. Voting to retain the same amounts were Roger Dutcomb, Marion Toney, Tom Smith, Barry Nilson and Steven Shafer.

Waterkamp announced that school would begin on Jan. 3 for a full day after the Christmas vacation. All other Van Buren County schools will reconvene for a half day on Jan. 2. The board voted to extend school one additional day for students, from June 8 to 9. Teachers will also be extended an additional day from June 11 to 12.

The board noted that it will hold its budget hearing in conjunction with its next regular meeting, Oct. 24. The board tabled action on passes for school events for professional staff (teachers and administration) until further information on the subject is obtained from a committee working on the matter.

Bainbridge Residents Given Road Improvement Estimates

The Bainbridge Township Board last night told property owners along three roads what their assessment would be to repair and improve the roads. The board is considering the establishment of a special assessment district to undertake the work on Skibbe and Hamilton drives, and Nichols Road from Napier Avenue to Hamilton Drive.

According to Mrs. Beverly Koroch, township clerk, the board approved a resolution declaring the improvements a necessity and set another meeting for property owners for Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 7 p.m. The cost for the improvements was estimated at $195 for each parcel of property, to be spread over three years. Mrs. Koroch said there are 37 property owners along the roads, owning a total of 40 parcels of land.

Night Classes Start Oct. 24 At Galien High

GALIEN — Enrichment courses at the high school here begin Oct. 24, according to Mrs. Tania Hunerjager, community school director.

She said those wishing to enter the $15 per course classes can see her for registration at the high school.

Scheduled Monday night courses include woodshop, small projects; refresher typing; refresher shorthand; Christmas workshop; macrame and needle crafts; and basic income tax.

TO SOME TOWNSHIP HOMES

Hartford To Extend Sewer

HARTFORD — The Hartford City Council agreed Monday night to extend sewer lines to 24 property owners in Hartford Township at a cost of $4,812.

The lines will extend from a main interceptor to the property lines of residences along CR-687 and CR-372. City officials said that if they were to complete the extensions after work on the main sewer system is finished, it would require that the two roads be torn up again and up the estimated cost to $30,000.

In a related area, the council was notified by the state Department of Natural Resources that one additional full-time employee will be needed when work on the city's waste treatment plant is 50 percent completed by next spring.

The council also scheduled two special meetings, one at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, to discuss police procedures and policies, and the other at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 18, to review the 1977-78 city budget.

The council also announced that it will consider a request by the Du-Wel Corp. for an industrial facilities exemption certificate at its next regular meeting Oct. 24. The certificate would qualify the company for a tax break on a planned $750,000 addition to its facilities.

The council authorized Homer Jackson, superintendent of public works, to spend up to $800 for wood siding on the front of the new city hall. He was also authorized to spend another $800 for repair of one sludge pump and purchase of another.

Jackson told the council that work on paving projects on Olds Avenue and 60th Street will begin Wednesday.

The council accepted the resignation of building inspector Thomas Drake, who said in a letter that he did not have enough time for the job.

Police Chief Lee Spencer told the council that he had been notified by the state Highway Department that work on upgrading the nine railroad crossings in the city would begin sometime next spring.

The council set the annual city cleanup for Nov. 15-16 on the north side, and Nov. 17-18 on the south side.

Dismissal Of Eau Claire Patrolman Is Upheld

EAU CLAIRE — The Eau Claire village council last night upheld the firing of Robert Bond, a village patrolman hired two years ago under the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA). There were no dissenting votes.

Bond, whose salary was $9,899 per year, was dismissed by Police Chief Roger Popp Sept. 29, for neglect of duty, according to James Crowder, village president. Crowder declined to elaborate, as did Popp.

In other business, the council voted a $500 raise for Popp, effective immediately, making his salary $10,500. Popp, 31, was hired by the village last July. He has eight years of police experience.

Crowder was instructed to contact the Berrien County Road Commission chairman, and assistant clerk Carol Rumbaugh was instructed to write to the Berrien County Board of Commissioners, to request that the speed limit on Hochberger road in front of the high school be lowered from 55 to 25 miles per hour.

The action was taken as the result of a report by Nelson Nagle, police commissioner and council member, that 25 mph signs posted in front of the high school by the village had been removed by Ray Bronicki, road commission safety officer. The section of Hochberger road in question is within the village limits, but is governed by the county, Nagle said.

Nagle said Bronicki told him a survey conducted by the state police showed a lower speed limit is not warranted at that location.

Richard Farkas Jr., was appointed village tax assessor at a yearly salary of $400, to complete the unexpired term of Kenneth Karn, who resigned in August. The appointment extends until the village annual election in March, 1978. Farkas, 20, is an accounting major at Lake Michigan College, Benton Harbor, and resides on Wivy Court, Eau Claire.

Village attorney Jerry Johnson was instructed to draw up an ordinance prohibiting construction without prior approval of the village council. The purpose of the ordinance is to restrict the construction of multiple-family dwellings until a comprehensive zoning ordinance can be developed.

The council agreed to permit hunting on the village farm again this year, provided each hunter carries a letter of permission from the clerk's office.

Trick-or-treat hours were set at 6 to 8 p.m., Oct. 31, only at houses with outside lights burning. A parade will follow the trick-or-treating.

Pay Boosts OKd At Adrian

ADRIAN, Mich. (AP) — Adrian College faculty members will receive a 6 per cent annual salary increase under a new contract between the institution and the faculty union. The agreement with the Adrian College Association of Professors, an affiliate of the Michigan Education Association, calls for the raises in each of its three years for 56 teachers and three librarians. The first raise is retroactive to Sept. 1, 1976, the second applies to the current academic year, and the third is for next year. Also included were a no-strike clause and provisions governing promotion and tenure, leaves and grievances. The college, which has 915 full-time students, has been negotiating with the union since 1975.

Decatur OKs Contracts Worth $98,000 Toward Hot Lunches

DECATUR — The Decatur School Board Monday night awarded two contracts for work and equipment in preparation for the school's first hot lunch program.

Awarded a general construction contract was Holland Construction Co. of St. Joseph, on its low bid of $32,990, and Stafford Smith, Inc., Kalamazoo, for kitchen and food service equipment, on its low bid of $64,998.

Board Trustee Harry Vliek said today it is expected the work will be finished and the first hot lunch served at the school shortly after the new year begins.

The bids for the work were opened in September and turned over to the project architects for review.

In another area, the board awarded a contract for snow removal to William Sorensen of Decatur, and voted to pay him $115 every time he removes snow from sidewalks and parking lots at all four buildings. Under the contract, he is to get $35 for cleaning emergency lanes only at the buildings. He was lowest of two bidders.

Superintendent Wayne Hellenga also announced that the school's official enrollment for 1977-78 is 1,387, down 21 students from the 1976-77, K-12 figure of 1,408. He said the enrollment loss will bring a corresponding $23,100 reduction in state aid.

He said the reduction will be reflected in the school budget to be completed after a teacher contract has been settled.

In that area, Richard MacKellar, chairman of the board's negotiating committee, reported there has been little progress in reaching a contract settlement with the district's teachers.

The board approved Hellenga's recommendation appointing Mrs. Ray Allen as Decatur's representative to the Van Buren County Intermediate School District Parent Advisory Committee.

Royalton Plans Hearings On Five Zoning Proposals

The Royalton Township Board Monday night agreed to hold a public hearing on five proposed zoning recommendations from the township planning commission.

The board, however, did not set a specific date for a hearing.

The five proposals primarily establish regulations under which land uses may be continued despite being in an area not zoned for a particular use.

The proposals state that land uses in effect prior to the township zoning ordinance may continue, that all agriculture land use is permitted anywhere, that non-conforming buildings within a district may be rebuilt after being damaged or destroyed, that sale of a non-conforming use property will not affect continuation of a non-conforming use, and sets regulations for appeals to the board of appeals.

The board also agreed to include at the public hearing a proposal to include a multiple family dwelling district. Clerk Otto Jasper said that the current township land use ordinance does not include such a district.

In other areas, Jasper announced that the board of appeals granted a variance to Mr. and Mrs. Wyle Witte to construct an interior design studio in the former Royal School, at Marquette Woods Road and U.S. 31. The area is zoned agricultural and residential.

Jasper told the board that in response to complaints registered at the board's ceting last month, Pete Green, 444 W. John Beers Road, has agreed to remove a mobile home from his property as well as some old autos.

The board rehired Faye Schroder as crossing guard for E.P. Clarke Elementary School, 515 E. Glenlord Road. Her salary of $4 per hour is paid by the township board, Jasper said.

Fennville Board Okays Carpeting Worth $4,700

FENNVILLE — The Fennville Board of Education voted Monday night to carpet six rooms of the east wing of the Anna Michen Elementary School at an estimated cost of $4,700.

Mrs. Marian Overhiser, elementary principal, said two-thirds of the cost will come from the approximately $50,000 the district has been allocated for remedial math and reading programs by the state this year. Part of the money, according to the board, may be used to improve remedial facilities. The remainder will be picked up by the district.

The work is to be done over Christmas vacation.

Other uses of the $50,000 will include the salaries of a reading teacher and reading and math aides, and materials and curriculum development, according to Mrs. Overhiser.

In other areas, Clifford Paine, board vice president, reported on a proposal to move the offices of the superintendent and central staff into the high school. He said that space now being used in the middle school was inadequate because work stations were overcrowded by business machines.

Paine was instructed by board President Willis Mullen to have estimates of the cost involved ready for the November board meeting.

Paine also reported that contractors have accepted the responsibility for quieting noise caused by ventilation and air conditioning systems in the high school auditorium, but have not as yet outlined any definite plans to remedy the situation.

The board also authorized school nurse Lois Barron to administer tuberculosis tests to all new incoming students in cooperation with the Allegan County Health Department. Mrs. Barron told the board that while state regulations governing TB testing have generally been relaxed in recent years, there has been a high incidence of TB in Allegan and Van Buren counties.

John Lancaster, community schools director, reported that James Sexton of Fennville has been hired under the CETA program to develop a district recreation program. His salary is $10,000. He is the son of William Sexton, superintendent of the Allegan Intermediate School District.

The board also agreed to advertise for bids for three new school buses.

Teacher Faces Sex Charge

ST. CLAIR SHORES, Mich. (AP) — In the second such case in a month, a Macomb County teacher has been accused of a sex offense involving a student. Donald Ozga, 31, band director at South Lake High School, stood mute at his arraignment on second-degree criminal sexual conduct charges Monday. Preliminary examination was waived before Municipal Court Judge William Crouchman, who set bond at $5,000 and ordered Ozga bound over for trial in Macomb County Circuit Court. The charges against Ozga were not detailed in an arrest warrant issued Friday. They stem from incidents involving a 15-year-old female student in the high school band room, and the basement of Ozga's home, where he gave private music lessons, authorities said. Ozga resigned from his job after being suspended by School Supt. Joseph G. Earhart. In the other case, Robert Sandoe, a teacher in the Van Dyke schools in Warren, was charged with first-degree criminal sexual conduct involving a 12-year-old boy. He faces trial in Circuit Court.

Hijackers Of Czech Airliner Give Selves Up

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — A man and a woman wearing airline uniforms hijacked a Czechoslovak airliner to Frankfurt airport today, and surrendered to German police after holding 27 people hostage on the plane for two hours, police said. They asked for political asylum.

The two suspects were immediately taken away for questioning and it was unclear whether they were members of the crew. They gave up two pistols when they surrendered, police said.

The remaining people aboard the Yak 40 short-haul jet came out unharmed minutes after the two surrendered. Special police commandos had surrounded the plane, which was parked out of sight of the main terminal.

The hijackers had first demanded refueling for a flight to Munich.

Authorities in Czechoslovakia said the plane was en route from Karlovy Vary near the West German border to Prague when the hijacking occurred.

There are stringent anti-hijacking precautions in force at the airport in Karlovy Vary. Officials there referred all questions to authorities in Prague.

A crisis staff was reported meeting at Ruzyne airport in the Czechoslovak capital to discuss the hijacking. An informant there confirmed that 26 passengers and three crew were aboard.

German officials said the plane had deviated from its scheduled route and cross the border into West Germany east of Bayreuth in northern Bavaria before flying to Frankfurt.

Sources in Bonn said the government was proceeding on the assumption that the hijacker or hijackers sought political asylum. The crew would be allowed to return to Czechoslovakia with the plane as soon as the hijacking was resolved, taking with them any passengers who wanted to return, they said.

Several Czechoslovak airliners have been hijacked to West Germany in recent years by Czechs seeking asylum. The Bonn government has refused to return the hijackers but has required them to stand trial and serve their sentences before granting them asylum.

An Ilyushin 18 aircraft with 110 passengers and crew members was hijacked from Prague to Munich on last Oct. 28. A West German court sentenced the 28-year-old Czech hijacker, Rudolf Becvar, to eight years in prison.

D-Day For Double Bottoms

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — It's D-Day for double-bottoms. The controversial tandem tanker trucks are getting the initial thrust of a new inspection program designed to rid Michigan roads of unsafe rigs. The inspections, being carried out by 14 teams, each comprised of two state police officers and one from the Michigan Public Service Commission, will be made a truck depots throughout the state. After all double-bottom trucks have been inspected, the teams will begin checking single tankers and delivery trucks, State Police Director Gerald Hough said. The inspections mark the first deployment of some 45 additional personnel authorized by the governor in an executive order last month. The order established a permanent program of inspection to assure that safety measures are being followed in the transportation and storage of hazardous material in the state.

Case Is Almost Identical

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit couple has been charged in the rape of a teen-age girl they hired as a babysitter. The case is almost identical to one in which the couple, Joseph Gonzales, Jr., 29 and his wife, Carol Ann Gonzales, 19, were convicted earlier this year, said Officer Danny Maynard of the Detroit Police sex crimes unit. The Gonzales stood mute at their arraignments on the latest charge Monday in Detroit Recorder's Court. Visiting Judge Arthur Kiscinski set bond at $100,000 each. The four counts of criminal sexual conduct against the couple involve a 14-year-old girl who went to the Gonzales home to watch their five-month-old son, Maynard said.

Redlining Petitions Presented

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Petitions signed by more than 43,000 persons urging the prohibition of "redlining" have been presented to leaders of the Michigan Legislature. Redlining is the practice of refusing to grant mortgage loans, home improvement loans or insurance on the basis of geographic location. The petitions were raised over a three-month period by the Statewide Coalition Against Redlining, a citizen's group. They were presented to House Speaker Bobby Crim and Senate Majority Leader William Faust. Two bills dealing with redlining are now under consideration in the state Senate. "People are frightened," said Detroit Council member Erma Henderson. "People spend years paying an insurance company, find out they're not covered."

More Downsizing At GM

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors full-sized cars, already on a high-mileage diet that's led to a loss of 700 pounds from two years ago, will lose that much again by 1985. "We already reduced weight some 700 pounds in 1977 models. Before 1985, we will do it again," Executive Vice President Howard H. Kehrl said in a speech to a convention of the International Bridge, Tunnel & Turnpike Association Monday. The second round of what the nation's No. 1 automaker calls "downsizing" will be necessary to meet the 27.5 miles per gallon average fuel consumption mandated by the federal government for 1985, he said.

Patrolman's Firing Upheld

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — The firing of Saginaw patrolman John J. Koenig has been upheld by the city's police-fire civil service commission, even though he was acquitted of charges in a fake bomb incident. The commission ruled that Koenig's alleged involvement in planting the phony bomb in his own patrol car constituted "a very serious offense," and he should not be rehired. Koenig, 29, was found innocent in July 1976, of misdemeanor charges that he had filed a false police report in the bomb incident. The charges stemmed from an alleged bomb threat in May 1976, when Koenig reported discovering a bomb in his car and said his life had been threatened, according to police officials. A later department investigation alleged that Koenig had built the mock bomb — a box of sand wrapped with tape — and placed it in his own car.

'Mr. Coffee' Man Honored

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Vincent G. Marotta of Cleveland, inventor of the Mr. Coffee brewing system, is the Italian-American Man of the Year for 1977. Marotta, president of North American Systems, Inc., of Cleveland, received the award over the weekend at a banquet in this Detroit suburb. Marotta's company has grown to 2,300 employees since he introduced the Mr. Coffee brewer in 1971. Marotta once played professional football as a halfback for the Cleveland Browns in 1948 and earlier played baseball in the St. Louis Cardinals organization. The award is given annually by the national Joint Committee of Italian-American Organizations.

Mexican Prisoners Slay 13

the trouble began with a battle between two groups competing for control of the drug traffic within the prison. But some of the inmates told reporters the rebellion was started by terrorists who broke out of the isolation cellblock.

One of the leaders was said to be Eduardo Munzano, who was jailed for the kidnaping of the father-in-law of then-President Luis Echeverria in 1975. The victim was freed after 11 days in captivity.

Inmates who fled the cellblocks said one man was tortured before he was killed. Officials said one body had bullet wounds and another had been badly burned.

An inmate who asked not to be identified said the first man killed was Reynaldo Navarro Arellano, recently named by prison officials as "chief of coordinators."

The man said he and Navarro Arellano were sitting in the prison restaurant Monday morning when 15 to 20 men approached, armed with sharpened pieces of metal and a pistol.

"I told Reynaldo that we were going to be killed and I ran. They caught up with him and stabbed him to death," the man said.

Dr. Roche May Run For Senate

to discontinue funding to Hillsdale, Roche said.

The 42-year-old college president said the school does not discriminates against women and generally has higher standards than HEW would set.

He said Hillsdale's battle with HUD is just one example of the "big government mentality" that has taken over the country.

He said excessive government regulations laid down by such organizations as OSHA, EPA and the IRS are having a negative effect on the national economy and are contributig to the loss of individual freedom.

Government has become so big that about half of the nation's wealth eventually finds its way into government coffers, Roche said.

Roche has been president of Hillsdale since 1971. A native of Colorado, Roche grew up in the Rocky Mountains and attended a one-room school until the eighth grade.

He received his bachelor's degree in history from Denver's Regis College. He spent two years as a Marine Corps officer and then took his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees — both in history — from the University of Colorado, where he also taught.

Prior to coming to Hillsdale, he was for five years director of seminars at the Foundation for Economic Education in Irvington-on-Hudson, New York. He and his wife, June, have three children.

Woman Hurt As Car Hits Tree

A rural Eau Claire woman was reported treated at Memorial Hospital and released Monday afternoon after she was injured in a one-car crash in Berrien Township, according to Berrien sheriff's officers.

Sgt. James Bale and Deputy Terry Smith reported Lucille M. Schinske, 57, of Route 2, 3551 M-140, was injured at 2:30 p.m. when her auto ran off Dean's Hill Road and struck a tree.

No tickets were issued, officers said.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Series Of Four Break-Ins Probed

Burglars hit four Benton Harbor businesses in rapid succession early today and all the thieves escaped, but with apparently little loot, according to city police.

Benton Harbor police said the rash of burglaries began at 12:05 a.m. when Patrolman George Hawblitzel responded to a tip and found a rear window broken at Talbot's Drug Store, 481 Pipestone St. A crowbar and a hat were found inside the store, Hawblitzel said, but the burglar was gone when police arrived. He said nothing was believed taken.

Hawblitzel reported he was completing his investigation of the Talbot's break-in when a passerby reported youths were inside the Main Market, 440 E. Main St., passing goods out of the store.

The officer said he responded to the scene and chased two youths to the area of Highland Avenue and Third Street before they eluded him.

A front window at the market had been broken, Hawblitzel said, and 14 packs of cigarettes and three boxes of chewing gum were reported taken.

Hawblitzel said he was still at the market when he received a second report from a passerby of suspicious youths running near G&W Skate-O-Rama, 453 Highland Ave.

The officer reported he chased two boys on Cass Street before losing them.

Hawblitzel said he then discovered a hole had been torn in a fiberglass wall at the skating rink and found two laundry bags full of candy, other food and skating equipment on the west side of the building.

Hawblitzel said the interior of the arena had been ransacked and hotdogs scattered on the skating floor but nothing else appeared to have been taken.

At 3 a.m., while Hawblitzel was investigating the G&W break-in, Lt. Leon Hardy discovered a rear window broken and entrance gained at Roxy Drive-In, 287 E. Main St., according to police.

Hardy reported two bags of freiich fries believed taken from the restaurant were later found on Territorial Road. The officer said it had not been determined if anything else was taken from the drive-in.

Four girls were booked on delinquent minor (assault and battery) charges after police broke up a fight near the intersection of Main and Jones streets Monday evening, St. Joseph police reported.

Patrolman Jan Edwards said the girls, all from St. Joseph, were arrested at 6 p.m. and charged with the assault of Georgia Ann Hobbs, 14, of 821 State St., St. Joseph.

Georgia Hobbs' suffered scrapes and bruises when four girls struck her with their hands and one girl struck her with a stick during the fight, Edwards said.

One girl 16 years old and a second girl 15 were lodged in the juvenile home after petitioning to juvenile court, according to Edwards. The remaining girls, 14 and 15, were released to parents after petitioning, he said.

Police said the fight apparently stemmed from an earlier name-calling incident.

St. Joseph Township police reported they were dispatched to IPM Development Engineering's shipping warehouse at 3845 Tennis Ct., early Monday and recovered property valued at a total of $550 which had apparently been removed from a factory building and then abandoned by burglars.

Patrolman Larry Eichelberger said he found a plywood panel had been removed from an overhead door and five boxes of sealing tape taken from the building and left in weeds outside. A turntable and four turntable base cabinets were found one-fourth mile away from the plant near Hickory Creek, the officer said.

Eichelberger reported said he was dispatched to IPM in response to a call received from private security guard Herbert Holmes who reported hearing suspicious noises while on patrol in a nearby building.

Eight radial truck tires on rims weighing almost 200 ponds each and valued at a total of $2,000 were stolen from a 1977 GMC semi-tractor parked in a field adjacent to Zerbel GMC, East Napier at I-94, according to Benton Township police.

Officers said the theft occurred over the weekend and was discovered Monday morning.

Township police reported Rivers Malone, of 934 Chicago Ave. told them his 1973 Cadillac Eldorado was stolen after he parked it in front of his home Sunday night.

Wrought iron furniture valued at $200 was reported stolen and two tires on parked cars were reported slashed at Kerley and Starks Funeral Home, 802 Main St., over the weekend, according to St. Joseph police.

Officers said two ornamental chairs and a table were removed from an enclosed balcony located on the Main Street side of the funeral home sometime between Friday night and Monday morning.

During the same period, two tires were slashed on two autos parked in the lot behind the funeral home, according to police.

Police are investigating possible connections between the incidents, which were reported separately Monday morning.

In another tire-slashing report, David Arnold, of 808 Church St., reported a tire was slashed while his auto was parked behind his home Monday, St. Joseph police said.

Car Falls Off Jack; Man Hurt

A Bainbridge Township man was reported in "fair" condition today in Mercy Hospital after the auto he was working under apparently slipped off a jack Monday, pinning him beneath the car's frame, according to Berrien officers.

Officers said Gordon Brown, 26, of 6386 E. Napier Ave., was transported to the hospital by ambulance after he was freed by Deputy Jack Root.

Root reported he was dispatched to the Brown home at 9 p.m. Monday after police received an anonymous telephone tip and found Brown beneath a car in the garage. He said only Brown's head and arms were visible and his breathing was weak.

Root reported he found a jack near the auto, raised the car off Brown's chest and pulled the injured man free.

Root said Brown had apparently jacked the car up and removed a front wheel before crawling under to begin work.

Watervliet Twp. Backs Dam Site

WATERVLIET — The Watervliet Township Board Monday night endorsed a site near M-140 as the only acceptable location for a semi-permanent dam to control the level of Paw Paw Lake.

The action came after Kenneth Wendzel, Berrien County commissioner for the township area, said the township board had not officially gone on record in favor of the M-140 site.

The location had previously been approved by the Berrien County Board of Commissioners.

Construction of the $10,000 sheet steel piling dam was ordered recently in Berrien Circuit Court as the result of a lawsuit by several lakeshore property owners. The owners sought to keep the level of the water at a previously set minimum of 821.6 feet above sea level.

Wendzel said one county plan had called for construction of the dam just east of North Watervliet Road. But he said the plan was dropped because boats could not have gotten into the lake from nearby Mud Lake.

Township Supervisor William Gaines said he had not known a site other than near M-140 had been considered.

"We never dreamed of the other (North Watervliet Road) location," Gaines said. "We've put in thousands of dollars worth of sewers that would be useless if it was built there," he said.

Closing off boat access to Paw Paw Lake from Mud Lake, Gaines said, would inhibit housing development on Mud Lake.

Construction of the dam is scheduled to begin this month, Gaines said.

In another matter, the board voted to disregard advice of the Berrien County Planning Commission and accept its own zoning commission's decision to allow James Rogel to build a welding shop in an area which had been zoned agricultural.

Rogel last month received township permission to build on the six-acre site on M-140 near Hagar Shore Road, an action the county commission called "spot zoning."

Trustee Robert Morlock said the mostly-wooded lot is not suited for farming.

Gaines agreed saying the area adjoining M-140 would all eventually be zoned commercial.

"Development has to start somewhere," he said.

The board heard Wanda Puskala of the Berrien County Computer Service discuss billing and other services available to the township. The board made no changes in the present billing procedure.

The board approved continuation to a one per cent tax collection fee, which totals about $3,500 annually, Gaines said. The fee is assessed on property taxes paid to the township by township residents.

A bid of $255 for installing new gutters on the township building from Rayco Roofing and Siding, Watervliet, was accepted.

Robert Jackson was appointed temporary replacement for Arthur Reed on the Paw Paw Lake Joint Sewer board. Reed resigned in September.

Middle School Discussion Set For Watervliet

WATERVLIET — The now-closed middle school here will be the main topic of a special Watervliet School Board meeting next Monday night at the high school.

The school board last night set up the 7:30 p.m. meeting with school architects to discuss if, and how, the 51-year-old building can be reopened and used.

The board closed the school in July, saying it did not have the estimated $400,000 it would require to correct fire safety code deficiencies and to shore up an alleged weakness in the roof over classrooms.

In a related area, the board ordered Superintendent Samuel Gravitt to study the possible use of the middle school gym. He said today the gym is not under the same suspect roof as the classrooms, and the state fire marshal's office would probably have to give its approval before the gym could be used.

The board also ordered Gravitt to study the possible reorganization of the elementary system, suggesting that one elementary building be used for lower elementary grades only and the second for higher grades. Elementary grades are mixed at both buildings now.

The board tabled until its special meeting next Monday a request by the Watervliet Athletic Boosters that the Boosters be allowed to use a school building for bingo games to raise funds.

In other areas, a 1977-78 budget was also adopted by the school board.

Adopted was a budget of $2,071,247, about $50,000 more than the board-adopted 1976-77 budget of $2,021,028.

But Gravitt said that included in what he termed an "austerity" budget for 1977-78, is $103,000 in special state or federal funds that cannot be used for anything else except remedial or special education programs.

"If it were not for the extra federal and state funds, our budget for the coming year would have been some $90,000 lower than the 1976-77 budget," Gravitt said.

The budget is based on a property tax mill levy of 26.555 mills, up from the 1976-77 levy of 26.496. The increase was in the debt retirement levy. The millage was set last month by the board.

Of the expected income, Gravitt said about 39.6 percent, or $819,000, will come from local property tax; $946,050, or 45.7 percent, from state aid; with the 14.8 percent coming from the federal-state programs, intermediate district funds and miscellaneous sources.

Of the expenses, about 57.1 percent or $1,183,169 will be for teacher salaries; 6.3 percent or $129,810 for administrative salaries; 5.3 percent or $110,176 for utilities; 17.9 percent or $370,753 for supplies, maintenance and repairs and capital outlay.

Also, the board approved a written policy for judging teacher performances, and denied the grievance of bus driver Barbara Weaver who had protested the loss of a half day's pay.

SCHOOLS FACING PROGRAM CUTS

Eau Claire Budget Hearing Set

EAU CLAIRE — The Eau Claire School Board Monday night set Oct. 24 for a public hearing on budget and program cuts the school may have to make for the 1977-78 school year.

Because of a 153-student drop in enrollment, the district stands to get some $65,000 to $90,000 less in state aid than it had anticipated and will have to make some cuts to balance its school year budget.

Dr. William Horle, school superintendent, said the public hearing on the revised budget will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the high school library, and will be followed at 8 p.m. by a special board meeting.

The budget hearing was announced after three mothers of second grade students appealed to the board not to eliminate a second grade teacher as a fiscal cutback.

The mothers said elimination of one second grade teacher might overcrowd the other two classes. They also suggested parent volunteers.

School officials said laying off teachers would be a last cost cutting measure.

In other areas, the board said it is continuing its investigation of allegations there are non-district students attending Eau Claire schools who are not paying tuition and who have not been formally accepted by the board.

Dr. Horle said today he expects the results of the board's study to be completed in the next several days.

In a related area, the board set tuition rates for out-of-district students attending Eau Claire this year. Tuition rate for elementary students was set at $225 (it was $160 last year), and at $270 for grades six - 12 (it was $250 last year).

Vergene Horle, the wife of the superintendent, was hired by the board as the junior varsity coach for the girls basketball team. No salary was set because the school board has not yet reached a contract with the district's teachers, but the position paid $360 last year, Dr. Horle said.

Mrs. Horle is also an aide with the Berrien County Intermediate School District's special education program.

The board also approved letting senior student Lois Enders, who has accumulated enough credits for graduation, graduate at the end of the first semester; announced school will be dismissed between 10:30 and 10:45 a.m. on Oct. 19 for a teacher in-service training day; approved the creation of a 13-member Policy Advisory Committee, made up of administrators, board members, teachers, students and departmental employees, to advise the board on policies; and accepted the audit of school funds, showing a fund equity of $45,000 as of June 30.

Housing Bill Awaits Signature

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill permitting a state authority to help rehabilitate older and low-income housing has cleared the Michigan legislature. The measure would authorize the State Housing Development Authority to purchase such homes or make loans or grants to low-and moderate income persons for the rehabilitation of older dwellings. The bill passed the Senate Monday night, 28-2, and the House by a vote of 87-0. It was sent to Gov. William Milliken for his signature. The housing development authority sells bonds and insures loans to develop new housing. The new law would extend its jurisdiction to single-family residences. The bill would create a $100 million fund under the authority for home improvement and neighborhood improvement. The money would come from the sale of tax free bonds, a state appropriation of about $18 million and about $21 million in matching funds from local communities.

Teachers Rap Stalled Talks

NILES — Some 30 to 40 Brandywine school system teachers set up a picket line prior to Monday's night's meeting of the district's School Board to protest stalled talks on a new master contract, according to Edward Ossmann, superintendent.

Ossmann said the picketing teachers were orderly and peaceful and had moved inside the high school south of here before the board meeting began in order to attend the board session.

This morning, there were no pickets and school resumedon schedule, he added.

During the board meeting Monday night, the board again turned down a request from teachers that negotiations begin, despite the fact that a question on what bargaining agent will represent teachers is still unsettled.

Teachers and the school are awaiting a ruling from the Michigan Employment Relations Commission on a request by teachers that the Brandywine Education Association be replaced by the Brandywine/5-C Education Association as the agent.

In a letter read to the board Monday night, teacher Patrick Furner, chairman of the 5-C group, requested the talks begin with the existing agent while the question is settled.

The letter said that if the 5-C group is eventually selected through an election, 5-C would abide by any decisions reached in talks with the existing association.

School Chief's Pact Extended

NILES — The Niles School Board Monday night extended the contract of Dr. William Fairman, superintendent, through the 1979-80 school year.

Fairman's present salary of $38,500 was frozen for the first year of the three-year agreement. It can be renegotiated in the following two years, however. The pact is effective this school year.

According to information compiled by The Herald-Palladium earlier this year, Fairman is Berrien County's highest paid public school superintendent in a kindergarten through 12th grade system.

Cass Considers County Manager

DOWAGIAC — The Cass County Republican Committee Monday night discussed informally a plan for a county manager for Cass County.

About 40 people attended the meeting at Southwestern Michigan College here and heard four speakers, all of whom favored having a county manager.

While no formal discussion on such a proposal has been held on the county level, the idea has been under discussion informally for some time.

Speakers at Monday's meeting included Lad Stacey, a Berrien County commissioner, Robert Powers, former Cass County commissioner, and current Cass County commissioners Kenneth Fox and Donald Foust.

Stacey noted that Berrien county has had such a person, which they call a "county coordinator", for the past six years. He said the situation has worked out well.

The county manager or coordinator would be hired for the purpose of executing policies established by the County Commissioners.

Powers noted that during his tenure on the board there were several instances where a manager would have been an asset in handing administrative problems.

Foust said the county and commissioners were "past due" for such a position.

The Republican committee took no action and made no recommendation as a result of the meeting.

Homer Puts Officers On Suspension

HOMER, Mich. (AP) — Seven members of the police force in the Calhoun County village of Homer have been suspended after allegations from a local manufacturer that his firm is being inadequately protected during a strike.

The decision came at a meeting of the Police Commission and the Village Council last night.

Homer was left with just one full-time officer, and one part-time.

The charges against the police came from Max Kenyon, president of Manchester Plastics. Kenyon said there has been major vandalism to his plant during the strike, including one incident in which a fork lift was driven partially through a wall.

The 30 strikers, members of the United Auto Workers Union, walked out Aug. 16 after unsuccessful attempts to negotiate their first contract.

The suspended policemen include Chief Albert Durnicker.

Village officials said they would discuss what to do about police protection with their attorneys today.

BARN DESTROYED: Bulldozer is used to push aside debris in order to permit firemen to get at smouldering ruins of barn near Galien destroyed by fire Monday night. Robert Lozmack, acting Galien fire chief, said blaze of unknown origin destroyed 40 by 50-foot barn on George Koziel farm, Olive Branch Road, south of Galien. Lozmack said wagon load of wheat, assorted farm equipment, and straw were lost in fire reported about 8 p.m. No damage estimate was available. Three Oaks, Weesaw and Bertrand firemen were called to assist Galien firemen fight blaze. (Staff photo)

Prosecutor's Staff Studies Zuhl Case Police Reports

Preparation of a warrant had not been completed this morning against Ronald W. Zuhl who was arrested Monday in connection with the shooting deaths of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Zuhl Sr.

Randy Arnt, chief investigator for the Berrien prosecutor's office, said prosecutors were studying police reports and were expected to authorize a warrant today.

Once authorized, the warrant would have to be issued by a judge in Berrien Fifth District.

Arnt said he expected the process would be completed this morning so Zuhl could be arraigned in district court at 1:30 p.m.

Courthouse offices were closed Monday in observance of Columbus Day.

Zuhl, 31, has been held without bond in the Berrien County Jail pending issuance of a warrant. Zuhl reportedly lived with his parents at Box 94, Lake Road, Berrien Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Zuhl were found dead in their farm home Sunday night by Berrien sheriff's officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Zuhl were shot at least once in the head with a small caliber handgun and were also wounded by slugs fired from a shotgun, according to Chief Deputy Don Jewell.

Zuhl was taken into custody by Cass Sheriff's deputies near Dowagiac at the home of his brother, Robert Zuhl Jr. The suspect was later transferred to the Berrien jail.

Chicago Clips Rams

Namath Accuses Bryant Of Cheap Shot

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Bears Coach Jack Pardee called it "a well-fought game in the trenches." Los Angeles Rams quarterback Joe Namath agreed with the battle analogy.

"People get away with taking cheap shots and it becomes one big war out there," Namath said. "If you let people continue to get away with cheap shots, what happens to sportsmanship?"

He accused linebacker Waymond Bryant of hitting him after a play in the waning moments of the Bears' 24-23 nationally televised National Football League upset victory on a rainy, windy Monday night that ended with both teams sporting 2-2 records.

The officials slapped Bryant with a roughing-the-passer penalty and Rams right guard Dennis Harrah slugged him with a fist that brought Harrah a personal foul and ejection from the game.

"I did not see the hit but I know it was a cheap shot. I could feel it. What else can I say?" said a remorseful Harrah. "I lost my head and retaliated when I should not have."

Namath indicated that other Bears weren't bashful about getting in a tardy nudge or two either.

"If the league would look at the films, they'd see what's going on out there," he said. "Next time we play them we'll beat them. We're not that kind of team."

By the time Bryant bashed Namath in the chest, leaving him gasping for air, the Rams were straining to stay alive.

Pat Haden replaced Namath and led Los Angeles to its final touchdown, a 26-yard strike to Dwight Scales that drew the Rams to within one point with 27 seconds to play.

But the best quarterback on the field was a newly independent Bob Avellini, a third-year pro who is progressing week by week. Calling the plays for the first time this season, he said he was more confident. It showed.

He came up with scoring missiles of 70 and 72 yards to James Scott in the first half, which ended with the Rams ahead 16-14 on three Rafael Septien field goals and a 2-yard touchdown run by Lawrence McCutcheon.

Avellini's 29-yard touchdown pass to Greg Latta in the fourth quarter put the Bears ahead 24-16 and provided breathing room.

The Bears won with big plays, including a 51-yard scamper by Walter Payton, who gained 126 yards, to set up Latta's catch.

"We've tried passes before. We were fortunate enough to hit them tonight," said Avellini, who completed 11 of 17 passes for 219 yards.

Namath, who went to the air 40 times, completed just 16 and had four intercepted.

DON SUTTON
Dodger Starter

Sutton, Gullett Paired Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees and the Los Angeles Dodgers, two franchises that divided baseball passions and World Series titles in the 1950s, square off in Game 1 of the 1977 World Series tonight.

"This is exciting for baseball," enthused the Dodgers' Tom Lasorda, a National League pennant winner in his rookie managerial season in the big leagues. "Here we have the two great teams which over the years have been synonomous with major league baseball."

Lasorda, who said he was cut from the Dodgers' 1955 championship team because of a young left-hander named Sandy Koufax, was highly emotional about the classic confrontation between the Yankees pinstripes and the Dodgers blue.

Meanwhile, his managerial counterpart, Billy Martin, proclaimed there was no longer any special rivalry between the Bronx Bombers and the Dodgers, former tenants in the borough of Brooklyn.

"The fifties were too long ago," said brash Billy, a hero of the Yankees' 1953 World Series win over the "Bums" of Brooklyn. "We used to travel by subway then. Now we go cross country in planes."

There now is a lot more separating Los Angeles and New York besides 3,000 miles.

The Dodgers, a team built from its minor league system, failed to enter the free-agent market. The Yankees, however, have been called the best team money can buy, adding free-agent plums Reggie Jackson and Don Gullett to last season's AL championship club that dropped four straight World Series games to the Cincinnati Reds.

The Dodgers believe in the credo that the team that loves together plays together, while the Yankees play together on the field and argue about it in the clubhouse.

The Yankees' road to the AL pennant, won over Kansas City in the ninth inning of the fifth game for the second straight year, was a rocky one, highlighted by a near dugout brawl between Martin and Jackson, the near firing of Martin and personality clashes between Jackson and Yankees captain Thurman Munson.

"It's a relief we won," said Jackson, benched in the final game against Kansas City but a starter in right field tonight. "That way I don't have to hear how Jackson failed. It makes things a lot more peaceful around here."

It looked for a little while like the Yankees weren't going to be allowed to drift peacefully into tonight's game when Jackson received an eight-page telegram, allegedly from owner George Steinbrenner, saying his contract was terminated because his attitude had been degrading to the team.

After seriously scrutinizing the telegram for several minutes, Jackson was able to laugh it off as a hoax.

Things could stay peaceful for the Yankees provided they quickly pick up their 100th World Series victory and follow that fast with three more triumphs. To that end, Martin will send left-hander Don Gullett to the mound against righthander Don Sutton tonight.

Gullett, who ironically was Cincinnati's opening-game pitcher against the Yankees last year, will be making his first start since a shoulder ailment knocked him out in the second inning of Game 1 of the AL playoffs last Wednesday.

At that time, Martin proclaimed Gullett was finished for the season. But Gullett, who said he threw pretty well on Saturday and Sunday, told Martin that he could pitch.

"There's been some physical improvement," said Gullett, 14-4 in the regular season. "I feel I can go out there and pitch."

Sutton, the Dodgers' ace right-hander, is both well-rested and healthy following his victory Wednesday over Philadelphia in the NL playoffs.

"I'm fine, did you hear anything different?" joked Sutton, 14-8 in the regular season and the winning All-Star pitcher last July.

Wolverines Ranked No. 1

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Michigan Wolverines returned to the top of The Associated Press college football ratings today while last week's 1-2 teams, Southern California and Oklahoma, dropped to sixth and seventh.

The Wolverines, voted out of the No. 1 position two weeks ago at the request of Coach Bo Schembechler, climbed back by defeating Michigan State 24-14 while Alabama stunned Southern Cal 21-20 and Texas knocked off Oklahoma 13-6.

Michigan received 44 of 61 first-place votes and 1,180 of a possible 1,220 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The surprising Texas Longhorns, back among the elite teams in Fred Akers' first season as their head coach, vaulted from fifth place into the runnerup spot with 15 first-place ballots and 1,100 points.

Colorado, a 29-13 victor over Oklahoma State, jumped from sixth to third with one first-place vote and 775 points, followed by Alabama with 762 points. The Crimson Tide was tied for seventh a week ago.

Despite a 46-0 rout of Purdue, Ohio State slipped from fourth to fifth with 735 points and the other first-place ballot. The Buckeyes were followed by Southern Cal with 658 points and Oklahoma with 657.

Arkansas, tied for seventh last week, was eighth this time with 424 points after an idle weekend.

Schembechler Is Against Domination By Kickers

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Two days earlier Gregg Willner booted a 50-yard field goal to help Michigan defeat intrastate rival Michigan State 24-14.

The kick was 1-yard short of equalling the Wolverines' field goal record of 51 yards set in 1973 by Mike Lantry and tied last year by Bob Wood.

Yet Coach Bo Schembechler said Monday: "I feel we have to legislate against kickers dominating football."

At his weekly news conference, Schembechler said he favors pro-type rules that moved kickoffs back from the 40-yardline to the 35 and that require a team to give up the ball at the line of scrimmage if a field goal is missed outside the 20.

"Why take away one of the nice plays in football — the kickoff return," he said, citing kickoffs that sail out of the end zone, thus eliminating chance of a return.

"I don't mind field goal kicking," he added. "I just don't think we should have field goal kicking contests."

Schembechler said his suggestions "definitely will come up before the rules committee" of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Schembechler has never masked his distaste for kicking specialists, even though six of Michigan's top seven extra-point kickers and the first six field goal kickers in the team record book played during Schembechler's nine-year tenure.

It's not that he doesn't like Gregg Willner, or Michigan's kickoff specialist Nick Labun. As a matter of fact, Willner was named by the Wolverines coaching staff as the kick team "Champion of the Week" for his performance against Michigan State.

It's just that Schembechler believes placekickers — those who don't play other positions, that is — get an inordinate amount of attention proportionate to the overall contribution they make.

Besides Willner, Michigan's other players of the week are tailback Harlan Huckleby and wolfback Dwight Hicks. Tight end Gene Johnson and middle guard Steve Graves were named offensive and defensive "hustler of the week," respectively.

Michigan plays at home Saturday against Big Ten rival Wisconsin.

Badger Sub Top Player

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Whether Anthony Dudley or Charles Green starts at quarterback for the University of Wisconsin football team in its showdown of unbeatens at Michigan Saturday will be determined by their play in practice this week, Coach John Jardine said Monday.

Dudley, who started the Badgers' first four games, missed last week's 26-0 victory over Illinois.

Green, who replaced him, completed his first six passes and nine of his first 10. He finished with 11 of 18 for 148 yards and a touchdown. He also rushed six times for 33 yards, including 12 yards for a touchdown.

Green's performance earned him Associated Press Big Ten Player of the Week honors for offense Monday.

Dudley, apparently fully recovered, joined his teammates for an hour and 45 minute workout in full pads Monday.

"I'm not going to decide right away," Jardine said of the quarterback situation. "Both have done good jobs. We'll let them work all week and then we'll decide."

Jardine said practices would be closed and media interviews with players and coaches will be prohibited the rest of the week.

"We want to play even with Michigan all week," Jardine said.

Tom Schremp, starting defensive tackle who sat out the Illinois game because of a toe injury, is ready to play.

Starting safety Dan Schiebie probably will not play because of a knee injury, and Kurt Holm, the No. 3 linebacker, definitely is out.

Jones, Canonie Gifted South Haven Ends

Palanca Is Latest Standout Ram QB

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

South Haven has had a tradition of great passing quarterbacks. But this year's signal caller, Perry Palanca, may just be the best one of the lot.

Don Moorhead went on to set passing records at the University of Michigan after a splendid career with the Rams. But it is Palanca who holds every major passing mark at South Haven.

The 6-0, 175-pound senior threw a record 20 touchdown passes last year, but he is already on his way to bettering that mark this season. In five games, Palanca has completed 47 of 79 passes for 12 touchdowns for the unbeaten Rams. His 840 yards passing is already a new school record.

St. Joseph's Steve Ziebart and Mike Stanage of Cassopolis also have excellent passing credentials so far this season. But Palanca clearly heads the field.

"Perry's in great company," South Haven coach Gary Steudle says. "Don Moorhead and Tom Salusky were great quarterbacks and on championship teams; and Perry's certainly in their class."

Interestingly enough, Moorhead is student teaching this year at South Haven, a job which includes assisting with the football team. And Moorhead is one of Palanca's biggest fans.

"It's been a long time since I've seen kids coming into college as freshmen who drop back and throw as well as Perry does," Moorhead says. "The thing that impresses me most about him is that he's a winner. He has a lot of pride. If he makes a bad pitchout or throws a bad pass, he's the first one to get on himself.

"I can remember playing basketball with his older brother Chuck when Perry was really little. Even then he hated to lose. He's quite a competitor. He has a winning attitude. He's the type of kid who is going to be successful at whatever he does."

And Palanca is not only successful on the football field, but also in the classroom, sporting a straight-A average.

"Perry really excells," Steudle says. "He's very intelligent not only on the field but also in the classroom. He does a great job of reading the defense and exploiting it."

As is necessary for any good quarterback, Palanca has two gifted ends to throw to. Split end Mike Jones has caught 20 passes for 371 yards and eight touchdowns. Tight end Jerry Cannonie has pulled in 15 aerials for 312 yards.

Both Jones and Canonie are averaging almost 20 yards per reception. But their similarities end right there.

At 6-3, 185, Jones is quick, running the 40 in 4.6 seconds. He was the Class D state champion in the high hurdles two years ago as a sophomore at Saugatuck before transferring to South Haven a year later.

"Mike is quick and quite agile," Steudle says. "He has the ability to get open in a hurry. And you have to realize that Jones has been getting a lot of double coverage."

Steudle is especially impressed with Jones' unselfish attitude.

"Mike is a quiet individual, and he's a pleasure to have on the team," Steudle explains. "He just does what you ask him to do. When he transferred here, he was a running back. But I didn't need a running back.

"We had a kid who had been a wide receiver the year before who decided not to come back out. We decided that we wanted to teach him to catch the ball."

And the position has worked out favorably for Jones, whose father, Dave, is the former head football coach at Okemos.

While Jones' biggest asset is speed, Canonie relies mainly on his strong 6-1, 195-pound frame.

"Jerry has good hands and runs with a lot of desire after he catches the ball," Steudle says. "He has the ability to get open and also to catch the ball when people are around him. He's not afraid to go after the ball."

Canonie, South Haven's number two quarterback, is also at the top of his class scholastically.

Though the school records are nice, Palanca has his sights set on bigger goals. South Haven boasts a 5-0 record and are ranked third in the latest Associated Press Class B poll. But the Rams face unbeaten Three Rivers and defending Class A state champion Midland Dow in its next two games. But then Palanca has shown great poise when the pressure is the greatest.

"Perry has certainly proven that he can stand up under pressure," Steudle says. "He's been taking some pretty good hits and is always right back there for the next play.

"Last week he showed he could throw the ball under pressure. We trailed Gull Lake 15-14 in the third quarter in a driving rainstorm. But even with the wet ball, he had one of his best passing nights."

Ziebart is closing in on the single season St. Joe passing record. The senior signal caller has completed 51 passes in 109 attempts for 759 yards, 10 short of the school mark.

Stanage has thrown for better than 100 yards in three straight games for unbeaten Cass. While completing 23 of 35 for 416 yards, Stanage has tossed seven TD passes.

Ram Rally Pulls Out Cage Win

South Haven reeled off 13 straight points in the last period to come from behind and register a 44-38 win over Vicksburg Monday in girls basketball.

In another Wolverine Conference clash, Paw Paw clipped Comstock 41-36.

The Rams were down 36-31 with two minutes gone in the fourth period. But then they caught fire to capture their fifth league win in six outings.

"We made an adjustment on the press and we forced them into several turnovers," commented Ram Coach John Yelding. "And we finally hit a few shots. Also, we put a box-and-one on their leading scorer. She had 20 points but only two in the last five minutes."

The Rams were down 8-5 after the first period with the score tied 18-all at the half and 28-28 after three periods.

Mary Mescher led South Haven, 6-2 overall, with 12 points. Tracy Mosley hit 10, Maria Sarno eight and Jewell Carpenter seven.

Andrea Burchard canned 17 points and pulled down 13 rebounds to pace the Redskins, 2-4 in the Wolverine and 3-5 overall. Darla Krueger added 10 points.

Paw Paw held quarter leads of 6-4, 16-14 and 31-25.

Valley Golfers Top Bridgman

BRIDGMAN — River Valley's golfers topped Bridgman 242-257 Monday at Pebblewood golf course.

Fred Brecht shot 80 for the Mustangs, Mark Magnuson 82, Jack Fox 80 and Mark Dooley 90. For the Bees, Ed Schnieder carded 80, Jim Anderson 90, Ken Kamp 92 and Brett Boyd 95. The Bees won the junior varsity match.

Rogers Sees Better Times Ahead

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State has just absorbed beatings by Notre Dame and Michigan, and most football coaches wouldn't call that encouraging. But Darryl Rogers does.

Rogers maintains that his Spartans' performance against the two national powers — at least compared to a year ago — promises better times ahead for MSU fans.

Not only did his team lose by fewer points this year, he noted Monday, but the Spartans had a chance to win both games except for a few flubs. And for Rogers that heralds a return to national stature in the next couple of seasons.

Not that Rogers sees much benefit in losing. He refused to modify his estimate of how long it would take MSU to rebuild its program — up to seven years. "I'll revise it when we beat 'em," he said sharply.

But, he acknowledged, "I'm a lot more optimistic. I don't think there's any question we've closed the gap tremendously. There's no doubt we're a better football team than last year.

"If we make that kind of progress for another year we can be at that level," he continued. "I wish it were greater. We could have won the (Michigan) football game. I'm not saying we should have won it, but we could have won it if everything had gone our way."

MSU made some crucial errors to lose any chance it had at an upset Saturday, and Michigan rolled to a 24-14 victory. The Spartans dropped to 2-3 on the year, and travel to Indiana Saturday.

"We played pretty well," Rogers reflected. "Our defense held up. Michigan is a fine football team; they did what they had to do. They're the best football team we've played to date."

But he left the impression that Michigan didn't impress him as all that awesome, especially with Rob Lytle and Jim Smith gone — in fact, not all that far ahead of MSU.

Rogers' job now is to get his team up for the rest of the season, starting with the Hoosiers. Indiana is also 2-3, and has a powerful running game to throw at MSU's injury-riddled front lines.

"There's no reason why we shouldn't get our team emotionally ready," Rogers said. "We can't sit around and worry about the past and cry about the past."

Rogers also revealed Monday that Michigan State is dickering with Iowa and the National Collegiate Athletic Association to hold the 1978 season finale at the Silverdome in Pontiac. Rogers said that would avoid bad weather and — by holding it on Friday or Saturday night — attract fans who might spend Saturday watching Michigan and Ohio State on television.

Tough Arthur Hill Can't Compare With '73 Team

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Saginaw Arthur Hill's undefeated high school football team has a burden to bear that's much bigger than the problem of facing unbeaten powers Midland Dow and Flint Southwestern.

It is the descendant of what some experts consider the greatest Michigan high school football team of all time: the 1973 Arthur Hill squad that was unbeaten, untied and unscored upon.

"I just can't imagine myself ever having another team with that much talent," said Coach George Ihler, whose Lumberjacks rank fourth in this week's Class A Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

"I'm not saying I don't have a good team this year," Ihler said. "It's just that it's not fair to compare it with what was probably the finest football team Michigan has ever seen.

"We're not near the team we were in '73," he said. "We don't have the offensive explosiveness. But we're playing good defense. We shut out the last three opponents. That team (in 1973), though, averaged over a point a minute. We're no where near that."

Some of the players from the 1973 squad playing in college include halfback Terry Eurick, the captain at Notre Dame; center Terry Murphy of Notre Dame; starting quarterback Ron Rummel of Central Michigan; offensive tackle Paul Walderzak of Nebraska; and defensive tackle Tim Janik of Alma, an all conference player the last three years in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

Among Ihler's key players this year are quarterback-safety Curt Young, offensive tackle Jeff Fisher, offensive end-linebacker Cary Kipke, end Greg Ruhlig, plus defensive ends Zeph Phillips and Scott Krugielka. Ihler calls Young "a real blue chip quarterback."

The Lumberjacks, 5-0, are ranked one notch above defending state Class A champion Midland Dow. Arthur Hill's homecoming game is Friday night against Dow.

In three weeks the Lumberjacks play Flint Southwestern, which has been No. 1 in the poll all season.

Arthur Hill was first in its district last week in playoff qualifying tabulations from the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

Even though the playoffs have been expanded this year to include quarterfinals, Ihler thinks his region could have one or two unbeaten teams that won't qualify.

"East Lansing is in our region and they're unbeaten," he said. "They don't have a cross schedule with us. Then there's Dow and Southwestern. Flint Kearsley is unbeaten and doesn't play any of us either."

Ihler said Dow has four Class B schools on its schedule, which will hurt in playoff point tabulation.

Five southwestern Michigan teams are ranked, with South Haven No. 3 in Class B and Lake Michigan Catholic No. 3 in Class C. Cassopolis is seventh in 'C' and Watervliet and Brandywine are honorable mention in Class C.

NY Yankees Hurting For Healthy Starting Pitchers

NEW YORK (AP) — From the back of a crowd of newsmen, someone asked Yankees Manager Billy Martin if he needed another starting pitcher.

"We'll be all right," said Martin, his eyes fixed on the carpet. Then he looked up. "Hey, Tommy, how you doing? Damn. I could use you right now."

The probing questioner was none other than Tom Seaver, ace of the Cincinnati Reds and tonight a voice in the broadcasting booth when ABC gets its first crack at the World Series.

The truth is Martin could use Seaver or almost any other big league starter. His pitching staff, by reputation one of the best in baseball, seems to be now held together by one huge roll of medical tape.

Tonight he's starting Don Gullett, the same Don Gullett who was pulled after two innings' work last Wednesday in the opening game of the American League playoffs. The diagnosis was a sore shoulder.

"He told me he was all right," said Martin of his ace left-hander, who was 14-4 in the regular season while suffering from an assortment of ailments and a stint on the disabled list in August.

"I feel a big improvement," said Gullett, who opened last year's World Series for Cincinnati and beat the Yankees before leaving that game with a season-ending ankle injury. "There's more freedom in the shoulder. I told Billy I was confident I could do the job."

The next patient in Martin's patched-up pitching parade will probably be Catfish Hunter, 8-9 in just 22 games this season. Hunter, bothered by a sore shoulder most of the past two seasons, has been sidelined by a urological disorder and hasn't pitched since Sept. 10.

"I think I might start Catfish because of (Ed) Figueroa's finger," said Martin. "He developed a nerve problem in Kansas City and I had to take him out of the fourth game."

Hunter says he feels okay, but he's not certain about his control after a long layoff.

"Control will definitely be the problem," Martin said. "It all depends on how well he can zero in on the plate."

Martin's probable third-game starter in Los Angeles Friday night is Ron Guidry, who won the second game of the playoffs but didn't have enough zip on his fastball in the fifth game three days later. He's healthy but fragile, and requires at least four days' rest between starts.

Mike Torrez, a strapping right-hander who pitched a strong 5 1-3 innings in relief Sunday with one day's rest, is another possible starter. Dick Tidrow is Martin's long man out of the bullpen, where righthander Ken Clay and left-hander Ken Holtzman are expected to sit as spectators the entire series.

That leaves one man on the Yankees' pitching staff — Sparky Lyle, who bailed the Yankees out with long and short relief wins on Saturday and Sunday. He's Martin's ace in the hole.

"Sparky's amazing, he's so good," said Martin, who wishes he had a super starter comparable to his fabulous finisher.

Superstar Simpson Recalls Childhood

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a three-part series on O.J. Simpson, the Buffalo Bills' superstar running back. Today's installment recalls his childhood and pitfalls he's dealt with. In part two, Simpson discusses his performance on and off the field since the Bills' opener. In the third part, Simpson discusses his outside interests and his strong desire to be a quality man.)

By DAN SEWELL
Associated Press Writer

BUFFALO (AP) — Sometimes, O.J. Simpson simply shuts his eyes and lets it all wash over him.

He thinks about his superstar status as one of football's all-time greats; his lucrative advertising interests; his budding acting career; his top ranking in several polls seeking America's heroes.

Then he remembers the kid with skinny legs, running with street gangs in south San Francisco and living in a federally-funded apartment project.

"I was always a cocky kid. I always thought I'd be a great baseball player, then a great football player. But I never thought about all the off-the-field things," said Simpson.

"I grew up in a project. Now I've got a beautiful home. I've got all the money anyone would want. Sometimes when I think about it all, it's overwhelming."

Simpson's primary employer, the Buffalo Bills football club, is paying him an estimated $2.3 million over three years. Added to that are his considerable wages for the two or three film roles he takes a year and the proceeds from his advertising endorsements.

His Hertz "Superstar in Rents-Car" commercials, which feature a nattily-attired Simpson dashing through an airport terminal, have been wildly successful for the company. After their first year, Hertz reported a 50 per cent increase in net profits in 1976.

When Simpson ends his football career at next season's close, he will hold at least 10 National Football League records, including most yards gained in a season — an amazing 2,003 in 1973.

The 30-year-old Los Angeles resident now awaits his retirement ("Only 26 more games," he said after the Bills' most recent game — and loss) so he can devote full time to his acting. Simpson will leave football with many memories.

His best moment, he said, came in 1967 when he scored the winning touchdown to give the University of Southern California a victory over archrival UCLA.

"I'll never forget when we beat UCLA. Of course, that's the big game every year and that game cinched the Rose Bowl for us. Every college player wants to play in the Rose Bowl," he said.

His worst moment? "My third year here (1971, when the Bills finished 1-13). That whole season was bad."

Simpson has only two more goals in his football career. One is within reach, the other is hardly more than a dream. He hopes to overtake Jim Brown's all-time rushing record of 12,312 yards.

However, a slow start caused by nagging injuries and a more pass-oriented Bills offense has thrown him off pace.

"I'll be disappointed if I don't get it, but I'm not worrying about it. I've had so many other things," he said.

Simpson thinks now that "it will take a miracle" for him to attain his other goal: to play in a Super Bowl.

TERRY VOOGD

Voogd New Cage Coach

HARTFORD — Terry Voogd has been promoted to the job of head basketball coach of the Hartford Indians.

The appointment of Voogd, 34, to replace Dick Pfeifer, who resigned recently, was made Monday night by the Hartford School Board.

Steven VanderMolen was selected to replace Voogd as junior varsity coach.

This will be Voogd's third head coaching job in southwestern Michigan. He started at Lawrence in 1966 and posted five straight winning seasons with a combined 66-27 record, including a pair of 15-3 squad which were conference champions. He then served four years at Watervliet, where he was 23-56, including a 13-8 mark in 1973-74 which was the school's first winning record since 1957.

Voogd resigned as Watervliet's coach in May of 1975 and served as Hartford's jayvee coach last season, posting a 7-11 mark. The Hartford resident still teaches at Watervliet, serving as a history and physical education instructor.

"I'm a little disappointed that Dick (Pfeifer) resigned," declared Voogd. "But I'm looking forward to getting back into the head role. There are no varsity starters returning, but we have a real good nucleus to work from. We had a little better jayvee team than the record showed.

"I'm going to try to do a lot of the things Dick did. I think he had them on the right track."

Voogd says his basic style of play is to "run and press."

Fennville Wins

FENNVILLE — Sue Barnes hit 12 points and took 10 rebounds to pace the Fennville girls to a 52-50 win over Allendale here Monday. Kathy Klamer and Merri-Lou Morehead added 11 points each with Klamer collecting 12 rebounds. Fennville is 5-2 overall.

Lancer Golfers Edge Paw Paw

Lakeshore golfers edged Paw Paw 173-177 Monday at Wyndwicke.

The Lancers, now 4-1 in duals, got a 41 from Mark Nidiffer, 42 from Bob Gelesko, 43 from Mike Fisher and 47 from Kevin Daniels. Paw Paw had Steve Williams at 41, Errol Daloba 44, Andy Wares 46 and Eric Hill 46.

SPORTS CAPSULES

TENNIS

TEHRAN, Iran — Guillermo Vilas of Argentina captured the $175,000 Aryamehr Tennis Cup for the second time, defeating Eddie Dibbs 6-2, 6-4, 1-6, 6-1.

The 25-year old U.S. Open champion, who won this tournament in 1974, also teamed with Ion Tiriac to win the doubles title with a 1-6, 6-1, 6-4 victory over South Africa's Frew McMillan and Bob Hewitt.

BRISBANE, Australia — Ross Case of Australia coasted to a 6-2, 6-2 victory over countryman Charles Fancutt in the first day of the $55,000 South Pacific Classic.

In another opening match, Australian Rod Frawley beat American Tim Wilkinson 6-3, 6-3.

BASEBALL

NEW YORK — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn refused the New York Yankees' application to add a 25th man to their World Series roster.

In a letter to Yankee President Gabe Paul, Kuhn said the Yankees request to add outfielder Dell Alston to their list of Series eligibles could not be approved without the consent of the National League. NL President Chub Feeney would not agree to the addition, the commissioner said.

The Yankee roster vacancy was created when New York sent utilityman Carlos May on waivers to the California Angels in mid-September. Baseball rules stipulate that players eligible for post-season action must be on the 25-man major league roster Aug. 31. Alston was playing for the Yankees' Syracuse farm team at the time.

Bucks Win 11th Straight In CC

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan cross country team captured its 11th straight win of the season here Monday by downing Lakeshore 19-43.

Eric Mollberg of the Bucks was first in 17:30 followed by Brad Krugler of Lakeshore. Taking the next three spots were Bucks Tom Lear, John Dougherty and Rick Bullock.

Deep In Canadian Wilderness

Canoe Class Explored

By ELLEN BAILEY
Berrien Springs Correspondent

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Eight area men have returned from a 10-day exploration trip which took them deep into the Canadian wilderness, 100 miles from civilization, according to Charles Barnes, director-naturalist at Love Creek Nature Center.

The purpose of the 140-mile trip up the Missinabi River, Ontario, Province, was to determine the feasibility of a course in wilderness canoeing that would be conducted jointly by Sarett and Love Creek Nature Centers, Barnes said.

Members of the late August expedition were Barnes; Charles Nelson, director of the Sarett Nature Center; Kenneth Gregory, naturalist at Sarett; Dr. John Sharon, St. Joseph; Richard Schinkel, Oronoko township naturalist; Edward Lewis, St. Joseph; William Edwards, Michigan conservation officer for Berrien County, and Joseph Cullins, St. Joseph.

Barnes said the proposed wilderness course would probably be a "modified version" of the recent trek.

"Some parts of the river are just too difficult for beginners," Barnes said. "There are a lot of rapids and rocks."

There are special problems in taking a group of inexperienced people on such a trip because "life in the wilderness is a series of narrow escapes," Barnes said. "For instance, a turned ankle at home is a minor nuisance. In the wilderness, it can be a matter of life and death."

But there are particular rewards, too, for traveling in the wilderness. Barnes and his companions spotted moose, wolves, bear, otter and rare birds.

They even passed a lone Indian in his canoe, evidently checking his trap lines. "We just nodded as we passed," Barnes said. "He was probably as stunned as we were to find someone else out there."

The proposed canoeing class, if approved by the naturalists, would probably be scheduled for August, 1978, Barnes said, and would include a study of the ecology of the northern coniferous forest, identification of animal tracks and observation of animal wildlife.

Participants in the course would also have a chance to catch and cook their own fish suppers (nearly every night).

A slide program presenting highlights of the recent trip will be shown 3 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 12, at Love Creek, according to Barnes.

Area Fishing Poor Over Weekend

Fishing was generally poor over the weekend in southwestern Michigan, and the windy weather was getting much of the blame.

"I think the whole answer is the weather," says Lloyd Mollhagen of Mollhagen Fisheries in St. Joseph. "The fish are there.....if we could just get weather. The guys are marking all kinds of fish withtheir graphs."

Lake trout appear as the best bet for trollers on Lake Michigan. One charter boat took six fish Saturday before the weather got bad, with five being lakers. Another had four, with all being lake trout. Pier anglers have also been picking up some lakers.

The hot-n-tot has been a good laker bait for trollers, while pier fishermen have been using the little cleo and k-o wobbler.

River fishing in the lower St. Joseph was also "very slow" over the weekend, but large numbers of anglers at the Berrien Springs dam continued to take fish.

Alvin Aldridge, the ranger at Shamrock Park in Berrien Springs, checked 800 to 900 fishermen Sunday with 94 coho, 32 chinook, 20 brown trout and 27 steelhead. On Saturday, 400 to 500 anglers took 67 coho, 59 chinook, 26 brown trout, 24 steelhead and three lake trout.

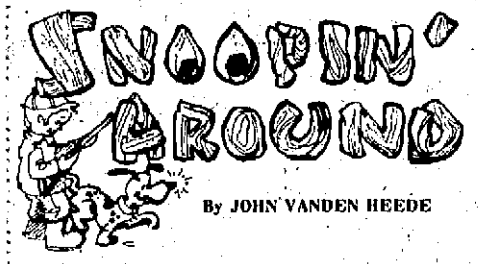
There were 150 anglers Friday with 95 coho, 39 chinook, 14 browns and 6 steelhead, while a Thursday turnout of 200 took 14 steelhead, 22 browns, 34 chinook and 95 coho. The tally last Wednesday for 150 fishermen was 72 coho, 43 chinook, 16 browns and 11 steelhead.

Aldridge says spawn, the little cleo and the k-o wobbler have been good baits. But many of the fish are taken by snaggers.

The Department of Natural Resources says salmon success on the Kalamazoo River below the Allegan dam has generally been "very slow."

There are also chinooks below the Bangor dam on the Black River, but snagging is not allowed there.

Fishing is getting better on inland lakes. The DNR says there has been good bluegill sucess on Painter, Stone, Diamond and Chain of Lakes in Cass county. Bass catches have also picked up for anglers using live baits at 8 to 12-foot depths. Live minnows are also taking some northern pike.



By JOHN VANDEN HEEDE

Hunters looking for public access hunting land in southwestern Michigan should check with area license dealers.

The Department of Natural Resources is mailing lists of public access lands to dealers this week and all should have them before the general small game opener Oct. 20.

About 8,000 acres have been leased so far in our DNR district, which is well short of the 25,000-acre goal. But DNR district wildlife chief Bill Bartels says applications from landowners wishing to get into the program will be taken through Friday. Bartels hopes to get about 10,000 acres overall.

Landowners receive a maximum of $2.50 per acre, with the average so far being around $2. The program is being financed through a $1 public access stamp which is required this year for all hunting in southern Michigan (Region 3).

Scott Steelheader Speaker

Department of Natural Resources fisheries chief John Scott will be the featured speaker at 7:30 p.m. today at the monthly meeting of the Southwestern Michigan Steelheaders at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn.

Scott will discuss the proposed Buchanan dam fish ladder, Lake Michigan artificial reefs, a beefed up lake trout planting program and a tagging plan for Lake Michigan coho salmon.

Duck Prospects Below Last Fall

Duck hunting success is expected to be down when the southwestern Michigan waterfowl season opens Wednesday.

"I don't think it will be as good as last year," declares Department of Natural Resources district wildlife chief Bill Bartels. "But the reduction will be nothing drastic."

Bartels believes the area waterfowl brood success was "hurt some" by the dry spring. "Fewer teal have been seen," he notes. "And these are farm pond ducks."

Bartels thinks black ducks, mallards and wood ducks should be in "pretty good" supply.

The duck limit will again be under the 100-point system, with the canvasback worth 100 points. The 70-point ducks are redhead, female mallard, black duck, wood duck and hooded merganser. There are 25-point values for the male mallard, ring-necked duck, goldeneye, baldpate, old squaw, bufflehead, plus 15-points for blue-winged teal, green-winged teal, pintail, shoveller, scaup, gadwall and common and red-breasted mergansers.

Goose season also opens Wednesday in southwestern Michigan, except for the Allegan State Game Area. The opener in the special goose area there is Oct. 21. Bartels says there are now about 8,000 geese at Allegan.

ENLISTING JUNIOR FIRE MARSHALS: The call is out for some 6,000 youngsters in grades kindergarten through third in the Twin Cities area to become junior fire marshals. Displaying flag in Fire Prevention Week program Oct. 9-15 are, from left: Capt. Ray Nelson, St. Joseph Township Fire Station 1; Capt. Terry McNeil, St. Joseph Fire Deparmtent; Sgt. Robert Ruohonen, Michigan State Police Fire Marshal Division; Robert Molhoek, representing Twin Cities Association of Independent Insurance Agents, sponsor of program with fire departments; Capt. John Faher, St. Joseph Township Fire Station 2; and John Billups, deputy Benton Harbor fire chief. Other participating fire departments are Sodus, Watervliet, Tri-Unit and Sister Lakes. Students will take home fire inspection forms to be filled out. Classes with greatest percentage of returned inspection sheets in each fire department area will win a party and schools with most participation win flag or plaque. (Staff photo)

Career Criminal Program

Smietanka Names Staff

Berrien Prosecutor John Smietanka has appointed a staff to start the county's new Career Criminal Prosecution program aimed at reducing crimes by identifying repeat offenders and giving their prosecution "high priority."

Director of the new project will be Jeffrey Long, chief assistant prosecuting attorney, Smietanka announced this morning. The full-time trial attorney for the new program will be Thomas J. Gezon, assistant prosecuting attorney, Smietanka said.

The Berrien County Board of Commissioners authorized the new program July 21. It will operate on a $110,190 grant from the Michigan Office of Criminal Justice programs and a local match of $5,510 from the county.

Smietanka said the new program is based on the theory that a very large percentage of crimes are committed by a relatively small percent of the criminal population in any given area. He said the goal of the program is to single out suspects with a past history of crime, prosecute them "to the fullest extent of the law, and when convicted, advocate lengthy incarceration."

The staff of the new program will be composed of four full-time and one part-time employee: Long, Gezon, a legal secretary, case coordinator and part-time trial attorney, Arlene Cavaness, a case coordinator for the prosecutor's office, will be the program's case coordinator, Smietanka said, and Lori Bergman, a secretary in the prosecutor's office, will be the legal secretary. A part-time attorney is yet to be selected, he said.

Smietanka said the staff is currently setting up the criteria for the new program. The new program has been successful in other areas of the state and nation where it has been used, Smietanka said.

Cover-Up Of Air Bag Test Failures Denied

DETROIT (AP) — Allegations that a government agency suppressed test results showing seat belts more effective than airbags are being denied by a federal official.

But a Chrysler Corp. safety official is agreeing with the allegations.

"It certainly appears that (the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has) been trying to keep this information from coming to public light," Sydney Terry, a Chrysler vice president, said on Monday.

Terry said the tests, conducted for NHTSA over the past year by a private research firm, Calspan Corp. of Buffalo, N.Y., showed that air bags failed to protect occupants in so-called offset crashes.

In those crashes cars going 30 miles per hour meet head-on but with the drivers seats in line with each other. Most test crashes are fully head-on, headlight to headlight.

Jill Claybrook, NHTSA administrator, told reporters in Dearborn Monday, "The charge that the test results were suppressed is absolutely poppycock." She was in Dearborn to speak at a safety conference.

Congressional investigators in Washington, according to Monday's Detroit News, found that NHTSA had withdrawn the offset test results on Aug. 26. The test results were made public a week later under pressure by Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich, a vigorous foe of mandatory air bags.

It reportedly was Sept. 26 before Congress saw an NHSTA staff evaluation of the test results — too late for House and Senate hearings on resolutions aimed at overturning a federal order requiring air bags or other passive restraints on some new cars in 1982 and all new cars by 1984.

Both houses must reject the order by Friday if they wish to keep it from going into effect.

Other NHTSA officials in Washington declined to comment.

Thomas Glenn, the NHTSA engineer who conducted the tests, said cadavers obtained from a medical school with permission of the families involved were placed in the front seats of the test cars and wired to record the force of the crash impacts.

Out of four offset tests, two of the cadavers and one of the dummies in the air bag cars received impacts far exceeding the injury limit set by the passive restraint standard, Glenn said. In the seat belt cars, however, all of the test subjects were within the limits.

Bangor School Enrollment Dips 160; Budget Is Cut $45,000

BANGOR — A decrease in enrollment of some 160 students resulted in budget cutting by the Bangor School Board Monday night.

The board reduced the school budget by $45,000, from its preliminary figure of $2,548,247 to $2,503,247, according to Mrs. Peggy Phillips, board secretary.

Superintendent Fred Stap said the reductions included reducing salary costs at each of the three district schools by $10,000 by not replacing some teachers who have left and a decision not to purchase a new school bus this year.

Stap said no positions were eliminated.

Student enrollment as of the fourth Friday in September was 1,808, down from 1,968 students last year.

In other action, the board appointed a committee to review the school district's absentee policy. The committee will also seek to find out the causes of student drop outs.

The board authorized its attorney to come up with regulations that would prohibit off-road and recreational vehicles from being driven on school property.

Permission was denied a Bangor student to enroll at the Paw Paw night school. Don Schuck, a senior, had requested permission to drop out of the high school and enroll at the night school. Stap said it was the policy of the night school to receive board permission if a student enters the school ahead of his graduating class.

The board voted to petition the Van Buren Intermediate School Board to allow a transfer of property from the Bloomingdale School District to the Bangor district. The owner of the property made the request for transfer, Mrs. Phillips said.

Firm Selected To Plan Bangor Hall Revamp

BANGOR — The Bangor City Council Monday night approved hiring Alpha Engineering, South Haven, to draw up plans for remodeling Bangor City Hall.

The council set a limit of $1,000 for the engineering charges. The engineering firm is to draw up plans that would give both exterior and interior improvements to city hall.

In related action, the council voted to purchase a boiler at a cost of $400 from the former West Michigan Savings Bank building. It will be converted for use in city hall.

In other action, the council approved an ordinance requiring a certificate of occupancy for rental properties in the city.

The new ordinance will go into effect Nov. 1, according to the council action.

Under the new ordinance, property must be inspected before it can be rented. The ordinance carries an inspection fee of $10 that is good for a year. An inspection must be done each time a rental unit is vacated, but no fee is charged for subsequent inspections if the unit is vacated more than once in a year's time.

The council set Nov. 1-7 as city cleanup week. The city landfill will be open free of charge during the week to city residents. Curbside pickup of refuse will be conducted by city crews Nov. 1 and 3.

Bids for equipment for the water treatment plant were opened, but were immediately turned over to the council's water committee for review and recommendation. The bids are to be presented at the council's next meeting.

Leslie Cripps Associates, Berrien Springs, was retained as the city's consultant for proposed HUD grant applications.

City Treasurer Only Contest In Watervliet Election Nov. 8

WATERVLIET — Two people filed by the deadline Monday for election as city treasurer in the city's Nov. 8 election.

The race was the only contest to result from the filings and pitted two newcomers against each other. Incumbent Treasurer William Rogers did not file for re-election.

Three other incumbents, all members of the city commission, also did not file for re-election and one of their positions had no candidate.

Filing for the treasurer's post in the non-partisan balloting were Thomas Murphy, 557 Park St. and Henrietta Frazier, 923 N. Main St.

Murphy was a former city commission member and an unsuccessful candidate for the mayor's office in the last city election.

Mrs. Frazier is the wife of Mayor Arvid Frazier who defeated Murphy in the mayor's race.

The three current commissioners who did not file for re-election were Albert Steffens, William Loshbaugh, and Richard Fox.

Harold W. Demay, 411 Shephard Place, and Edward Puckett, 332 Walnut Street, filed for two of the commission offices. The commission positions are for four years each.

Also filing without opposition for re-election were Fred Johnson, 325 Bluffview, incumbent clerk; Thomas Yore, 118 E. Division St., assessor; Harvey Harper, 435 Harper Ave.; and Walter Duday, 349 Bluffview, for incumbent constables; and incumbent Mulford Lynch, 226 W. Parsons, and Meldrene Hutchins, 449 Summit Dr., for two available board of review offices.

BH School Holding 'Columbug' Parade

Some 340 students at Columbus Elementary School, Benton Harbor, will observe the rual Columbus Day tomorrow, Oct. 12, with a "Columbug Parade," Mrs. Jeanne Yingst, principal, said a "Columbug" is the school's mascot, "sort of like a ladybug." She said there will be costumes as the school honors its namesake and mascot. The parade will start from the school, 815 Columbus Ave., at 1:30 p.m., march on Clay Street, then north on Pearl to Catalpa, and return on Columbus to the school.

You have more power over your electric bill than you think.

No matter what we do to help keep your electric bill in line, there's one thing we have no power over.

The amount of power you use.

So we'd like to point out the most significant places where only you have the biggest opportunities to save.

Insulation

6 to 12 inches of insulation in your attic could save you real money each year.

You'll save even more if you insulate your walls, heating ducts and hot water pipes.

Caulking, weatherstripping, storm windows, shades and drapes also help keep heat inside in winter, and outside in summer.

Thermostat Control

Lower your thermostat in winter. Each degree below 68°F can save three percent of the energy needed for heating. If you have air conditioning, a higher thermostat setting will also save energy in summer.

Hot Water Use

You can save up to 5% a year of the energy needed to heat water if you turn your water heater thermostat down to 120 degrees and take quick showers instead of baths.

Fix leaky hot water faucets promptly. And wash clothes in cold water, if you can.

Washing and drying only full loads of clothes and dishes is more economical, too.

Appliance Efficiency

If you're in the market for appliances and equipment, look for the new energy saving features on refrigerators, freezers, and dishwashers. Choose an Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER) of 8 or higher on room air conditioners.

While there are a lot more ways to save electricity, these are the ones that will make the biggest impression on your bill.

Paw Paw Council Alters Penalty On Electric Bills

PAW PAW — The Paw Paw Village Council Monday night changed the late payment penalty for electric bills and set a service fee for new electric customers.

Under the penalty fee change, persons not paying electric bills by the specified due date will be assessed a penalty equal to five percent of the bill. In the past, persons were allowed 15 days beyond the due date to pay, then were assessed a 10 percent penalty if they did not.

On the service fee, new electric customers will be charged a $5 fee at the time they begin service. Village Clerk Charles Cusumano said the service fee was needed because the village has had trouble collecting fees for disconnection or final meter readings when service is discontinued.

In other areas, the council said that parking at a spot on village property just west of the McKenzie Insurance Service would be on a first come first serve basis. Brad Wells, who lives in an apartment nearby, had inquired about the status of the space after explaining that he could not park his car on the street during the winter because of the village's snow removal ordinance.

The council also renewed the lease of Advertisers Postal Service for rent of the old fire hall at a rate of $110 per month, and accepted the resignation of Mrs. Shirley Jackson from the Paw Paw Housing Commission effective Oct. 23.

PROPOSED APARTMENTS

Coloma Rejects Rezoning

COLOMA — A request to rezone a lot here from residential to multi-family use fell one vote short of passage by the Coloma City Commission Monday night.

The proposal received four favorable votes against two no votes, but was one vote shy of a required three-fourths majority needed on a rezoning issue. One commissioner was absent.

Casting votes in favor of the rezoning were Commissioners Mrs. Wavia Noack, Robert Wooley, Fred Munchow, and William Weybright.

Voting against were Mayor Glenn Randall and Commissioner Norman Carrothers. Commissioner Harold Hammond was absent.

The rezoning request was filed with the commission during its Sept. 12 meeting by Jerry Sirk, identified as the proposed purchaser of the property, off Paw Paw Street.

Sirk had sought the rezoning to allow him to construct several apartments in the residence.

During a public hearing held on the rezoning request, two adjacent property owners voiced objections to the change.

In other areas, the commission approved purchase of a new street sweeper from the Tennant Co., of Minneapolis, Minn., at a cost of $7,853. The firm was the lowest bidder on the unit.

The commission extended an invitation to County Commissioner R. J. Burkholz to attend its next meeting to explain the social service's new housing inspection program. Members of the commission have received complaints over the program.

The commission set Monday, Nov. 14, at 8:30 p.m., for a public hearing on the city's plans to adopt the state's electrical code. The commission held its first reading of the code last night.

The commission authorized City Clerk Patricia Beezley to write the Coloma Emergency Ambulance service commending the service on its 10th anniversary.

James Noack, city public works coordinator, was authorized to sign an agreement with the state Highway Department for purchasing new regulatory signs for the city. The total cost of the sign replacement project was pegged at $18,450, with the city's share amounting to slightly over $5,000.

The commission approved paintingthe fire tower, at a cost of $54, by LeRoy Bartalone of Coloma.

Commissioner Wooley reported the fire department will purchase light weight jackets for each member of the department, at a cost of $20 each. The total cost for the jackets will be divided equally between the city, township, and firemen.

The commission set Monday, Oct. Nov. 14, at 8 p.m. as the time for conducting a public hearing on how to spend approximately $5,714 in federal anti-recession funds. The commission tentatively has agreed to use the funds for purchasing spare water department parts, and a new police radio system. Some would go toward the purchase price of the new street sweeper.

DEAN MOHNEY
Resigns from board

Coloma Board Losing Member Dean Mohney

COLOMA — The Coloma School Board Monday night accepted the resignation of school board member Dean Mohney effective Monday, Oct. 31.

Mohney, 39, was elected to a four-year term on the school board in last June's school election.

Mohney said he was resigning because he was moving out of the district.

Acting Coloma School Board President Richard Eastman said the person appointed to fill the vacancy on the board would serve until the June, 1978 school election.

In other areas, the board adopted the 1977-78 school budget of $4,142,721, up $239,043 over the last school year budget of $3,903,678.

Superintendent William Barrett reported the district expects revenues totaling $4,071,369, leaving a difference between expenditures and income of $71,352, which will be made up from primarily school surplus funds.

Barrett told board members the difference would be lowered by cutting expenses and bringing more money into the school district, if possible.

For the 1977-78 school year, local property taxes were expected to produce $1,696,507, while state school aid was to bring in an additional $2,195,562.

Ronald Clark, assistant school superintendent, reported the cost to replace various school equipment lost in a July 24 fire at the Coloma junior high totaled $60,340.

Of the total cost, all but $1,000 has been covered by the school's insurance carrier.

Clark added one important factor in refurbishing the lost items was a clause in the policy calling for a 100 per cent replacement cost.

Barrett reported the loan of $115,000 to meet the payroll last September has been repaid, with the interest charges amounting to $40.62. Barrett last night requested a special board meeting for Monday, Oct. 17, during which time he expects to request an additional loan of $270,000 against anticipated state aid expected later this year.

Action on setting the administrators' salaries for the 1977-78 school year was tabled until the Oct. 17 meeting.

The board authorized sending a letter to the Coloma high school band commending them for receiving a Division I rating at last weekend's band festival.

Action on appointing an assistant to Al Stampfly to help in counseling work was also tabled until next week's meeting.

A request from three 1977 Coloma high school graduates to use the high school auditorium July 1 to Aug. 20, 1978, for producing summer plays was referred to the school administration for review.

Tax Tribunal Takes Extra Mill Away From Gobles School District

GOBLES — Superintendent Guy Leversee told the Gobles School Board Monday night that the district will be receiving one less mill from the Van Buren County Tax Allocation Board.

Leversee said he received formal notification that the tax board will cut the allocation from 9.58 mills to 8.58 mills. The Gobles and South Haven districts had been receiving one additional mill because the districts crossed county lines.

The cut came as the result of a ruling by the State Tax Tribunal in favor of a group of Van Buren County townships. The townships argued they were not receiving a fair split of a 15-mill, non-voted tax rate allocation. They also contended that taxpayers in South Haven and Gobles districts were granted an additional mill illegally.

The board took no action on the announcement Monday night. Last month the board approved its 1977-78 operating budget of $1,373,112, up $136,128 from last year. The one-mill cut will drop the total millage rate for the year from 24.5 mills to 23.5 mills.

Leverse said after the meeting that the cut will result in an approximate $45,000 loss in property tax and state aid revenues. He said, however, that the budget was drawn up with the "possibility of the cut in mind."

In other areas, Leversee told the board that student enrollment has increased by a total of 15 students. The official fourth Friday of September count showed a total of 1,139 students. Last year there were 1,125 students enrolled. The fourth Friday count is part of the basis for state aid payments.

The board approved naming Kelley Benya as athletic manager. Miss Benya is girls physical education instructor. A salary is to be set at a later time, according to the board.

Leversee said her position will be as an aide to the athletic director. The athletic director's position will be filled with the hiring of a new assistant high school principal. Former assistant principal and athletic director, Mitchell Zaleski, resigned in August to accept a position with another district. The position has not yet been filled.

The board approved limiting trophy presentations to varsity sports only. Previously the board had discussed presenting trophies for junior varsity and junior high sports. The trophies would be for outstanding performers and other such categories.

Hagar To Draft Subdivision Act

The Hagar Township Board Monday night formally approved retaining the Berrien County Planning Commission to prepare a township subdivision ordinance.

Edward Broderick, township supervisor, said the cost for preparing the ordinance was pegged at $800. Under the agreement, county representatives will work with the township's planning commission in preparing the ordinance.

The preparation of the newordinance, to replace an outdated ordinance, is expected to take four months to complete.

In other areas, the board approved new office hours for the township hall. The office will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., on Friday's, now through next spring.

The board approved a new fire service agreement with Coloma township. Under the agreement, the Coloma fire department will respond to fire calls east of the Paw Paw river in the township.

Under the pact, already approved by Coloma township, the hourly rate for Coloma firemen will be $6.50, for each firemen responding. The charge for a pumper will be $250, and for a second fire truck, if needed, another $100.

During September, the Hagar Township Fire Department answered three calls, while the ambulance unit responded to 10 calls, according to Broderick.

The board reaffirmed it's planning commission's action to deny a request from the Rev. Garland Cook, to rezone his property off US-33 from agricultural-residential to commercial. Both boards opposed the rezoning request because it was "spot zoning".

The rezoning request had been sought to establish a garage to repair vans and paint autos.

Civilian Dead In Shelling Of Lebanon Towns

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Overnight shelling of leftist-held towns in south Lebanon, the heaviest barrages of the current 2-week-old cease-fire, killed one civilian and wounded four others, the governor's office in Sidon said today.

The official report said the town of Nabatiyeh and the nearby village of Deir Zahrani, both eight miles north of the Israeli border, were the main targets of the shelling.

It could not be determined whether the gunfire came from inside Israel or from Israelibacked Christian forces in south Lebanon, the report said.

Adoption Meeting Set Oct. 20 In Kalamazoo

KALAMAZOO — A meeting on child adoption will be held here Oct. 20, according to Charles Higgins, director of the Van Buren County Department of Social Services. The meeting is sponsored by adoption agencies serving Van Buren and Kalamazoo counties. It will be held in the Kalamazoo office of Family and Children Services, 1008 Lake St., beginning at 7:30 p.m. Information will be provided on adoption of infants and older children.

Nobody understands us.

Right now, no matter where you are, there's a United Way agency service close at hand. In case you need a hand.

But what kind of agency? That's hard to say, since there are more than 37,000 different United Way agencies. And that's what makes United Way a little hard to understand.

So we're going to explain. And we'll keep it simple.

We're trying to ease people's pain and misery. In all its forms wherever we find it. And no matter who we find it in.

And in one way or another, all of those 37,000 human service agencies are set up to do just that. They all operate at the local level to provide important health and social services to anyone who needs them.

Help with the problems of drug abuse, family stress and alcoholism.

Help with adoptions and child day care.

Help during disaster and civil emergencies.

And mental health programs by the hundreds.

Not to mention care for retarded children. Vocational training, rehabilitation and placement for adults who want to work. And services for the aged and chronically ill.

The list goes on and on. And chances are if you've got a special charitable interest, it's one of our interests, too. That's nice to know.

It's also nice to know that the help United Way agencies give is available to anyone, regardless of race, creed or color. Or income.

So please, give us as much help as you can. It'll give you a good feeling.

And who knows? Some day, you could get back a lot more than you give.

River Valley Bond Cost Put At 3.5 Mills

THREE OAKS — The property tax levy to pay for a new middle school and improvements to three elementary schools would be no more than 3.5 mills, River Valley school officials said Monday night.

Speaking at the River Valley School Board meeting, Dr. Charles Williams, superintendent, said that if voters pass the $1,715,000 bond issue at the Nov. 14 election, even at a maximum bond interest rate of six percent, the mill levy required to pay off the bonds would be no more than 3.5 mills.

The scheduled election is the third on the proposal to build a new middle school to replace two 50-year-old buildings, and to improve elementary school buildings at Chikaming, New Troy and Three Oaks.

Voters have twice before defeated the proposed building and renovation program.

In other areas, the board agreed to seek legal advice on whether it can resume contract negotiations with the district's teachers.

Teachers have gone to the Michigan Employment Relations Commission in an effort to have a regional bargaining unit represent them in contract talks. The MERC has not handed down a decision yet on whether teachers can set up an election on the change of agents.

Teachers want to join the 5-C Michigan Education Association. Several other Berrien County school districts are also seeking membership in the regional group.

Dr. Williams reported that the gym floor at the New Troy school has buckled along its entire length and that basketball games scheduled for that school will be played at the high school.

He also reported that the district's official enrollment for 1977-78 is 2,055, down from last year's 2,061.

He said the high school enrollment of 706, down 27 from last year, will drop the school into Class C for purposes of sports and other interscholastic tournaments. The school was in Class B last year.

A district needs at least 708 high school students for Class B tournament competition, school officials said.

Dr. Williams said the board will hold a public hearing on the school's 1977-78 budget at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 24, at the high school. The regular school board meeting will follow.

Aimed At Counterfeiting

LANSING (AP) — The Senate Monday unanimously passed a series of bills intended to make it harder for persons to counterfeit or alter various identification documents. The bills, sent to the House, affect concealed weapons licenses, driver's licenses, state personal identification cards and vehicle registration certificates. The legislation requires they be manufactured in a way which makes alteration or counterfeiting difficult.

Teacher Will Face Sex Charge

ST. CLAIR SHORES, Mich. (AP) — The band director of South Lake High School stood mute at arraignment on a sex charge today in the second such case involving a teacher in the area in a month.

Donald Ozga, 31, was accused of second-degree criminal sexual conduct involving a 15-year-old female student under a warrant issued Friday.

Municipal Court Judge William Crouchman set bond at $5,000. Preliminary examination was waived and Ozga was bound over to Macomb County Circuit Court.

The offenses, which were not detailed in the warrant, were alleged to have happened in the high school band room and in the basement of Ozga's home, where he gave private music lessons.

Generally, second-degree offenses involves acts short of rape.

Ozga resigned from his job immediately after being suspended Friday by School Supt. Joseph G. Earhart.

OCTOBER CARPET SALE

Carpet for every Room in the Home

by MILLIKEN THRU OCTOBER 29th

Just think.

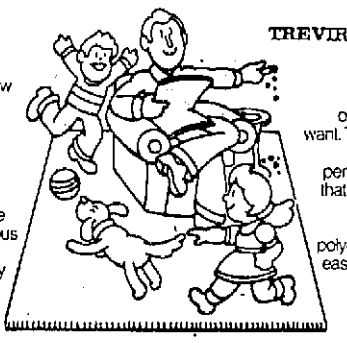
The carpeting you buy now is something you'll have to live with.

We don't want you to make a mistake.

Kind of boggles the mind, when you realize the carpet decision you make now has to last you for a good long time.

That's why we'd like you to come talk to us. We're not just carpet experts. We're carpet people.

So, if you tell us what you'd really like for your living room is a thick lush plush, in a fragile shade of blue – but you've got two rambunctious kids ... and a husband who has a habit of missing the ashtray ... and a brand new puppy ... well, we'll not only show you what you want, but something that makes sense. Like these carpets, shown here, of Trevira Star polyester.



TREVIRA' STAR polyester carpeting. It's perfectly beautiful. Practically family proof.

Pale blue. Sun gold. Ripe red. Vibrant orange. Doesn't matter which color you want. They're richer and lusher because this amazing polyester carpet fiber has a pentalobal structure. A unique star shape that traps and reflects light and brings out the full magnificence of colors.

Because it is 100% Trevira Star polyester, it is tough and durable, and truly easy to keep clean. Because it is heat set, it will retain its texture and keep its beautiful looks, longer.

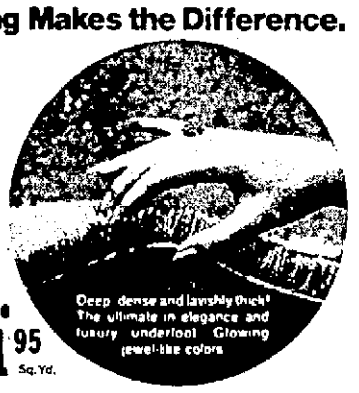
Autoclave Heat Setting Makes the Difference.

EVENING SONG

Sumptuously thick... pamperingly soft .... and positively breathtaking! Beautiful low pile design in extra-dense Trevira® polyester springs right back after every step. In 22 rich, radiant, Scotchgard® protected colors.

Reg. $15.25 Sq.Yd. Sale $11.95 Sq.Yd.

(Padding And Installation Extra)



Years from Now, Milliken Carpets Remember How They're Supposed to Look.

BRAND NEW CARPET WITH AUTOCLAVE HEAT SET YARN
Milliken's exclusive process gives yarns a built-in twist right from the beginning. Starts your carpet off with extra stamina ... extra bounce-back strength to keep it looking livelier for years to come.

ORDINARY, NON-AUTOCLAVE HEATSET CARPET YARN AFTER 15,000 FOOT STEPS (equivalent to 2 years normal household wear)
From an actual installation ... this non-autoclave heatset yarn is coming apart, losing its twist ... and losing its looks. Frayed ends allow dirt to collect ... and the limp yarns will crush and mat

AUTOCLAVE HEAT SET CARPET YARN AFTER 15,000 FOOT STEPS (equivalent to 2 years normal household wear)
Tested after the same amount of traffic ... but see the difference! Milliken's yarn holds its twist, because it's heat-set to hold together ... and stay together. Resists fraying, matting, crushing ... and dirt collecting.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, October 11, the 284th day of 1977. There are 81 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1779, the Polish nobleman, Casimir Pulaski, was killed in fighting for American independence at the Battle of Savannah.

On this date:

In 1811, the first steam ferry was put into operation by inventor John Stevens, between New York City and Hoboken, N.J.

In 1933, Latin American nations signed a non-aggression pact in Rio de Janeiro.

In 1962, Pope John XXIII opened the second Vatican Council of the Roman Catholic Church.

In 1970, there was widespread flooding in Puerto Rico after torrential rains.

In 1973, President Richard Nixon was seeking the advice of members of congress and political leaders before naming a successor to Spiro Agnew as Vice President.

In 1975, the Catholic Church withdrew endorsement of the Franco government in Spain.

Ten years ago: Officials in Bolivia said the body of the slain guerrilla, Che Guevara, had been buried in a secret grave.

Five years ago: Inmates of the District of Columbia jail seized 10 hostages but released them after a federal judge ordered reforms at the jail.

One year ago: Reports from China said Mao Tse-tung's widow and three others had been arrested.

Today's birthdays: Choreographer Jerome Robbins is 59 years old. Newsman Joseph Alsop is 67.

Thought for today: The mould of a man's fortune is in his own hands — Francis Bacon, English philosopher, 1561-1626.

Manure Lights Up Henhouse

WEST UNION, Iowa (AP) — Electricity generated from chicken manure is lighting up the henhouse on a northeast Iowa farm.

An Agriculture Department spokesman says waste from the 160,000 chickens contains enough methane gas to provide power to 200 average homes.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Sluggish At Start

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was little changed today in another sluggish session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 1.04 to 839.22 in the first half hour.

Gainers took a very slight lead over losers in the early tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said some traders appeared to be doing a little tentative buying among depressed issues.

But they also noted that the market was held back by fears of a continued rise in interest rates.

Wall Street was generally were looking for a sharp rise in the basic measure of the money supply when the Federal Reserve issues its weekly report on Thursday. Such an increase would presumably lead to further credit-tightening by the Fed.

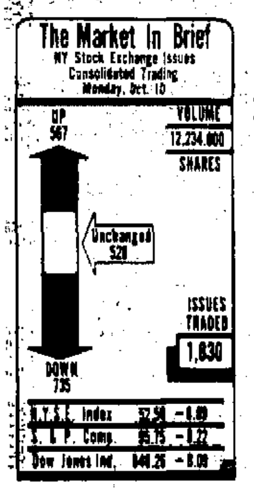
Alcon Laboratories led the active list, up 1 at 29. The stock has advanced strongly since late last week, when the company said it had received inquiries about merger possibilities.

On Monday the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials posted a .09 loss to 840.26.

Declines outnumbered advances by about a 4-3 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks was off .09 at 52.50.

Big Board volume hit a 21-month low of 10.58 million shares, with many institutions and other market participants taking a Columbus Day holiday.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index fell .30 to 116.55.



LISTLESS: Stock market was listless Monday, Columbus Day, in slowest New York Stock Exchange trading in more than a year and a half. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which was off 6.76 points last week, eased another .09 points, to 840.26. Volume dwindled to a little more than 10¼ million shares. (AP Wirephoto)

Amtrak Seeks New Rail Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak wants to buy 353 new passenger cars as part of a five-year plan submitted to the White House and Congress for approval.

The 177-page document released Monday also projected an increase in passengers from 18.6 million last year to 26 million in 1982.

Amtrak wants to buy 53 highspeed electric engines for use between Boston and Washington, and 15 diesel locomotives.

A reserve fleet of 200 cars and 30 locomotives should be available for a quick upsurge in ridership, such as during an energy crisis, the plan says.

It suggests a restudy of Amtrak's national route system, the first major review since the government-subsidized rail passenger corporation was formed in 1971.

ELECTIONS ASKED

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Former Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's chief political opponent called on the military government today to lift its ban on political activity immediately and set a date for elections.

Berrien Condemns Galien Apartments

GALIEN — The Berrien County Health Department has condemned an apartment building in this village owned by Francis James, a member of the Galien Township Board.

Ernest Clark, housing inspector for the health department, said he condemned the property last Friday because of violations of both the county's health and building code regulations. The house, converted into apartments, served as a residence for 19 people, according to Clark.

He said county regulations permit a total of only 10 occupants in the five-apartment building.

Clark said that heating and plumbing in the structure were inadequate. The building is also in need of repair, he said.

Occupants have been given 30 days in which to move from the building, Clark said.

In August, a petition with 30 signatures was presented to the Galien Village Council asking that an inspection be made of the rental property. Village President Robert James is the brother of property owner Francis James.

Francis James declined to comment when contacted this morning. The one-bedroom apartments are commonly known in the village as the "green apartments" because the building is painted green.

The matter could come up for further discussion at tonight's meeting of the Galien Village Council.

COVERT

District's Budget Is $1.48 Million

COVERT — The Covert Board of Education Monday night approved a 1977-78 operating budget calling for expenditures of $1,478,841, a $179,844 increase over last year's budget.

Among the areas showing the largest increase were operating and maintenance costs, expected to rise from $159,984 to $230,025 this year. The cost of secondary instruction, which is primarily salaries, is also tagged to rise from $373,418 to $426,368 this year.

Last year's budgeted expenses were $1,298,177.

According to the budget, anticipated revenues were set at $1,478,841, a projected $174,888 increase over last year's revenue of $1,303,953.

Most of the revenue will come from local property taxes. The district does not receive standard state school aid funds.

In other areas at last night's meeting, a low bid for two school buses at $18,775 each from Hoekstra Truck and Equipment Co., Grand Rapids, was accepted.

Michigan Orchard Supplies, South Haven, was retained to install a sprinkler system on the football field for $2,780 and drinking fountains at the football and baseball fields for a total of $885.

Holman and Roe, Stevensville, was hired to repair and replace ceiling tile in eight rooms of the elementary school at a cost of $2,886.

Cliff Wilse Fencing and Landscaping, Watervliet, received a contract to erect 270 feet of chain link fence at the baseball diamond for $1,650. Fencing of the softball field was tabled for further study.

The board also received a letter from its attorneys indicating that they had initiated legal proceedings against Klett Construction of Hartford. The board had indicated previously that it was not satisfied with paving work done by Klett on the parking lot behind the high school.

A policy outlining the job description of James Babcock, who serves as athletic director and coordinator of adult, student, and community education, was also approved.

Board President Donald Quinn said that as soon as contract negotiations with teachers are completed, he will call a special meeting to discuss the agreement.

Blank Checks Are Missing

BERRIEN SPRINGS — R.H. Brown, 225 Ridge Rd., reports items valued at $225 were missing from his home, according to Berrien Springs-Oronoko Township police.

Brown said he discovered the items gone when he returned home from a weekend trip. Police said a window was broken to gain entry. Missing items included a calculator, watch, blank personal checks, car keys and a silver bowl, Brown told police.

Eyes Rationing Credit Card

NEW YORK (AP) — Special credit cards instead of coupons are being considered for use in any federal gasoline rationing program, according to a company that says it is studying the possibility for the government.

"The system would be based upon a motorist having a rationing credit card rather than coupons," said Paul Goodstat of Price, Waterhouse & Co. The ration card would be used in the same way an oil company card is used, he said.

Exchange President Appointed

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Board of Trade has announced the appointment of Robert K. Wilmouth, 48, as its president and chief executive officer.

Wilmouth, president and chief administrative officer of Crocker National Corp. and its chief subsidiary, Crocker National Bank, will succeed Warren J. Lebeck as head of the world's largest commodity futures exchange.

A six-month search for a new president resulted in the choice of Wilmouth, announced Monday. He was executive vice president and a director of First National Bank in Chicago before joining the San Francisco-based Crocker National Bank.

Wilmouth, whose appointment will become effective in early November, has "a broad background in finance, proven executive management capability and an ability to be an excellent spokesman," said board chairman William D. Hagerty Jr. said.

Hagerty noted that the exchange has experienced seven years of record growth and recently has introduced futures trading in a new type of contract — financial instruments sensitive to interest rate fluctuations such as GNMA mortgage-backed certificates, longterm U.S. Treasury bonds and 90-day commercial paper.

Also, he said, the exchange "faces increasing duties as a result of increased government regulation, both of futures trading itself and of the industries we serve."

"All of these factors indicated ... that we needed to be planning this year to be able to meet the demands and challenges of years to come."

Lebeck, who became president in 1973, will remain as senior executive vice president.

Milliken Seeks Heating Aid To Poor Families

By ROB WILSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state legislature will consider a plan to cut up to 25 per cent from the heating bills of low-income families this winter.

The measure has been proposed by Gov. William Milliken.

The program, to cost between $25 million and $30 million, would benefit an estimated 500,000 Michigan households, Budget Director Gerald Miller said. It would apply to both homeowners and renters.

"We know energy costs are going to go up, and we know some people are going to have problems," he said. "The issue of need is the key point, and I don't think the legislature can argue with that question of need."

The program would be funded entirely from a recent $32 million settlement from the federal government. Under the plan, the state would pay a maximum 25 per cent of home heating bills for persons not exceeding the poverty level by more than 25 per cent.

A family earning an income of $5,000 or less would qualify for the full 25 per cent payment from the state, and a family earning between $7,000 and $8,000 would qualify for a 10 per cent payment.

Miller said he hopes lawmakers will act on the measure by Thanksgiving to allow the plan to go into operation by Jan. 1.

Miller said the plan differs from other emergency heating plans proposed in past years.

"The other plans provided relief to specific groups, such as the elderly or the handicapped. This plan is broader because it works on income," he said.

The Department of Social Services will administer the plan in conjunction with utility companies. Families would have to fill out a department eligibility form which then would be verified by the department.

"We feel that there is relatively little chance of fraud with this plan," said Social Services Director John Dempsey. "The eligibility claims can be easily verified."

The federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare released $32.6 million to Michigan last week as a settlement of earlier sanctions against the state. Those sanctions were imposed because HEW contended that various social services programs were not eligible for federal aid.

Firm Will Help Texas Community

BUTTE, Mont. (AP) — A private research agency will spend $200,000 to help develop alternate energy systems for Crystal City, Tex., the town of 8,000 residents whose natural gas was cut off Sept. 23.

National Center for Appropriate Technology director Jim Schmidt said Monday that another $310,000 has been authorized by the federal Community Services Administration for Crystal City, also to help solve the Texas town's energy crisis.

The center here, set up to develop energy saving devices for low income people, operates on a $3 million grant from the CSA.

Crystal City's natural gas was shut off when officials refused to pay the town's $750,000 natural gas bill. They said the town could not pay it because residents, mostly low income, could not afford to pay their bills.

The Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. cut off the town's gas supply after two postponements and brief legal action.

Residents are using butane, propane and wood as fuel.

Schmidt said the center already has sent technicians to Crystal City to study how the town can use the sun, wind and other alternate energy sources.

Traverse Pair Die In Smashup

BUCKLEY, Mich. (AP) — Betty Runyon, 25, of Traverse City, and her son, Jamie, 3, died Monday night when her car and a truck collided near here.

Grand Traverse County sheriff's deputies said the Runyon car ran on to the shoulder. Mrs. Buckley apparently swerved too hard in trying to get back on to the pavement and ran into the path of the oncoming truck, investigators said.

The truck driver was not hurt.

Nurses' Hearing Delayed

DETROIT (AP) — A hearing scheduled for today in the Veterans Hospital poisoning case was postponed by presiding U.S. District Judge Philip Pratt.

The judge postponed until Nov. 2 a hearing in which defense attorneys will argue for reversal of the convictions of two Filipino nurses found guilty last July of poisoning patients at the VA Hospital in Ann Arbor, Mich.

The nurses, Leonora Perez, 33, and Filipina Narciso, 31, are presently incarcerated at the Federal Penitentiary for Women at Alderson, W. Va.

Judge Pratt has ordered them to undergo psychiatric tests there before he passes sentence in the case.

Today's hearing was postponed at the request of federal prosecutors, who asked for more time to prepare written responses to the lengthy defense motions.

Meanwhile, demonstrators planned rallies in 12 cities today, including Detroit, New York and Washington to protest the verdict and demand a new trial for the two women.

Their convictions stemmed from a series of mysterious breathing failures at the hospital during the summer of 1975. Prosecutors contended the patients were stricken after being given a powerful, paralyzing drug through intravenous feeding tubes.

Both women could receive life prison terms.

South Haven Hospital

SOUTH HAVEN — Patients admitted Monday to South Haven Community Hospital included Miss Ollie Branham, Pullman; Mrs. Josephine DeLeo, Harriet Griffin, Bangor; Harry Farley, Mrs. Ellen Ireland, Mrs. Arthur Peterson, Mrs. Marie Zachman, Grand Junction; Mrs. Alice Garrison, Lacota; Troy Jeffries, Mrs. Elmie Merke, Mrs. Malcolm Tait, South Haven; Mrs. Grace Reed, Benton Harbor.

Bridgman Board Extends Student Athletic Policy

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman School Board Monday night voted to extend the policy governing student athletics but left the door open for future changes.

One of the provisions of the policy gives students the right to participate in formation of athletic policies.

Under the board vote last night, board members will be able to pursue individual studies on the policy and present any proposed changes for possible adoption. Lacking any official board action, the policy will be in force through July 31, 1978.

The policy adopted, particularly for golf, football and girls basketball, passed on a 6-1 board vote with Board Trustee John Wilk voting no. Voting yes were Board Members Dr. Kenneth J. Kieft, Joseph J. Lozenu, Dr. Joseph J. Rambo, Robert Roth, Lewis Matthias and Dr. Dale L. Smith.

The board last month deadlocked 3-3 on continuing the policy indefinitely and then voted to extend it for the month only. Wilk, Kieft and Smith voted against in the tie.

In other areas, school officials announced the district's 1977-78 enrollment for grades K-12 is 888, up six the 1976-77 figure of 882.

The board voted to enter into an agreement with the city of Bridgman and Lake Township to permit the city to provide sewer lines for the new Reed Middle School now under construction.

A Pittsburgh, Pa., firm was hired to appraise school property. Hired at a fee of $2,585 was Industrial Appraisal Co.

The board approved changing the school day at the middle school from an eight-period day to a seven-period day. The change, for scheduling improvements, will not reduce the amount of classroom study time, according to William Weirick, school principal.

Student Marsha Frank, appearing before the board, announced that scheduled Homecoming activities this week include a bonfire at the high school on Wednesday, the Homecoming parade beginning at 6:30 p.m., Friday, at the city hall, and a dance beginning about 10 Friday night at the school.

School officials also announced that four Bridgman High School students will be participating against New Buffalo students in radio station WHFB's Quiz Bowl Oct. 22.

Church Council To Learn Of Parents Anonymous

A program on child abuse and Parents Anonymous will be presented at Thursday's meeting of Berrien County Council of Churches, according to the Rev. Arnold Bolin, executive director of the council.

Presenting the program will be the Rev. John R. Smith, of Benton Harbor, and Mrs. Edna Fleming, of Sodus. The Rev. Smith is sponsor and Mrs. Fleming a volunteer coordinator for Parents Anonymous in north Berrien County.

Parents Anonymous is a nonsectarian self-help group to assist parents with abusive tendencies into positive and constructive behavior, Mrs. Fleming said. Parents Anonymous was organized nationally in 1970.

The Rev. Bolin said the meeting will be at United Methodist Church, Scottdale, with refreshments at 7 p.m., business session at 7:30 and program at 8. The public is invited to attend the meeting.

The Rev. Bolin said an important business matter will be acceptance and allocation of a bequest made to the council.

New Buffalo Issues Six September Building Permits

NEW BUFFALO — Six building permits, covering an estimated $12,304 in construction, were issued in New Buffalo during September, according to Bertrand Shedd, city building inspector. Permits were issued to Alvin Schroeter, 820 W. Detroit St., a metal storage shed, $150; Paul Oselka, Oselka Drive, wooden storage shed, $2,200; Joseph Rudecki, 520 W. Michigan St., storage shed, $300; Jacqueline Steder, 11 N. Monroe St., storage shed, $154; Raymond Gooch, 326 E. Buffalo St., new garage, $5,000, Robert Selman, 1108 W. Detroit St., addition to house, $4,500.

Palisades Plant Weather Building Granted Permit

COVERT — Five Covert Township building permits for construction estimated at $28,600 were issued in September, according to Andrew Lloyd, township building inspector.

Among permits issued was one to Consumers Power Co. for construction of weath-monitoring equipment, at an estimated cost of $10,000. The 8 by 16 by 8-foot building is to be erected near the company's nuclear power plant.

Other permits went to:

LeRoy Nalls, Route 1, for a 32 by 66-foot home addition, $10,000.

Paul J. Rood, a 40 by 40-foot pole barn on CR-378, east of M-140, $2,800.

Eli Gooch, aluminum siding on dwelling on 38th Street, $3,000.

Arthur Fant, aluminum siding on dwelling on Lake Street east of M-140, $2,800.

Trolleys Lose $80,000

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's unique trolley line runs just six blocks and in its first nine months has lost about $80,000, but city fathers are not about to scrap the operation. In fact, they're thinking about expanding it. Operators of the picturesque little cars — purchased from Portugal — have chalked up some unusual memories in their relatively brief tenure. Last August, for example, there was a wedding aboard one of the clattering cars, with the familiar clang-clang-clang of the trolley serving as wedding bells. Carol Channing has taken a break from her "Hello, Dolly" revival to ride the trolley, the little cars have been in television commercials for new cars, and out-of-towners have taken thousands of snapshots and home movies.

GREGORY PAL DIES

BOSTON (AP) — Mike Watley, 38, a long-time associate of comic Dick Gregory, was killed Monday in a traffic accident.
